The bird had walked 15 miles, his clipped wings preventing the more facile mode of locomotion employed by his ancestors.

When Goetz went to Europe some months ago he left Johnny with Mrs. James Nugent of Evanston, who brought him back to Goetz, upon the latter's return with a bill for $23 for sunflower seed and other accessories. Goetz failed to pay the bill and Mrs. Nugent replevined the parrot. An Evanston constable went to serve the writ, confiscated Johnny, and started with him to Mrs. Nugent's home where on the road home, the bird left the car without even thanking the constable for the buggy ride.

This morning it trekked into Evanston, where it will spend the next few weeks in recuperation and litigation.
