Economy Was The Inspiration For This Home

THE SUSQUEHANNA, DESIGN NO. 111

ECONOMY seems to have been the inspiration in the designing of this exceptional little home. Not only economy in cost but economy in effort for the busy housewife, features which carry a double appeal. More of living comfort is provided in its limited dimensions than in any house we have offered in many weeks. In its ideal interior arrangement not a foot of space has been wasted. Compactness and convenience have been combined most happily throughout, and none of the features of the up-to-date small home are missing. In every particular it is very complete.

the rear of the hall are doors opening into the kitchen and to the basement stairway. Both the living and dining rooms are large and well lighted, with built-in features and an open fireplace in the former. The kitchen is large with an enclosed pantry and service porch. Four comfortable bedrooms and bath are on the upper floor, all opening upon the small central hall. While the bath is not large it is ample. Each of the rooms is equipped with a good sized closet and all are well lighted. At the rear is an open sleeping porch. There is no garret.

Designed for a small lot the house is narrow and deep. Dormer windows adequately light the upper rooms while the high pitched roof economizes in wall cost. No architectural elaborations add expense yet it is altogether pleasing in appearance.

Entrance from the living porch is through a vestibule into a cosy hallway from which the stairway leads to the second floor. In the corner beside the vestibule is a convenient closet, a feature not enjoyed in most small homes. At

NEW AUDITORIUM TO BE READY SOON

Chamber of Commerce Plans First Luncheon in Quarters June 7

Ample light will be afforded in the new auditorium of the Salem chamber of commerce, which will occupy the second floor of the addition to the Eckerlin building.

There are 14 windows around three sides of the room and four skylights. The woodwork is finished in gray, and the walls in a sort of buff, making for efficient lightness.

The chamber of commerce will hold its first luncheon in the new auditorium Monday noon, June 7. The room will seat about 300 people, while the present auditorium has a capacity of about 150.

Laying of the finished floor of the room has been completed. It is expected that the heating system will be installed this week. All the doors, including those to the special built-in kitchen and to the billiard room of the club, have been put in place.

First floor of the building will be occupied by U. G. Shipley's store. The first floor is progressing rapidly, the finish flooring having been laid last week. It is expected that the Shipley addition will be moved into about the middle of June.

MOTION PICTURE STARS CLIMB INTO FORTUNE

camp and wind-jammer fleets engaged Monte Blue's time before he became a stage hand in a movie lot here, where Griffith gave him a start as an extra. Blue now now heads his own production company with Warner Brothers.

Jack Holt was a rancher, civil engineer, miner, sheep raiser and a freighter of government mail in Alaska before he began facing the camera. His progress was replete with hard knocks, but today he manages to own a stable of fine ponies while he uses as a member of the famous Midwick Club polo team.

Lon Chaney remembers a time when the Kleig light had not even been thought of as a possibility. In those days, the whole staff would drive into the country and usually return with one complete episode to a serial.

In addition to his screen work, Chaney's present finds much of his time taken by business interests.

Numerous other stars have followed the industry since the days of its infancy. Virtually all the big producers of the present day—Laaky, the Goldwyns, Laemmle, Fox and several others—have developed companies which had their origin in the first days of the movies.

To the veterans, however, advancement to stardom does not seem as difficult as formerly.

As an actress on the European stage, Pola Negri lived in poverty. Famous Players-Lasky brought her to America, wealth and fame all within a few years.

Bety Bronson had appeared in small roles in but two or three pictures before Herbert Brenon brought her to the bright lights as the star of "Peter Pan" and "A Kiss for Cinderella."

Samuel Goldwyn was in Paris when he met Lois Moran, a sixteen year old Pittsburgh girl working as an extra in French films. A few months and she had attained recognition through her work in "Stella Dallas."

While on the same trip, Goldwyn met Vilma Banky in Budapest. She came to America and appeared with Ronald Colman in "The Dark Angel." Since then, she has had several leading parts.

views, held a military post in Poland which then was under the domination of Russia. Owing to his extreme views he was dismissed. He died when Madam Krupskaya was fourteen years old. While still a child she supported herself and other children.

Actuated by revolutionary ideas, she later took up a position at an evening school in a workingman's district in Leningrad.

"In order to get better acquainted with the masses and the conditions of labor," it was here she first met Nicholas Lenin. Their acquaintance grew into warm friendship and their marriage took place in Siberia, whence they had been sent as exiles and where they remained for a number of years.

From that time on, Madam Krupskaya devoted herself to Lenin in his revolutionary propaganda.

WELLER BUILDING PLASTER STARTED

Three Rooms Partitioned Off Toward Front of Second Floor

As an indication that completion of the two-story Weller building, located on Chemeketa, between High and Church streets, is approaching, the work of plastering the second floor has been started. Three rooms have been partitioned off toward the front of the second floor, to be used as special drying rooms and such in the process of auto painting.

Wood's Auto Top and Paint company will move into the building just as soon as it is finished. There is a direct driveway from the first to the second floor, and this is partitioned off from the remainder of the first floor.

All of the windows on the second floor and most of those on the first floor have been installed. The inside woodwork is being finished in gray, while the outside framework, such as window sills, is being finished in green. As soon as the good weather sets in once more, the stucco will be applied to the outer walls.

The concrete flooring on the first floor has been laid. The second floor is constructed of extra thick wood.

Ireland to Mint Own Coins for First Time in Century

DUBLIN—(By Associated Press) Ireland is to mint her own coins for the first time in a hundred years. The law assimilating Ireland's currency with that of England was passed in 1825, but the Free State parliament recently decided to establish a token silver, nickel and copper coinage for amounts up to forty shillings (about 10 dollars). Eminent artists have been asked to assist the government in the designs of the new coins.

The first Irish coins were struck by the Danish Kings of Dublin in the tenth or eleventh century, and in mediæval times there were mints in Dublin, Waterford, Trilim and Drogheda.

man; he can be taught, he can be led to believe the precepts of the great Christ. Slowly, very slowly, he learns, but the movement is upward and toward the light.

What is the condition today? Property is probably valued as highly as it ever has been but its values are translated into terms of human good. Society looks askance at a man whose sole endeavor is to accumulate goods; a silent condemnation is upon him who does not share his loaf with him who has no bread. Creeping into the teachable heart of men is the spirit of the Nazarene who, without equivocation, says that he who seeks first the Kingdom, knowing that all other needful things will be added. And the Kingdom? The Kingdom is to love God completely and to love your neighbor as yourself.

In interpreting the love we should have for others, look within our own natures and find there that our chief motive is to be all that we can; we wish to realize to the utmost our inherent possibilities. In these later splendid years, we are beginning to wish the same for other people as we wish for ourselves, and institutions such as this which we dedicate today are but expressions of that great desire.

The Salem Y. M. C. A., like all other Christian associations is intended to be a means of helping men, both young and old, to the fullest self-realizations. That is interpreted as meaning for us a proper valuation of physical health, of intellectual growth and spiritual achievement. The researchers of science have indubitably shown how closely related the body is both to the mind and to the soul. The physical organism is a willing servant, but in order to render fullest obedience, it must be strong. It is the very condition of human efficiency. The largest results come to those who are able to toil most vigorously and longest; the finest results are to those whose body is the vassal and spontaneous instrument of mentally and spiritually. The Salem Y. M. C. A. will, therefore, make large contributions, not only to the physical well-being of this community, but to its intellectual and its morals.

This association, while not directly engaged in teaching as a high school or college is, will nevertheless contribute to the intellectual well-being of those who come under its influence. It will discover and inspire youth; it will guide and encourage those who the years to come will not be carved upon dead monuments, but rather to write great truths upon the living hearts of growing youth. Therefore, you have done nobly well and to Him who is the Father and Son and Spirit, to His glory, through the upbuilding of His children, this building today is dedicated.
