

Young Stribling Is Awarded Decision Over Risko In Furious Ten Rounds

LARGE CROWD SEES GEORGIA LAD WIN

Stribling Outboxes and Out-generals Opponent Although gives Weight

ROUND ONE: Stribling landed the first long left to Risko's chin as he blocked the latter's opening rush. The Georgian took a left to the head, but blocked most of Risko's leads. Stribling stung Risko with a left hook to the jaw and they clinched. Risko was booted for hitting low. The Georgian's shiftiness and Johnny flushed.

ROUND THREE: They flayed both hands to the head but took a sharp left to the chin. Another smashing left stung the Georgian as they came to close quarters. Risko curled a long left to the head after a clinch but a left jab caught him in return. Stribling seemed to prefer a long range attack and they were sparring at the bell.

ROUND THREE: They flailed away at each other's ribs in a wild swinging exchange. Stribling sank his right into Risko's body but took a left to the jaw. Stribling was blocking his opponent's blows as they came to grips and employing his boxing skill effectively. Stribling scored lustily to the head and body just before the bell.

ROUND FOUR: Risko plunged into the attack but found Stribling's defense hard to penetrate. The Georgian's stinging left kept snapping Johnny's head back or throwing him off balance. Risko pounded Stribling on the ribs but was sent back with another sharp left hook before the gong sounded.

ROUND FIVE: Stribling stung Risko with a smashing overhead right to the chin. It started the blood trickling from Johnny's mouth. The Georgian ripped in both with both fists. They clinched repeatedly with Stribling unable, however, to put over another telling blow. Risko seemed groggy as he went to his corner.

ROUND SIX: Stribling opened with a rush but they became entangled in frequent clinches. They pummeled each other about the body. Risko kept his chin well protected from Stribling's curling left. The Georgian found his mark with a right to the jaw and took a left in exchange at the bell.

ROUND SEVEN: Risko kept up a succession of bull-like rushes but Stribling blocked most of his blows. The Georgian connected with a right to the head that staggered Risko. He drove the Clevelander about the ring under a shower of rights and lefts. A right uppercut shook Risko but he rushed back to land on the Georgian's ribs just before the round ended.

ROUND EIGHT: They came to grips with a rush. Both seemed willing to mix. Risko was warned for hitting low and the crowd yelled. Stribling took a sharp left to the nose and the blood started to flow. They pounded each other about the ribs and Stribling missed a wild right to the chin. They were in a clinch at the bell.

ROUND NINE: Risko directed a heavy fire to the body as he forced the milling. The Georgian seemed a bit tired from the fast pace. Risko took a long left to the head but rushed back and led to the body. A sharp left to the nose brought Risko up short just before the bell.

ROUND TEN: Risko rushed out of his corner and slugger away with both fists. Stribling countered with his left to the jaw and stood the Clevelander off with a succession of jabs. Risko was wild in his efforts to connect. Another low blow doubled Stribling up but they kept on fighting. Stribling drove Risko to ropes with a wild flurry just before the bell.

propose to change the Polish constitution.

Vilna and Lodz are reported to have been taken by the Pilsudski forces, and apparently he is receiving strong support from certain workmen's organizations. Strikes are reported to have been proclaimed at numerous points to hinder the passage of government train.

The government, according to last reports, is counting on the loyalty of Posen, Lemberg, Cracow and Przemysl garrisons, but in view of the attitude taken by Haller, it may be impossible to get them to Warsaw in time to stem the movement and recapture the Belvedere palace and other government buildings which are said to be at present in Pilsudski's hands.

Stations at provincial points from Warsaw are jammed with those fleeing from the city, where a shortage of foodstuffs already is threatened. A state of siege is said to have been proclaimed to Posen and Polish upper Silesia.

Generals Sikorski and Haller are converging on Warsaw to engage the Pilsudski troops.

General Haller organized the Polish legion in the United States in the World war.

(By Associated Press.)

Former President Pilsudski who on Wednesday marched into Warsaw at the head of a small army for the announced purpose of bringing about the overthrow of the cabinet appears to be in complete control of the capital. This admitted by the Berlin bureau of the official Polish telegraph agency, which announces that the cabinet has fled by airplanes and automobiles to an unknown destination.

Apart from this, no definite information is at hand, for reports reaching the European capitals concur that Warsaw is shut off from the rest of the world. One report, received in Berlin is that Pilsudski has tied up the railway service for a radius of sixty miles from Warsaw.

Although details are lacking concerning the actual state of the Polish capital, there seems no doubt that all is chaos, and that there has been some severe fighting. By way of Prague, the news is received that encounters between the Pilsudski forces and the troops remaining loyal to the president and cabinet continued throughout Friday until 8 o'clock Friday night.

Another source, which describes the fighting as particularly fierce estimates that 200 were killed and about 1,000 wounded.

Marshal Pilsudski may soon have to pit his forces against government troops led by General Sikorski and Haller, who are said to be converging on the capital for the purpose of engaging the insurrectionists. That the former president has succeeded in adding to his followers is indicated in a message received from Prague that he is being supported by the socialist, democratic, peoples and radical parties and one newspaper in Prague gives the text of a fiery manifesto by the socialist party, which says that the Witos government, at which Pilsudski insists his movement is aimed, is leading the country to ruin. "To continue this government," the manifesto adds, "is a provocation to all honest men."

Still another report, telling of the labor classes in Galicia trowing in their lot with the Pilsudski movement, says the workers on the railroads are preventing shipments of freight, allowing only food supplies to get into Warsaw.

The official Polish telegraph agency in Berlin has denied a report that the Lithuanians, with a view to taking over Vilna, which was annexed to Poland, have crossed over the frontier, using the uprising in Poland as a cover for their movement.

BANKERS DEFEAT GROTTO PLAYERS

Score Stands 8 to 1, Busy Schedule Seen for Coming Week's Play

DINNER STORIES

An elderly lady on her first railroad trip noticed the bell cord over head and was told by a mischievous boy that it was to ring when she wanted anything to eat.

Shortly afterwards the old lady reached up with her umbrella and gave it a vigorous pull. The whistle sounded, the brakes were put on, and the cars bumped together sharply in the engineer's effort to stop. Presently the conductor came rushing through the train and asked:

"Who pulled that bell?"

"I did," replied the old lady, meekly.

"Well, what do you want?" said the official, impatiently.

"You may bring me some ham sandwiches and a cup of tea, if you will."

Only two games played.

Next Week's Schedule

Mon. Valley Motor vs. Paper Co.

Tue. DeMolay vs. Eagles.

Wed. Bankers vs. K. of C.

Thurs. P. E. P. vs. Guard.

Fri. Legion vs. Grotto.

The Bankers defeated the Grotto team Friday night by a score of 8 to 1. The game was not well played, and was marked all the way through by the heavy hitting of the Bankers. Weeks, burler for the Bankers, pitched a nice game of ball, striking out five of the Grotto batters, and issuing no free trips to first.

The Bankers scored the first tallies in the first when Girod and K. Thompson both walked. Humphreys was safe on a fielder's choice, forcing out Girod at third. Burton hit sending in Thompson. Weeks walked and Humphreys scored on the play. They scored two more in the third, one in the fourth, and three in the last, mostly on errors on the part of the Grotto men. Burton was the batting star of the Bankers. He lined out three singles in three trips at bat.

The lone score of the Grotto nine came in the third when Paulsen got a double; and White and Wilkerson followed with singles.
