

NORGE SILENT; LONG OVERDUE

All Indications Point to Storm in Territory North of Nome, Alaska

RADIO MESSAGES STOP

No Word Received From Craft Since Early Yesterday Morning; Some Apprehension Entertained

NOME, Alaska, May 13.—(By Associated Press.)—All indications here today pointed to a storm in this territory where the Amundson Ellsworth trans-polar dirigible Norge was proceeding from Spitzbergen via Point Barrow, Alaska.

SEATTLE, May 13.—(By Associated Press.)—The American northwest continued to wait and hope tonight for some word out of the polar silence of the dirigible Norge.

Advices today from Nome, goal of the great adventure of Raold Amundsen and his party, indicated that some apprehension was being felt as considerably more than sufficient time had elapsed for the Norge to reach Nome from Point Barrow, where it had previously been heard from.

The last authentic word received here from the craft was from St. Paul Island, in the Bering sea, where the United States navy has a powerful wireless station.

At 2:29 a. m. St. Paul heard the Norge call an unidentified station and say: "Go ahead."

Other reports from Alaska said the Norge passed over Point Barrow at 1:30 a. m. and had been expected to arrive at Nome by 3 a. m.

Although all arrangements were completed to receive the Norge at Nome, efforts were made today to reach Amundsen by wireless to get him to fly on south to Camp Lewis, near Tacoma, where there is a mooring mast.

There is no mast at Nome. Amundsen had arranged with Ralph Lomen there, Norwegian consul, to have 100 men ready to haul the dirigible to earth. These men have been in readiness since yesterday afternoon.

What puzzled watchers here was that so far as known the naval radio station at Cordova, Alaska, reported that the St. Paul radio had at 5 p. m. received no word from the Norge for 14 1/2 hours, and that the army radio station at Nome, 500 miles farther north, also had heard nothing.

CHINESE REGIME OPENS YEN CABINET RECONSTITUTED; COMPROMISE EFFECT PEKING, May 13.—(By Associated Press.)—A new government was set up in Peking today a reconstitution of the cabinet of Dr. W. W. Yen, which functioned in late 1924 before Marshal Feng Yu-Hsiang became a dominant figure in the capital.

Although the new regime is without the status of a ruling cabinet, it is understood that it will operate as the executive with the consent of the military factions in actual control of the situation.

Chief among the military authorities concerned are Marshal Wu Pei-Fa, leader of the old Chihli party; Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, dictator of Manchuria, and General Li-Ching-Li, risen to power through his command of the Manchurian Shantung levies whose pressure caused the withdrawal of the National armies from the capital.

Dr. Yen has assumed for the

REBEL TROOPS STORM CITIES

Fierce Struggle Raging In Warsaw, Polish Capital; Pilsudski Attacked

LOYAL TROOPS ON GUARD

18 Reported Killed, 80 Wounded As Forces Gather in Streets of Warsaw; Inner City Taken

PARIS, May 13.—(By Associated Press.)—General Sikorski, former premier of Poland and former commander of the Polish army on the north front, says a Havas dispatch from the Polish frontier, is at the gates of Warsaw at the head of loyal troops and has engaged Pilsudski's forces.

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, May 13.—(By Associated Press.)—A fierce struggle has been going on in Warsaw around Bevedere place in which the government has taken refuge. Late dispatches from the Polish capital report 18 killed, including two officers, and eighty wounded in the streets of the city.

Former President Pilsudski, in command of the revolting troops, is in control of the capital and the situation had been greatly aggravated by the arrival in the outskirts of Warsaw two regiments from Posen to aid the ousted government.

A manifesto by President Wojciechowski thrown from an airplane declared that a majority of the army sides with the government and that troops are on their way to Warsaw to engage the Pilsudski forces. It appeals for support for the lawful government.

The inner city is completely in the hands of the Pilsudski adherents and the marshal and his staff has his headquarters in the Saxon palace.

The government apparently is endeavoring to delay negotiations until it is able to converge the greater number of its forces in the provinces on Warsaw. An aviation corps has reported for service, and an airtight embargo on telephonic and telegraphic communications has been imposed throughout Poland to prevent Pilsudski from mobilizing his followers.

The president's guard and loyal government troops are concentrated in Belvedere. In addition to armored cars, the government troops have two light batteries. The spacious parks which surround the presidential palace

PORTLAND AIDS TOOZE'S DRIVE

Strong Support of Salem Candidate Follows Disclosure of Machine

'OFFICIAL' NOTES SENT

Small Group, Comprising Machine, Seeks to Bar Increasing Popularity of Man It Cannot Boss

Support of Fred J. Tooze, as state superintendent of public instruction, has become active as the result of disclosures, early this week, of steps taken by the Portland school "machine" in its attempts to block Tooze's increasing popularity.

Seeking to force the "machine's" candidate upon voters of the state, in order that control of the public schools may pass into its own hands, attempts have been made to force the endorsement of its candidate upon individual teachers who, prior to the campaign, had never heard of Howard before, according to disclosures made by the press.

Letters, written on official school stationery, have been sent to individuals, requesting that they endorse the "machine's" candidate, with the implication that failure to endorse the "machine's" candidate will directly affect that individual's future in the public school system.

With the open recognition of tactics used by this small number comprising the "machine", a distinct reaction in favor of Tooze's candidacy, because of the "machine's" own admittance that it cannot control him, has set in within Portland, where his popularity is admitted by rivals to be gaining until he is described as the logical and probable candidate for republican nomination.

Declared to be by far the strongest candidate for the office of state superintendent of public instruction throughout the state at large, the increasing support of Portland voters adds new strength to his cause daily.

Industrial Chaos Reigns In England; Hope Dashed

Workers Discontented Over Way Strike Was Called Off; Many Employers Insist on New Agreements Before Permitting Resumption of Work

LIVERPOOL, May 13.—(By Associated Press.)—The general strike settlement had the unique effect of sending the 5000 volunteer Merseyside dock workers to their homes today and at the same time failing to bring back the regular workers who were on strike. Consequently there were no dock workers.

Complete industrial chaos reigned tonight. Workers received instructions from one source and counter instructions from other sources until they were bewildered.

LONDON, May 13.—(By Associated Press.)—Great Britain woke up today to find the rosy hopes of last night completely dashed—partly, it would seem through discontent of the strikers at the way the strike had been called off, but more through the disposition of many of the big employers to insist on making new agreements with the workers before permitting resumption of work.

It is even asserted that some of the big railroads and other concerns contemplated enforcing a reduction in wages, though, according to the statement of Premier Baldwin in the house of commons who warned the nation to be suspicious of propaganda and misleading rumors, some of these reports, especially regarding railroads, were unfounded.

One big railway group tonight officially denied the rumors that they intend to reduce wages or otherwise penalize the men. Notwithstanding the fact that the general strike had been called off it in reality still persists in as great force as before, the miners never have consented to resume, and because of the attitude of the employers and by reason of other circumstances, the two big industries—the railway men and transportation workers—are ordered to remain out until further instructions. The situation in the newspaper field is without change, most of the papers still issuing the skeleton form.

No agreement has yet been reached by the railway managers and executives of the railway unions on the question of the re-employment of strikers. A conference on this subject adjourned at a late hour, without a decision and will be resumed tomorrow. The miners' executives after conferring for an hour this evening went to Downing street and were closeted with Premier Baldwin for a considerable time. The members of the executive committee returned to headquarters and refused to divulge anything.

PEACE OFFICERS INDICT CONSPIRACY TO VIOLATE DRY LAWS IS CHARGED

SEATTLE, May 13.—(By Associated Press.)—Names of six city and county police officers, one former policeman and two civilians had been revealed here tonight out of more than 100 indicted by a federal grand jury yesterday. Those indicted included Police Captain Eltha L. Hodges, commanding one of the platoons at Central station; Lieutenant George H. Comstock, head of the police dry squad; Patrolman W. J. Morrison, of the dry squad; Deputy Sheriff Lee Parker and Ray E. Murphy of King county; Sheriff William Gookins of Island county, north of Puget Sound between Seattle and the Canadian Boundary; Wilbur E. Dow, customs house broker of this city; Edwin T. Hunt, former policeman and head of the Seattle finance company and Ernest N. Poth, timber operator and real estate broker.

The nine were charged with conspiracy to violate the national prohibition laws but were not indicted jointly.

RELIEF BILL HELD UP MUCH OPPOSITION IS MET BY FARM LEGISLATION

WASHINGTON, May 13.—(By Associated Press.)—Farm relief legislation made slow progress in the house as one stumbling block after another developed in its path.

It was held up three hours on account of the other business and when given the right of way an hour and a half was spent in disposing of the first of 18 amendments to be offered to the Hauge price stabilization bill by its sponsors.

The going was so slow that leaders predicted it might be late next week before reading of the bill for amendments is concluded and the way paved for submission as substitutes of two other measures—the Tinscher credit plan and the Curtis-Aswell commodity marketing proposal.

ROADS LIKE 'PARADISE' AUSTRALIAN REALTOR PRAISES OREGON HIGHWAYS

In Australia realtors are called house and land agents, W. T. Coles, representing the Sydney Morning Herald, told Salem realtors at their luncheon yesterday. A man can buy a nice home in Australia for about $5000. The wage of the average worker is $35 a week. "If we had your roads in Australia, we would think we were in paradise, he declared. "Only in the cities do you find the paved roads. We think we are doing well when we get 6000 miles out of a tire."

1926 Total Registering for Primaries Is 61,164 Lower Than in 1924

MARION COUNTY SECOND

Republicans in County Outnumber Democrats Three to One; In Polk County, Over Two to One

A total of 293,836 republican and democratic voters have registered for the primary election to be held in Oregon on May 21, 61,164 less than in 1924, according to a statement issued here Thursday by the secretary of state. Of the total registered voters, 211,658 are republicans, while 82,178 are democrats. More than 355,000 had registered prior to the general election two years ago.

The secretary of state said that the reports of the various county clerks probably would show more registered voters in that the state department recently had eliminated several thousand names from the registration lists. It was said that the voters whose names were dropped from the registration lists had died or removed from the precinct in which they last registered.

Multnomah county with a total of 103,556 republicans and democrats registered, leads any county in the state. Marion county with a republican and democratic registration of 18,861, is second, with Clackamas county third. The registration in Clackamas county is 14,352, including 19,415 republicans and 3987 democrats.

The attorney general will be urged by the commission to expedite injunction proceedings against the communities of Milwaukie and West Linn, now erecting open-mouthed sewers.
