Chemeketa Chapter Plans Benefit Bridge Tea for Tuesday

Extensive plans are being made by Chemeketa chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, for an outstanding benefit bridge tea on Tuesday afternoon, June 8, at the Woman's club building on North Liberty street. A large number of reservations have already been made for tables at what promises to be an exceedingly attractive affair.

The proceeds will go toward the purchase of a chair in the new administration building which the Daughters are building in Washington, D. C. This chair will be dedicated to Mrs. Seymour Jones, past state regent, and member of Chemeketa chapter.

Mrs. Homer Goulet is in charge of the afternoon benefit affair, with the following as her assistants: Mrs. U. G. Shipley, Mrs. Seymour Jones, Mrs. John W. Orr, Mrs. Casey Martin, Mrs. Russell Catlin and Mrs. Frank Spears.

Reservations may be made with any member of the above committee.

Salem Arts League Elects Officers for New Year

The election of Mrs. Wm. Forgyce Fargo as president of the league for the new year was the opening business at the annual meeting of the Salem Arts League last night at the new YMCA building. Dr. Mary C. Rowland, retiring president, was elected to the office of art director. Mrs. Gustav Ebsen was named first vice president, and Dr. F. G. Franklin, second. Robert C. Paulus was chosen as the new secretary-treasurer.

Four M Club Holds Delightful Gathering at Cornforth Home

An elaborate club event of the week was the all-day meeting of the Four M club yesterday at the attractive country home of Mrs. John Cornforth, southeast of Salem.

A bountiful dinner was served at noon on the long veranda, walled in with flowers and bouquets of evergreen. Crimson rambler roses filled baskets at either end of the table, while an immense bouquet of sweet peas in the pastel shades was the centerpiece. Napkins folded to make Pierrot caps, and dainty place cards in a floral motif, marked places for each guest.

Hostesses who entertained with Mrs. Cornforth for this enjoyable affair were Mrs. J. M. Martin and Mrs. John Printz.

Special guests for the day included Miss Constance Kantner, Junior Martin, Louise Dumke, Mrs. Humphreys, Dr. W. C. Kantner, Ben West, J. M. Martin, H. E. Martin and John Cornforth.

Mrs. W. C. Kantner was chosen as leader for the afternoon's devotionals. A business meeting followed. At the program hour a group of readings were enjoyed. An entertainment feature of more than ordinary interest was the exhibition of early photographs of the members.

Mrs. Myrtle Martin is president of the Four M club; Mrs. Mabel Bath, vice president; Mrs. Eva Martin, secretary and Mrs. Ida Teckenburg, treasurer.

The personnel of the club is as follows: Mrs. Ida Teckenburg, Mrs. Myrtle Martin, Mrs. Norma Terwilliger, Mrs. Eva Martin, Mrs. C. E. Garrett, Mrs. H. O. Taylor, Mrs. Eliza Spellbrink, Mrs. Jennie
