Gorgeous Costumes Planned for Elaborate Ballet "Birthday Dreams"

Costumes of unsurpassed loveliness are rapidly being completed for the two-night ballet "Birthday Dreams" which will be presented by pupils of Mrs. Ralph White's Dancing Academy on Wednesday and Thursday, May 26 and 27, at the Hellig theatre, under the auspices of the American Legion auxiliary. The cast for the stupendous production has been preparing for this ballet for the past two years, and the performance promises to supersede anything of its kind ever given in Salem.

The ballet, given in two acts, is the dramatization in color, music and dance of the dreams that come to the six-year old birthday baby, Princess Inga, not only for the present but also for 12 years later when she is 18.

Over 1000 costumes of the most beautiful fabrics and colors have been fashioned for the performance, these having been expertly designed by Miss Vivian Hargrove. The music also promises to be unusually fine. There are more than 500 distinctive roles in the ballet.

The proceeds from the performance will go to the hospital work of the American Legion auxiliary. This is the first production of such large scope the American Legion has ever undertaken and an especially large and enthusiastic patronage is anticipated for the two nights.

Mrs. John J. Rottle is in charge of the ticket sale.

League of Women Voters Hold Successful State Meeting in Portland

Salem high school's plucky young debaters covered themselves with glory in Portland yesterday when they appeared before the League of Women Voters in convention, despite the accident they had encountered while enroute to Portland. Unsuccessful efforts were made just after the accident to dissuade them from their determination to proceed with the debate.

Seated at the speakers' table with the league officers and guests of honor in the new dining room of the Congress hotel, the undaunted young students, carrying severe bruises and bumps commanded the deepest admiration of the 100 league members present even before the debate was given.

Judge Mary Spurlin recently appointed judge of district court No. 2, Portland, presided over the debate. Miss Edith Starrett and Winston Williams presented the affirmative, and Harold Tomlinson and Jack Ramage the negative. The speeches were given in a most skillful and masterly manner. League members were very demonstrative of this appreciation when young Harold Tomlinson announced that the debaters were prepared to answer any question concerning the Child Labor Amendment.

If this amendment could be deferred until these splendid young minds are office holders it certainly could be settled in a satisfactory manner.

Election of officers of the state league resulted as follows:

President—Mrs. Chas. Carver, Jr. Vice presidents—Mrs. C. B. Simmons, Mrs. W. E. Ayer, Mrs. J. A. Churchill, Recording secretary—Mrs. R. C. Hager, Corresponding secretary—Mrs. A. A. Knowlton, Treasurer—Mrs. E. B. Caldwell, Directors—Mrs. Elmer R. Corbett, Mrs. J. B. Montgomery, Mrs. Rex Sanford, Mrs. J. C. Elliot King, Mrs. Norman F. Coleman, Mrs. Elmathan Sweet, Mrs. Sarah H. Evans, Dean Kate W. Jamison.

Tradition doesn't make your cake

We all love our traditions, often after we know they have played us false.

One tradition of the kitchen is in effect that an all-soft wheat flour is best for the making of cakes and pastry. This may have been truer when all-hard wheat flours were used almost exclusively in the making of home bread. But baking processes are better understood, actually, than they used to be.

Fisher's Blend Brand Flour has been proved the base for a better bread loaf. This no longer needs to be argued since popularity has pinned the Blue Ribbon there. But also it is just as good for cakes and pastry, for a similar reason—it gives better flavor and more moistness, and contains a larger percentage of the cereal elements of wheat.

In the baking of cakes, the proper regulation of oven heat is quite as essential to good results as is the proper mixing of the batter. In all its uses it is highly important that wheat flour should be thoroughly sifted. This insures that the chemical reactions of baking shall be complete and the product fully ready for digestion.

Senior Party Enjoyed at Home of Dr. and Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney

Ninety invitations were issued for the annual senior party at which Dr. and Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney were hosts on Wednesday evening at their home, 828 South Twelfth street, when they entertained for those who will receive their diplomas next month.

A lovely color scheme of pink and white was used, pink and white roses and pink lighted candles in crystal holders adorning the rooms.

An exceedingly clever manner of presenting the class program was devised when a picturesque gypsy entered as an "uninvited" guest and disclosed the secrets of the future, leaving written prophecies scattered in the rooms. An additional feature was a gypsy song.

At the close of the evening Mrs. Doney served delicious refreshments.

NEWBERG, OREGON

The West Will Supply the Country's Paper

The United States is the greatest user of paper in the world. Yet, raw timber materials in the East are practically exhausted. The country must look to the western timber country for its paper supply. Oregon's present production of paper is far behind the demand.

In this propitious market condition, we find the organization of a new pulp and paper mill by Mr. Chas. K. Spaulding and associates.

Located at Newberg, in the heart of a vast timber supply, with highway, railroad and water transportation facilities and cheap fuel, this new modern plant will be equipped for an immediate output of 30,000 pounds or more per day. The higher grade sulphite papers, superior to newsprint, will be produced, bringing higher prices and relatively higher profits.

This new company is composed of a group of substantial business men. Eight of the thirteen Directors have already been chosen and are:

Chas. K. Spaulding, Salem, President.
J. C. Compton, McMinnville, Vice President.
Clarence Butt, Newberg, Secretary.
Lynn B. Ferguson, Newberg, Treasurer.
R. M. Hawkins, Salem.
R. J. Moore, Newberg.

Supporting this management will be a corps of paper manufacturing experts, who will also be shareholders in the enterprise.
