

APPOINT JOE NEE AS SECRETARY AID

Willamette Graduate to Return From Portland to Take New Duties

Joe Nee, who graduated from Willamette university in 1925, is to join the staff of the Salem YMCA as assistant secretary. He will assume his duties as soon as the association is moved into the new building. He will be responsible for special work and for membership work. Nee has served as dormitory secretary of the Portland YMCA for the past year, and is highly recommended by Harry Stone, general secretary of the Portland organization. During the course of the year Nee received several promotions and was slated for further advancement when the opportunity came to join the Salem staff.

YELLOW SWEATER HELPS TONY GET VISION

"What is your name, young man?" asked the gentleman. "Tony." "Well, Tony, will you bring me my paper every morning?" "Yes, sir," said Tony. He was shivering for it was a cold, chilly morning. Tony was without coat and was almost barefooted for his shoes were mostly holes and his legs were bare. "You seem to be cold," said the man. "Where do you live?" "Tony told him as best he could, and was edging away to make his escape from the questions of the new friend. But the man motioned him to wait. "Tony, I had a boy once about your size. Please come here a moment! I want you to step inside the house. I will not keep you long, and I'll buy the rest of your papers."

How Tony's eyes danced when he saw the sweater. Tony liked yellow. It was his favorite color. The sweater looked so warm and good, he could hardly believe his ears or trust his eyes. The man said he would give Tony the whole lot if he would promise to come every morning with a paper. He asked Tony to put the sweater on to see if it was large enough. How good and warm it felt. Tony thought, I will never be cold again. Then the man said: "Now, Tony, take off the shoes you have and try these on to see if they will do." Tony put on the stockings, good heavy ones that were that came clear up to his knees, and the shoes—they were just right. My, how Tony's heart fairly jumped. The man paid him for the three papers, saying he would give them to some other folks in the block and got more customers for Tony when he came the next morning. He wrapped Tony's old shoes and new trousers and asked Tony not to forget to come back the next day and every day. Of course Tony would not forget. How could he. When he got home his mother and the rest of the family were greatly surprised and pleased. His mother could hardly believe it at first. She was afraid Tony had been tempted. Such things had been done in times of great temptation. Tony had never done anything like that and she knew she could trust him, but yet she had been afraid at times.

The next day Tony appeared promptly on the new street. The man was ready waiting for him. "Hello, Tony. How are you this morning?" said the man. "Just fine, sir," replied Tony. He was wearing the new outfit the man had given him. He looked like another boy. There were four new customers ready for Tony's papers.

In a little while Tony had a large list of regular customers in the street, and he was doing a prosperous business. Some people had found Tony's family, had visited them and encouraged Mrs. Bassalina helping her to get the children into school. Before long the Bassalina family was moved into a better building, the children were all in school, those that were of school age, and even Papa Bassalina was brought away from his "club" and brought all his money home. Tony's chief pride was in his yellow sweater. He said it was his good luck sweater.

The Bassalina family in a better home were happier, better clothed, better fed and on the road to prosperity.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils. While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he constantly advised mothers to give only a harmless laxative which would help to establish natural bowel "regularity."

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin mothers have a regulating laxative which they can depend upon whenever a child is consti-

LIBERTY, KEIZER HEAD PRIZE LIST

Awards Are Made in Annual County Spelling Bee Held Saturday

The Liberty and Keizer schools each secured two first prizes in the annual Marion county spelling contest held in the Salem high school here Saturday, in which approximately 300 grade pupils took part. From Liberty, Magdalena Schmidt placed first in the eighth grade, with Walter Anderson first in the sixth. From the Keizer district, Lorraine Beecroft and her brother, Robert Beecroft, placed first in the fifth and fourth grades.

The grades from the third to the eighth, inclusive, were represented from every district in the county. Contestants from each grade were first given fifty words in a written examination with words taken from their individual grades. Following this elimination contest, an oral examination was held. There were over 50 students who secured 100 per cent papers in the written test, and they will receive certificates of merit. Gold and silver medals were awarded for first and second places in each grade in the finals.

Following is a list of the places awarded in the finals: Eighth grade—Magdalena Schmidt, Liberty, first; Lola Burch, Silverton, second. Seventh grade—Margaret Conlon, Scotts Mills, first; Elizabeth Lewis, Parrish junior high school, second. Sixth—Walter Anderson, Liberty, first; Hazel Bevier, Gates, second. Fifth—Lorraine Beecroft, Keizer, first; Sylvia Farman, Mill City, second. Fourth—Robert Beecroft, Keizer, first; Ursula Keber, Mt. Angel, second. Third—John Lienhart, Monitor, first; Fern Howard, Brooks, second. Sylvia Farman of Mill City won her third silver medal here yesterday.

SABBATH SCHOOL LESSON (Continued from Page 1, Section 2) leads us to the conclusion that God has taught the necessity of offering a bloody sacrifice, a vicarious substitute, that acceptance with Him was dependent upon the offering of a being apart from themselves as their substitute.

which prefigured the atonement of Jesus Christ—Romans 10:17. IV. The Lord's Attitude Toward Their Offerings.—4-11. 1. He accepted Abel's offerings—4. The reason for this acceptance was not because of Abel's goodness, but because he recognized his need as a sinner and by faith brought the sacrifice which represented the substitutionary offering of another in his stead.—Heb. 11:4, Rom. 10:17. 2. He rejected Cain's offering—5. This was not because of the moral badness of Cain, but because he in the energy of his self-will, brought the fruit of his own toil. 3. Cain rebuked—6, 7. Cain, having sullenly resented the Lord's action, the Lord put a question of searching rebuke to him. As He extended His mercy to Cain, so He will give consideration to all who forsake their self-will and approach Him through the Lamb which was slain. The sin offering is lying at the door of everyone. V. Cain Slays Abel—8. He showed hypocritical friendship for Abel—1 John 3:2, to get a good chance to kill him. It is strange that the first murder grew out of the first recorded act of worship. This first murder was but a forecast of the oceans of blood which have been shed in the name of religion. VI. God's Judgment Upon Cain—9-16. Soon after Cain's sin, God asked Cain to account for Abel, his brother. Instead of confessing his guilt and suing for pardon, he tried to lie out of it, even answering God with defiance, disputing his right to bring him into judgment. 1. Unrequited toil. The earth failed to respond in fruitfulness to Cain's toiling. 2. A degraded outcast.

He was condemned to perpetual exile. 3. Banished from the presence of God. He not only was thrust out from home and society, but from the divine presence. Cain realized the greatness of his punishment; but showed no repentance of his sin. 4. God set a mark upon him.

"SCANDALS" WILL BE IN SALEM ON MAY 4

Great Musical Comedy Extravaganza to Show at the Heilig Theatre

Billie Fanning, one of the feminine beauties to be seen with the sixth edition of George White's "Scandals," which comes to the Heilig theater Tuesday, May 4, is known as New York's most important artists' model. She devotes all of her spare moments to posing for celebrated artists, when at home and on tour. Her earnings from this source are said to be in the neighborhood of $5,000 annually. She is a native of Pittsburgh, and made her professional stage debut about three years ago. In a recent interview she had the following to say: "I much prefer posing. I dislike stage work, but it seems to be a necessary evil, as the artists seem to pick their subjects out of the theater. They are always ready to pay a girl of the stage almost double that offered to the girl without theatrical experience."

turns up to this time indicate that the total tax for the year 1926 will be at least $3,500,000, or a total of $9,500,000 which motor vehicle owners of Oregon will pay in license fees and gasoline tax during the 12 months ending December 31.

240,000 VEHICLES SEEN AS '26 TOTAL

Auto Owners Expected to Turn $9,500,000 Over to State This Year

Motor vehicle operators in the state of Oregon this year will pay in license fees and gas tax approximately $9,500,000, or nearly twice as much as the total direct property tax. This was set out in a statement issued by the secretary of state here Saturday.

If the same percentage of increase in motor vehicle registrations and license fees is maintained during the remainder of the year as up to this time, there will be 240,000 motor vehicles registered in the state by December 31 of this year. The license fees from these registrations will aggregate $6,125,000. "Comparing the registrations up to the present time," said the secretary of state's statement, "it has been found that the activities in motor vehicles are increasing each succeeding year. This reflects the growth of the state both with relation to population and wealth. On the basis of the present license fees this means more money for roads and highways and will permit of their extension."

"Consumption of gasoline has shown the same increase and re-
