

DIETITIAN TO GIVE LECTURES IN SALEM

Prof. George E. Parker Coming Wednesday Under Auspices of Salem Stores.

Prof. George E. Parker, one of America's greatest dietitians, assisted by Madam Morrow, formerly a domestic science teacher at Dublin University, Ireland, will give a series of free lectures at the chamber of commerce auditorium on Liberty street, starting Wednesday, June 16, and continuing the rest of the week. The lectures will be given from 2 to 4 o'clock and are under the auspices of the Triangle Stores Co., of Salem.

"We are giving this series of lectures free to the housewives of this community in order that they may become more proficient in the art of cooking, canning and preserving, and that they may be able to serve a properly balanced diet consisting of the right proportions of proteins, fats and carbohydrates," the company states.

On Friday night at 7:30 a special lecture will be given for those who are unable to attend the afternoon series.

MILITARY TRAINING RAPPED BY CHURCH

Friends Opposed to Compelling Students to Take War Instruction.

NEWBERG, June 14.—The 34th annual session of Oregon Yearly Meeting of the Friends Church closed last night. The work of Bible schools, temperance and social service have been presented today.

The annual reports of Pacific college showed a very successful year, the chief feature of which has been the recognition of the college as a standard college of Oregon, both by the United States bureau of education and the state department of public instruction.

A vigorous protest was lodged by this yearly meeting against compulsory military training in schools and colleges. The Friends declared their belief that it unjust to compel a young man who has conscientious scruples against war preparation to violate his conscience or forego the privilege of education in the very institution which his own taxes help to support.

A letter was directed to President Coolidge, commending him for his attitude which prevented the establishment of Armistice day as national defense test day, and protesting against the pushing of compulsory military training, as tending to develop a militaristic spirit in our own people and to arouse fear and suspicion on the part of other nations.

EMPHATIC DENIAL ISSUED BY MAYOR

Mr. Giesy Is Not Opposed to Calling Special Session of Council.

An emphatic denial that he was approached by a councilman about the matter of putting on a double paying shift, was voiced Monday night by Mayor J. B. Giesy.

Attempts of certain factions to embarrass Mayor Giesy by insinuating that he had refused to call such a special meeting "on the ground that he did not wish to compromise his administration," were met with the statement that as yet he had received no petition for a special meeting, although Alderman Watson Townsend, who is reported to have started the petition, had plenty of time to inform him about it Saturday afternoon.

"I have at all times been pleased to confer with the members of the council on all matters of importance to the city," Mayor Giesy declared. "On many occasions I have called members of the council into conference on my own initiative."

"The only member of the council who spoke to me with reference to working our street paving plant on double shift was Alderman Wenderoth. I told Mr. Wenderoth if it was found advisable to do so, that I thought the street improvement committee would have authority to go ahead."

"This conversation took place on Saturday morning of last week. I told Mr. Wenderoth I would confer with some of the members of the council and the bankers the first of the present week and then if we deemed it best, we would call a meeting of the council to discuss the matter."

"There is not one word of truth in the statement that I refused to call a meeting of the council, or that I said I did not want to 'compromise' my administration. I had that a call was being circulated for a special meeting of the council when I was informed of the fact by a Statesman reporter."

The apparent eagerness of certain factions to rush the city paving to a point where the utmost in efficiency might not be obtained was said to be due to a desire to improve certain sections of the city now being exploited.

As for the statement that the "plan wins favor," referring to the double shift plan, Walter Low, street commissioner, who is conceded by those familiar with the situation, to know more about the city's paying than any other individual, is against the idea of a double shift, it was said. Commissioner Low, who has acquired a reputation for producing a high quality pavement for Salem, is of the opinion that the paving situation is well under hand and that some pet scheme to increase production is neither necessary or desirable.

600,000 CANS OF FRUIT IN ONE DAY

The Eight Salem Canneries Packed 25,000 Cases in 24 Hour Period.

One day last week the eight Salem canneries packed 25,000 cases of fruit. In terms of canneries, that is the case, the size familiar to the housewife, that was 600,000 cans.

And it is submitted that that is some cans; a long row of them; a good sized mountain of them.

It is not easy to get definite statistics concerning the output of individual canneries, to say nothing of the whole group of eight canneries. But it may be stated with confidence that the 25,000 cases were put up by the eight Salem canneries in one 24-hour period last week.

It is also true that at least one of the Salem canneries is putting up about 8,000 cases of fruit a day. Perhaps two of them have each about that output.

Several of the Salem canneries were running night shifts last night, on account of the immense receipt of fruit over the two-day period of Sunday and yesterday.

The Hunt cannery is using strawberries, Royal Ann cherries, and also Bing and Lambert and other varieties of cherries; putting them into cans; also loganberries and red and black raspberries.

That cannery was running the whole night last night, with a full force.

There are other operations using a vast amount of fruit, besides the eight Salem canneries putting up cases and cans of fruit.

There are the barreling concerns, and the concerns that are making shipments of "green" fruit in cold storage. Then several of the canneries are using a great deal more fruit than they are putting into cans.

They are carrying on large operations in the barreling of fruit; some of the largest operations of this kind being carried on in connection with the canneries.

Then there is the Libby, McNeill & Libby concern, buying and shipping to their big cannery at The Dalles many hundreds of tons of strawberries and loganberries, from Salem.

It was predicted at the opening of the season that the pack of the Salem canneries would be a million cases this year. It will be a great deal more, and the biggest days will be when they are working on prunes and pears and evergreen blackberries.

DUEL CHARGE REFUTED

KLAMATH MAN FACES TRIAL ON SERIOUS CHARGE

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., June 14.—(By AP.)—N. E. Woodhouse, prominent bee culturist of Klamath county, on trial charged with having challenged his neighbor, S. E. Icenbice, to a duel with 30-30 rifles, took the stand today and denied having made the challenge.

He quoted himself as saying to Icenbice: "I suppose since you have attacked me with a hammer and a pitchfork your next move will be to invite me out on the road to shoot it out with 30-30 rifles."

The defendant was arrested last week on complaint of Icenbice who charged that the challenge followed a dispute over bees on a place which Woodhouse as county bee inspector had condemned.

Previous to Woodhouse's testimony, four witnesses declared on the stand they had heard Woodhouse issue the challenge. Penalties possible on the dueling charge is from one to ten years in prison.

DIATETICS AND HOME ECONOMICS AND PASTEURIZATION OF FOOD PRODUCTS

Save the Vitamines So Essential to Health

Are You Corpulent? Do You Want to Get Thin?

Or are you anaemic and want to get fat? These are questions thousands of people are asking themselves. After hearing this series of lectures you can eat what you want and yet grow thin. You will know how you can do it.

Pasteurizing your food products instead of sterilizing them, thereby preserving the vitamins so vital to the correct regulation of your body. These and many other interesting facts will be told at this series of five lectures.

The Triangle Stores are offering this course as an educational feature. The Triangle Stores feel that Professor Parker has a message that Salem people should hear and that he has facts that they should know. There is nothing to sell—involving no obligation whatsoever on the part of those who attend.

Housewives who attend these free lectures will be getting at no cost at all, a series of 5 lectures for which the usual charge is $15. The Triangle Stores are absorbing all costs and are offering this course to all the housewives of Marion and Polk counties.

Any woman who misses this course of lectures will be missing something of vital importance not only to her family but to herself. There are things told without charge that you could not buy otherwise from other sources, and it is all so simple. No one should pass up this opportunity to hear Prof. Parker.
