

NEARLY 3000 IN CANNERIES HERE

But They Want Still More Help, One of Them 100 Additional Women

There were yesterday not far from 3000 people employed in the Salem canneries and packing houses. Every cannery was going full blast, but several of them were looking for more help.

The big Hunt cannery in Salem was working about 850 people yesterday, and calling for 100 more women. At this cannery 902 rigs unloaded fruit on Tuesday; 275 of them after 6 o'clock in the evening. They are working on Royal Ann cherries, loganberries, black cap raspberries, etc. They expect strawberries to be about all in by the end of this week, but that loganberries will be coming for about four weeks yet. After that, there will be a little lull, till evergreen blackberries and Bartlett pears begin to come in volume. This cannery worked a night force Tuesday night; making a very tired force on the parts of the heads of the departments yesterday.

The Starr cannery is working day and night forces on loganberries and strawberries; of the latter mostly Etterbergs. They have a big crew, but need more women. Strawberry deliveries are slowing up.

Paulus & Co. are getting very busy canning loganberries. They are also in the market for loganberries to dry. Started canning in full swing Monday.

Libby, McNeill & Libby are very active shipping loganberries and strawberries to The Dalles, for canning there. They shipped a car of strawberries Tuesday night. Most of their berries go by truck.

The Northwestern cannery is working full forces in Etterberg strawberries, black cap raspberries, loganberries and cherries.

The Producers' cooperative cannery is nearly through with strawberries, but is full up on Royal Ann and loganberries, and will be for some time on the latter.

The Oregon Packing company is busy each day and part of each night on all the berries and Royal Ann cherries. Very busy, with a force about as large as the Hunt cannery. Has full forces.

The West Salem cannery is rushed on all berries and cherries, with full forces.

Baker, Kelly & McLaughlin are getting in full swing on loganberries at their Salem plant, at the Salem Fruit Union building. They expect logans to last till after the 4th of July. They are barreling a few blackcap raspberries here. At their Albany plant they are barreling logans and black caps. They are nearly through with strawberries at their Woodburn and Lebanon plants.

Picking Lambert cherries will be general next week for fresh shipments.

More help is needed in the fields, for strawberries and loganberries. Some of the pickers wander about from place to place, leaving the labor problem one to worry some of the growers.

didate over Pinchot and Pepper. He explained that Morin had told him his information came from an "under-cover man" the Vore forces had in the Pepper headquarters at Pittsburgh.

Turpin aside temporarily from this line of inquiry the committee called Cyrus E. Woods former ambassador to Japan and Spain who told of his efforts to bring together the discordant elements in the fight of Pepper for re-nomination to the senate and state Senator Fisher for the republican nomination for governor.

Woods said his services were enlisted by W. L. Mellon, of Pittsburgh, nephew of Secretary Mellon, and that his energies were devoted largely to bringing into the Pepper camp Joseph R. Cundry, of Bristol, president of the Pennsylvania manufacturers' association who has been summoned as a witness.

The former ambassador said "the Grundy-Fisher people were suspicious of the Pepper people and the Pepper people were suspicious of the Grundy-Fisher people." He added that his efforts were successful.

"You exercised your diplomatic training to work out their difficulties," suggested Senator La Follette, republican, Wisconsin.

"Yes if you want to put it that way," Mr. Woods replied with a smile.

The statements submitted by Governor Pinchot's campaign managers showed that $143,678 was contributed by himself or members of his family. The governor said he gave $43,667 and the statement submitted by his state wide treasurer showed that $50,000 was given by Mrs. Charles B. Wood, an aunt, $50,000 by Mrs. Pinchot and $10,000 by Amos Pinchot, a brother.

George W. Woodruff, attorney general of Pennsylvania and a classmate of Governor Pinchot, donated $11,000.

Representative Vore and the officers of his campaign organization attended the two sessions to the committee awaiting their turn on the witness stand.

'LET WOMEN ALONE' HAS LAUGHS GALORE

Scintillating Comedy-Drama Playing at Oregon Theatre Last Times Today

"Let Women Alone," admonishes the picture at the Oregon theatre and proves that it is sound advice. For both the old and the young "heroines" have ideas of their own and spunk enough to carry them out to the discomfiture of the old one's son and the young one's uncle. It will be shown here today only.

The picture is the screen version of Viola Brothers Shore's Saturday Evening Post story, "On the Shelf." Ma Benham whose son Tom has transplanted her from a farm in Idaho to a life of luxury in the city, begins to get restless. She cannot do even a little dusting without having the maid rush up and take the dust-cloth out of her hands. Finally, without her son's knowledge, she takes a job as companion to the three-year-old daughter of a widowed interior decorator. Fate throws Tom and Ma's employer together and in the situations which ensue are combined intense drama and delicious humor.

Pat O'Malley is most convincing as Tom, the breezy insurance agent; Ethel Wales does some excellent work as Ma Benham and Wanda Hawley gives a capable performance as Beth Wylie, Ma's employer. Wallace Beery has a comedy role of the type he showed his aptitude for in "The Sea Hawk."

PIONEERS TO MEET OLD FRIENDS HERE

Addresses, Music and Dinner to Feature Reunion at Local Fairgrounds

All pioneers and other old-timers and their sons and daughters are requested to come to the State Fair Grounds here, on Sunday, June 20, to enjoy the program of music and songs and complete organization of "old timers" that was started in Salem a few weeks ago.

The committee on arrangements has prepared an extensive musical program to commence at 2 p. m. under the direction of Dr. H. C. Epley, Mrs. Hallie Parrish Hinkens, Mrs. Carlton Smith and Mr. Spears. Mr. Spears is famous as a violinist, having won nearly every first prize given in the northwest during the last thirty years for playing old tunes.

The program will include such old time selections as "Lily Dale," "My Little Trundle Bed," "Maggie" and others, given as solos. Under the leadership of Dr. Epley the crowd will join in singing the hymns sung in every log church and school house in pioneer days. Mr. Spears will play the tunes that gladdened the hearts of the pioneers in their hours of mirth, tunes that old timers only know, and that will bring many a recollection of happier days.

All are expected to meet at 10 o'clock and bring a lunch, and put in time visiting until the program starts. Hot coffee, sugar and cream will be furnished to all free. Arrangements have been made so that those who cannot prepare a lunch can purchase sandwiches and coffee on the grounds.

It is expected that 2000 pioneers and old-timers will meet on that day. The committee has spared neither time nor money in an effort to make this meeting a success. The committee requests that each old timer spread the news by telephone and otherwise, of this meeting, to the end that all may learn of it in time.

MIAMI, Fla., June 9.—(By Associated Press)—Charges of irregularities in the state democratic primary were made tonight by James W. Carson, member of the campaign committee for Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, candidate for congress from the fourth Florida district. Mr. Carson declared that a contest would be made of the returns if they did not show Mrs. Owen's nomination. Unofficial returns showed Mrs. Owen to be trailing Congressman W. J. Sears, her opponent by 469 votes.

MARION BOY ADVANCED BOYD STEEVENS BOARDS VESSEL FOR TRAINING

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 9.—After completing his preliminary training as a United States marine in land, Boyd L. Steevens of Scotts Mills will now be taught the duties of a marine on board ship at the sea school here.

At this school he will receive instructions in rowing, lashing hammocks, boxing a compass and other subjects which soldiers of the sea are required to know. Upon the completion of this training he will be assigned to duty on a battleship or cruiser.

Boyd lived at the home of his father, Byron G. Steevens, rural route 1, Scotts Mills, before he joined the marine corps at Salem several weeks ago. Desiring to go to sea, he was one of the marines who was recently selected for training at the sea school.

From roots and herbs, Lydia E. Pinkham, a descendant of these sturdy pioneers, made her Vegetable Compound. The beneficial effects of this dependable medicine are vouched for by hundreds of women who tell of returning health and energy.

Mrs. Wm. Kraft of 2838 Vinewood Ave., Detroit, Mich., saw a Pinkham advertisement in the "News" one day and made up her mind that she would give the Compound a trial. At that time she was very weak. "After the first bottle," she writes, "I began to feel better and like a new woman after taking six bottles. I recommended it to others and always keep a bottle in the house."

If Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped other women, why shouldn't it help you?

Women Prepared Their Own Medicines

The wise pioneer women learned to gather, in woods and fields, the remedies the Indians used. From the roots of colonial houses, hung great bunches of dried roots and herbs. From these, in a time of sick mass, the busy mother brewed simple and powerful remedies.
