

CHAMP WINS FIRST FALL; REED SECOND

Reynolds Gets Fall in Hour and Half; Reed Wins His in 27 Minutes

ALBANY, Ore., May 29.—(By Associated Press.)—Jack Reynolds of Indianapolis and Robin Reed of Oregon Agricultural college wrestled two hours to a draw before nearly 2,000 persons here tonight in their match for the welterweight professional championship of the world.

In the draw decision Reynolds retained his title, but Reed made a great showing against him. Each wrestler took one fall. Reynolds stamped Reed after one hour and 15 minutes with a flying mare. Reed came back and opened the count by throwing Reynolds with a Japanese arm hold in 27 minutes.

Neither grappler got a fall in the final 15 minutes, the match being to a two hour limit. Reed several times had Reynolds in bad positions, but each time they went off the mat or the champion managed by extraordinary efforts to get clear.

After the match Reynolds said Reed was the toughest opponent he had ever wrestled.

ALBANY, Ore., May 29.—(By Associated Press.)—Reed punished Reynolds severely early in the match with succession of headlocks which he applied one after another until the champion was half-grogg and reeling about the ring. However, it was one of these headlocks that gave Reynolds the opening to win the first fall of the match.

For 10 minutes Reed had been punning headlocks and Reynolds seemed about done for. Reed went after another headlock but out of the shuffle, Reynolds, from standing position suddenly got hold of Reed and pulled him over his shoulder to thump heavily on the mat, where he pinned him. The fall was a flying mare.

Reed immediately began forcing the wrestler, taking every sort of chance to even the match. He seemed fresh and strong, while Reynolds after a few minutes of fast and rough going began to appear ragged.

After a succession of headlocks, Reynolds and wristlocks that time after time had Reynolds in a bad way. Reed pinned the champion with a Japanese armlock after 37 minutes.

In this period Reynolds hardly got a hold of Reed, who kept him continually on the defensive.

DEMPSEY RESTS EASIER
BRING CHAMPION SUFFERING FROM INFECTED BOIL

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., May 29.—(By Associated Press.)—Jack Dempsey was still confined to his room in a hotel here tonight making the best of a painful left forearm, which was lanced today after having developed a boil. His temperature had gone down to normal.

The champion was forced to cancel his exhibition engagement in Cleveland next Monday with Ed Burke, New Orleans heavyweight.

Dempsey said tonight that he often but little rest Friday night but did manage to sleep in afternoon.

RATE IS BOOSTED
INS ARE PUT FORTH TO AVOID MORTALITY

WELAND, May 29.—(By Associated Press.)—New York infant death rate at present is 66 per one thousand births, thanks to humanitarian efforts against a literal slaughter of infants of fifty years ago when out of 3,000 babies born alive, one third were claimed by death and there was no child health work in the metropolis. The health division of the fifty-third national conference of social work today sought to light these and many other inspiring revelations in connection with public health work.

HUBERT WORK IS TARGET
SECRETARY OF INTERIOR REQUESTED TO LEAVE OFFICE

POCATELLO, Idaho, May 29.—(By Associated Press.)—A resolution asking for the resignation of Dr. Hubert Work, secretary of the interior, "for continually breaking his word and has devoted the greater part of his administration towards depriving destitute farmers of water for their growing crops," was passed at a meeting of the Pocatello grange tonight.

"The action of the grange," said H. C. Harris, master, "was the result of the direct appeal of Nebraska farmers who informed us of the dire need for water for irrigation caused by the action of Work shutting off the headgates on western Nebraska."

Reed and Reynolds Battle To Draw Before Crowd of 3000 Spectators British Amateur Golf Championship Is Carried Off By American Player

SWEETSER DEFEATS SIMPSON IN FINALS

United States Wins Coveted Honor for First Time in Golf History

MUIRFIELD, Scotland, May 29.—(By Associated Press.)—The British amateur golf title was carried off today for the first time by a native born American, Jess Sweetser of New York. Only once before, 22 years ago, have America's frequent challengers for the British amateur crown been successful. Walter J. Travis, a native of Australia having won the title in 1905.

Sweetser, a star in his intercollegiate days who captured the American amateur championship, accomplished the feat in the historic Muirfield course by defeating Alexander Frederick Simpson, British Civil engineer, a golfer so new in championship tests to bear up under the grueling test of the final round. The score was 6 up and 5 to play.

Triumph of the American star last year in the Walker cup team in the unexpected defeat of Bobby Jones yesterday was comparatively easy. He had Simpson's measure by the time the 18 hole morning round was completed. Four down at the start of the afternoon Simpson finally cracked at the ninth, and Sweetser pressed forward to clinch his triumph at the 13th green.

The defeat of Simpson, while not unexpected, was a blow to hopes of golf loving Brits, who felt that their representative in the final round had come through the event by too easy a route. Britons were the first to concede Sweetser's deserved triumph, however, the result of consistent play which became brilliant at frequent periods and which stood the test of several hard fought battles in the early rounds, including a sensational struggle with his own team mate, Francis Outim.

The conclusion of the tournament is a triumph for the young New York banker, who had been reluctant to interrupt his business career for the invasion, terminated in what in many respects was the most remarkable British championship ever staged, more than a score of Americans entered, including all eight members of the Walker cup team. It was the best chance America ever had to come through with a long sought victory, yet one after another of the American contingent fell. With them also fell the men on whom Great Britain chiefly pinned her hopes, including Robert Harris Cyril Tolley, Major Hazlet, Sir Ernest Holderness, Roger Wethered and other players of international fame.

When the sixth round came yesterday only two, Bobby Jones, amateur champion and Sweetser, were left of the big American field, and it was Sweetser, not Jones who seemed most likely to prove to be the man to carry America's standard and finally to wrest the much desired trophy from British hands.

And well, indeed, did Sweetser bear the responsibility. Coming through the semi-finals yesterday by cleanly defeating the picturesque London Irishman, W. H. Brownlow, in a thrilling 21 hole battle, he out-did himself today by his clearest performance in the 36 hole test. His powerful driving was ever in evidence while his irons seldom failed him. On the green he was safe and sure although seldom brilliant.

For his opponent, the cavernous bunkers with which the Muirfield course is thickly potted, proved for many shots and penalized him cruelly. He was caught in the jaws of one of them at the 12th and after failing to escape in two shots gave up the hole.

At the 13th, another trap caught his tea shot, and although he came out perfectly with a niblick and noted a long putt for a par 3, all the good it did him was to make the score six and five, instead of 7 and 5. He was dormant at that point and only miraculous golf could have saved him from defeat at the hands of the machine-like Sweetser.

PORTLAND DEFEATED BY OAKLAND 3 TO 2

Southern Team Claims Victory After Using Four Pitchers in Game

Oakland 3; Beavers 2
PORTLAND, May 29.—(By Associated Press.)—Oakland beat Portland today, 3 to 2, after using four pitchers and two or three pinch hitters in the effort. The Beavers hit Delaney for three safe blows and two runs in the first two innings, but after that made only one hit for the remaining seven innings of Gould, Freeman and Pruett combined. Lingrel started for Portland, but in the sixth developed a wild streak and forced in the tying run on a walk with the bases full. Portland threatened in the ninth, when Shinners dropped Elsh's line drive with two out and Meeker on first. Pruett went in and made just one pitch to Ernie Johnson who popped a fly to right.

Score— R. H. E. Oakland 3 7 1 Portland 2 4 0 Delaney, Gould, Freeman, Pruett and Boel; Lingrel, Payne and Tolin, Berry.
