Over Each Grave of Osage Indian Is American Flag
PAWHUSKA, Okla. — (Associated Press)—Over the grave of each Osage Indian in the Osage Nation floats an American flag—symbol of the red man's faith in the "Great White Father."

The white man's oil wells have made the Osages the richest people on earth. Interests of the tribe are pooled by the government and every year the flood of black gold pours an average income of $14,000 into the lap of each member.

This condition has made the Indian the prey of the avaricious white man. He has been cheated, robbed and even slain for his wealth.

But through it all, the Osage has maintained steadfast confidence in the power of the government to right his wrongs and restore him to his former tranquil life.

The flags are not flown in accordance with regulations. Day and night they flutter over the graves until frayed and faded, they are displaced with fresh banners. The sentiment that brought their display is so genuine that no protest is made against the practice.

Next Step in Evolution Topic New Thought Group
NEW YORK — (Associated Press)—The next step in evolution and the prolongation of life will be two subjects for discussion at the International New Thought Alliance Congress here, June 20-27.

Evolution's progress to date has been "purely material and scientific," said the Rev. Albert C. Grier of New York, who will speak on how greater advancement will be made through the "mind and individual consciousness."

Richard Lynch, also of this city, who will talk on prolongation of life, contends the real solution is in the "developed mental powers" of each person.

Among other speakers will be Elizabeth Towne, of Holyoke, Mass., and Mary E. T. Chapin, of Washington.

At the second session, all religions will be outlined and explained by spokesmen from many sections of the world.

To Memorialize Author of "My Old Kentucky Home"
BARDSTOWN, Ky. — (Associated Press)—American Folklore societies are to memorialize the man who wrote "My Old Kentucky Home."

On July 4, 1826, while a band outside the home of Stephen Foster was playing for the national holiday, the famous composer was born. His song will be played and hung here around his statue and shrine, where he wrote it, this July 4.

Under a storm of protest, a resolution to adopt a song other than "My Old Kentucky Home" as the official song of the Commonwealth was defeated in the hush during the 1926 legislative session. The senate had passed a resolution substituting a song "Kentucky," composed recently by Mrs. Leslie Collins of Frankfort.

THRILLING EPIC OF SEA PLAYING HERE

"The Sea Beast" With John Barrymore, Justifies All Praise Given

"The Sea Beast" opened yesterday at the Elsinore theater for a run of four days, and justified in every way all the glowing heaped of golden adjectives that have been piled up about this supreme effort of the Warner Brothers.

John Barrymore is the star, but even with Barrymore, the one actor who brings to the screen the feel of that indefinable quality called genius, the drama of "The Sea Beast" is the thing. For "The Sea Beast" is the thing. For "The Sea Beast" is the thing. For "The Sea Beast" is the thing.

The sea dominates, and, even Barrymore, superb actor that he is, is less, as any human would be less, than the epic that flashes tumultuously across the screen; the epic of the American sailors of 1840.

The beauty of the scenes in Java, the magic way in which the atmosphere of the east has been captured, the never-equalled thrill of the surging storms at sea, the anguished suspense of the battle with the whale, are some of the things that stand out most vividly.

that the raid was conducted. William Brown, in a statement issued yesterday, declared that he had nothing to do with the liquor transaction and had no knowledge that McBride was a prohibition officer until he was placed under arrest. He also denied emphatically that he was responsible for the shooting.

James Angelus, who suffered a flesh wound of the leg during the raid, was reported as recovering at a local hospital. Angelus made his escape during the shooting but later was apprehended at the home of a farmer living a half mile from the scene of the tragedy. He afterward was brought to Salem for medical treatment. As soon as he is recovered sufficiently to leave the hospital Angelus will be arraigned in court on a charge of unlawful possession. A similar charge has been preferred against William and Joseph Brown.

Women found in the Kaboris home testified that they had been employed by William Brown to pick cherries and had no knowledge that bootlegging operations had been carried on by their employer. They estimated that approximately 30 shots were fired. After the shooting Chris Angelus, brother of the wounded man, ran into the house and departed after asserting that he would bury his rifle. He was armed at the time, the women said, and was excited.

Officers believe that Ebris Angelus went to Portland after the shooting and the police there have been notified.

Ninety gallons of liquor, confiscated in the raid are stored in the sheriff's office here pending completion of the prosecutions.

Libraries "Sell" Public on Reading for Education

CHICAGO — (Associated Press) — Little booklet essays by prominent writers, put out by the American Library Association to "sell" the American adult public on the reading of cultural and educational books, have themselves sold 130,000 copies in the first year of the experiment.

After a short discussion by the author of this subject, such as psychology, education, biology, poetry or music, from three to eight standard works on the subject are recommended. Some librarians have reported that the booklets seem to be even more popular than the reading courses they suggest. Increased circulation of the books recommended in the courses and increased sales of books, also have been reported by many librarians.
