

SANDING MACHINE CUTS TAX EXPENSE

Salem High School Shop Perfects Desk Smoothing Equipment for Use

One of the accomplishments of the shop department of Salem high school this year has been the construction of a sanding machine, which will save taxpayers of the district thousands of dollars eventually.

E. E. Bergman, head of the shop, designed the machine and personally superintended its construction. The machine, including motors and all equipment, cost only $250, while the retail price is around $1,000.

The function of the machine is to sand, or re-surface, the tops of all school desks in the district. A circular belt, driven by an electric five-horse power motor, is mounted to run between a roller on a flexible cradle and a cushion. The belt is a special sanding belt, made of extra strong material. The cushion presses the belt into shape to bear evenly on the entire seat top, regardless of curves. A foot lever releases the roller, allowing the operator to regulate the pressure of the sand belt on the desk top.

At every point where dust is created, suction drafts have been mounted, carrying away the dust and dirt, and keeping the machine and the shop in a sanitary condition. The suction blast is run by a half-horse power motor. The machine has two circular belts and is so constructed that four men can be sanding it at once.

For the coming year a preliminary investigation is being made among the shops and societies in this city to see what cooperation can be found for a program that will allow students to get practical experience.

It is the plan to let the students work for half the day for the various industrial plants, and to spend the other half at school, studying academically.

Mr. Bergman points out that the assumption is not made that the boy is capable of doing anything. He will merely be in the shop to learn, and not to work on jobs until the foreman himself pronounces him capable of doing so.

To insure its success, such a program needs an affirmative response from the business men, Mr. Bergman says. He expressed the hope that the men interested would see that it means an apprentice ship for their business. It will help the various industries, as well as cut down in the school expense. Tentatively, the services would be free of charge.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC FINANCE TALKED

Meeting Devoted to Discussing Plans for Campaign Cost Is Held

Representatives of the various interests promoting the grand hydro-electric power bill and state income tax measure held a meeting in the executive department here Wednesday and discussed plans relative to raising funds for campaign purposes.

Any definite plan that may be adopted by the interests represented will not be announced for several weeks, it was said.

Among those in attendance at the meeting were C. E. Spence, state market agent; A. Slaughter, Salem; F. E. Coulter, George L. Cleaver and Rufus Holman, Port-Monmouth; and G. A. Palminter, land; Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Jones, Hood River. Mr. Palminter is master of the Oregon state grange while Mrs. Jones is secretary of the Farmers Union.

The hydro-electric power bill which would authorize the issuance of state bonds in an amount not in excess of five per cent of the assessed valuation of all assessable property in the state, has the endorsement of Governor Pierce. Provision is made in the bill for a commission of five members who shall receive an annual salary of $3,600.

ENGLISH ACTION HALTED

IMPEACHMENT TRIAL IS POSTPONED OVER PROTEST

WASHINGTON, May 5.—(By Associated Press.)—Over the protest of a small group of senators, the debate today postponed until November 10 the impeachment trial of Federal Judge George W. English of the eastern Illinois district on charges of usurpation of power and other "high misdemeanors" in office.

This date was acceptable to counsel for Judge English who said he would not undertake to discharge the functions of his office until after the trial. Managers on the part of the house who are to prosecute the case announced that in view of this they would be content to let the senate fix the date of trial.

The senate immediately adjourned its sitting as a high court of impeachment until that date, an action which makes unnecessary the calling of a special session by President Coolidge.

INDIAN TOMB IS FOUND

POINTED SKULL IS YIELDED FROM UNUSUAL GRAVE

BIGGS, Or., May 5.—(By Associated Press.)—Claybourn Morris of Biggs reports excavating an unusual Indian grave east of Celilo, near here. The skeleton was found intact below the level of another grave. The skull was flat and pointed to the rear.

Mr. Morris believes this grave to be the oldest he has discovered in his numerous hunts for Indian relics.

Hospital Chief Reveals Science of Antipodes

Dr. Malcolm T. MacEachern, Medical Expert, Tells Northwestern Hospital Association Experts of Advance in Efficiency Achieved

The Northwestern Hospital Association which met at Portland Monday and Tuesday had as its principal speaker Dr. Malcolm T. MacEachern, associate director of the American College of Surgeons. Dr. MacEachern directs the movements of standardization of hospitals all over the United States and has done a tremendous amount of work in bettering hospital conditions for the benefit of the patients.

He has just returned to the United States from Australia and New Zealand where he has spent five and a half months making surveys of hospitals for the representative governments especially in connection with the state compensation.

He presented lantern slides showing the wonderful hospitals he found in those countries. A children's hospital of 370 beds, he spoke of as the best equipped he had ever seen. A child with laryngeal diphtheria will be rushed to the hospital where a bed is always ready for such a patient. The ambulance driver presses a button which does two things, brings steam into a pipe at the foot of the bed and plugs an opening of that pipe with the ture of benzoin sponge; presses another button which brings a seat down to envelop the whole bed. This takes less than a minute and the child is properly secured for until the necessary steps for operation can be taken.

Dr. MacEachern remarked that one almost felt upside down in that country when he saw fish flying with wings and birds flying without wings. He told of a particular bird that laughs so like a human being that if it happened to laugh at the psychological moment you felt convinced you were being laughed at.

Dr. MacEachern made valuable suggestions in connection with the hospital work in Oregon, Washington and Idaho. He stated that efficiency of the hospitals as related to the care of the patients had increased 50 per cent by standardization and that special attention is given to organization and technique in order to assure the best possible care of the patients.

Seventy-two superintendents, members of boards of directors and physicians from three states were in attendance. Salem was represented by the superintendent of the Salem General hospital.

STUDENTS RUN LIBRARY

EXPERIMENT IN STUDENT GOVERNMENT BEHIND MOVE

For a period of two weeks the student council at Willamette university will have full control of the college library. Dr. Franklin, school librarian will not, during this time, pay any attention to the discipline.

If the self rule should prove successful during the allotted time, it is highly probable that the disciplinary rules of the library will be left in the hands of the students.

Students and faculty members alike expressed themselves as being heartily in favor of the experiment. This is the first move made in several years toward student rule.

It is the hope of the students to be given full charge of the chapel services occasionally in the near future.

Two school children from each state in the union are scheduled to arrive in Philadelphia prior to June 2. They will remain there several days as guests of the centennial management. Liberty

PROCLAIM liberty throughout all the land, unto all the inhabitants thereof—this was the legend inscribed on what was later to be known as the Liberty Bell, when it was recast in Philadelphia in 1753.

Twenty-three years later this prophetic admonition was carried out when the now historic bell heralded the adoption of the Declaration of Independence.

A century after this assertion of American liberty, Alexander Graham Bell gave to America and to the world, in the telephone, an instrumentality of a new form of freedom. Limitations which had confined the scope of the spoken word were swept away. Doors of isolation were thrown open. In his contacts with his fellows, man had achieved a new independence.

For fifty years this emancipation of speech has undergone an unceasing evolution into a larger and ever larger liberty. Year by year man's voice has reached out over greater and greater distances until today it speeds from coast to coast, borne on the wires of a nation-wide telephone system.
