

Salem's Chance for League Pennant Turns on Cyclops Game Tomorrow

LOCALS TO BLAST HALF GAME LEAD

Win by Portland Nine Would Cinch Championship, Fans Believe

Powers, new Salem pitcher recently released by the Kelo Timberwolves, was unable to fool his old team mates Thursday, the Senators losing to Kelo 12 to 5 at Kelo. Powers got by three innings, but after that he was pounded hard, a total of 16 blows being made off him.

Shandling, Kelo catcher, led the hitting with a home run and three doubles. "We have no alibis," said Manager Bishop. "They just have a hard-hitting club."

The Portland Cyclops will meet the local club in Salem Sunday in what is expected to be one of the bitterest and most hard-fought contests of the season. The local club is anxious to retrieve its two former defeats at the hands of the northerners.

Salem pennant hopes depend strongly upon success in the game tomorrow. The Cyclops at present have a half game lead, and if it is increased tomorrow, the chances are that Salem will be unable to overtake them.

Chuck Hellman and Bud Taylor Battle to Draw in Ten Round Event

DECISION SAID NOT POPULAR WITH FANS

Ringsiders Gave Taylor Five Rounds, Hellman One and Other Four Even

PORTLAND, June 25.—(By Associated Press.)—Chuck Hellman, clever Portland bantamweight, battled Bud Taylor, Terre Haute, Ind., contender for the world's title, to a ten-round draw tonight.

The decision was unpopular with newspapermen and ringsiders who gave Taylor five rounds, Hellman one, and called the other four even.

The Terre Haute terror landed several stiff jolts to the Portland boy's midsection in the first round and at the bell Hellman was hanging on.

Hellman's best round was the second when he kept Taylor away and bombarded him with a barrage of lefts and rights. Taylor came back in the next four frames and left the game Hellman gasping from the effects of his murderous right.

The two battlers stood toe to toe through most of the closing rounds, and in the last period Hellman opened up with a volley of rights that sent Taylor into a clinch.

Ray Burger, Globe City heavyweight, knocked out Young Jack Dempsey of Portland, and Benny Wolf, Los Angeles welterweight, took a four-round decision over Al Gracelo, Spokane.

EUGENE, June 25.—(By Associated Press.)—Tommy O'Brien, 124 pounds, of Portland, and Ansel Bell, 120, of New York, fought a 10-round main event to a draw at the armory here tonight after both had taken a stiff dose of punishment. The match featured the card put on for the Elks state convention. Harold Davis, 137, Eugene, won a technical knockout over Tom Howe, 140, of Portland, when Howe threw a towel into the ring at the end of the fourth round of a scheduled six round bout. Bill Wilbhrn, 137, of Eugene won over Neal Long, 135, of Eugene, by a knockout in the last round of a four round preliminary.

Handicapped by Failure of Players to Appear, Soldiers Lose

Having held the Twilight league championship for five seasons, the Legion has taken a drop this year, losing again last night to the Grotto, 9-5.

Standings	W. L.	Pct.
Papermakers	4	2	.667
K. of C.	4	2	.667
Grotto	4	2	.667
U. S. Bank	3	2	.600
Legion	1	4	.200
Valley Motor	1	4	.200

Handicapped by the failure of several players to appear, the soldiers were forced to substitute a pitcher and two outfielders. They were visibly affected by the apparent lack of interest exhibited by their team mates and could not get started. This is the second game the Legion team has lost on the same account, and unless they win all of the remaining contests they have no chance of keeping the title.

The Grotto had only one scoreless inning, the third. The first inning was their big frame, four runs crossing. Paulson singled and Acton doubled, beginning the fun. Adolph hit, forcing Paulson at the plate. But Wilkerson hit for two bags and Waite tripped, scoring three runs. Ellis walked and White came in on an over-throw. The next two batters were easy outs. Two more registered for the Grotto in the second, one being walked in and the other scoring on Ellis' hit through second.

The bell changed twice more in the fourth on four hits and a walk and in the fifth Jenkins registered when an error put him on first and two singles put him across. Unable to get more than four men to the plate in any of the first four frames, the Legionaires tasted raw meat for a few minutes in the fifth and scored their three runs. It looked like a rally, but a double play retired the side and the soft music ceased.

The Grotto mounted into a triple tie for the league leadership, while the Legion dropped into the cellar position with the Valley Motor. The game last night ended the play for the week in both the Twilight and Commercial leagues. The schedule for next week will be published before Monday.

CLOSE CHECK MADE ON FATHER'S MOVES

Wallace Gaines' Nervous Condition Described to Coroner's Jury

SEATTLE, June 25.—(By Associated Press.)—After a coroner's jury had tonight completed its first day's work of an investigation expected to last a week into the slayings of Miss Sylvia H. Gaines, it was learned that an arrest in the case will likely be made within 48 hours. The hearing adjourned at 4:30 this afternoon to meet at 10 in the morning.

Long after the day's inquest ended, Luke S. May, a Seattle criminologist worked in his laboratory on a scientific examination of stains on clothing of Wallace C. Gaines, father of the girl. May started an investigation at the request of Prosecutor Colvin of King county, and is cooperating with Sheriff Starwich. Starwich, who centered attention of Seattle upon himself when he questioned Sylvia's father for three hours Wednesday, declared tonight that "the case is about closed."

SEATTLE, Wash., June 25.—(By Associated Press.)—Wallace Cloyes Gaines, father of Sylvia Howard Gaines, whose mutilated body was found on the edge of Green lake here June 17, had been drinking and was nervous and fidgety when he called on George Memmer, next door neighbor at midnight the night before, Memmer testified today at a coroner's inquest. Memmer said that Gaines was dressed differently than when he left his house earlier in the evening of June 15 after Sylvia had gone for a walk.

"Gaines came to my house about 12:30 a. m.," Memmer related. "He said 'I'm afraid something has happened to Sylvia. She's not home yet.' I asked if he had telephoned Bill (William A. Gaines, a brother) and he said 'there's no one home there.' Then I asked if he had notified the police and he replied: 'Not yet, I haven't got much gas in my car.' When asked if he had noticed anything different in Gaines' attire from what it was earlier in the evening when he went out, Memmer declared:

"Well, he first went out in a jumper. At 1:30 he had on a coat, white shirt, collar and tie and cap. He was dressed as if he was going somewhere." The witness told the inquest jury, "He sat down on a davenport and said 'Well, I warned her not to go over round that park. I replied I didn't think anything had happened to her. She was probably at a friend's house.' E. J. Morrill, an uncle by marriage of Sylvia, testified that the morning the girl's body was found, Gaines called at his home about 4 o'clock and said he was looking for his daughter but stayed only a few minutes. Robert S. MacFarlane, attorney for Gaines, known familiarly as Jasper or as Bob, said his client "certainly will attend the inquest, and he certainly will testify freely. His physician said it would do the patient no good to go, but we be-

YALE SHELL CREW DEFEATS HARVARD

Eight From Old Eli Cross Finish Line in Regatta Two Lengths Ahead

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 25.—(By The Associated Press.)—The mighty power of Yale's varsity crew met Harvard's gallant challenge and repulsed the crimson's greatest bid for rowing glory in four years. Taking the lead soon after the start and setting the pace from then on till the finish the brilliant Eli eight crossed the finish line of the four mile pull fully two lengths in front.

Yale's triumph in the struggle that brought the 59th regatta to a climax came after Harvard had broken the grip of bulldog supremacy by winning the two preliminary races in the morning for the first time since 1922. The crimson's Husky freshmen trounced Yale's makeshift yearling boat by three lengths in the first race, after which the junior varsity eight from Cambridge out-gamed and outdistanced their Eli rivals to win by two lengths, both victories coming in two mile tests.

Hill for a price said to have been in excess of $850,000 was purchased today by the Ross Island Sand & Gravel company of Portland. The Ross Island firm was formed last November for the purpose of developing the immense gravel and sand deposits on the Ross Islands in the Willamette river here.

BOBBY JONES SAILS FOR HOME WITH CUP

American Golfer Possessor of World's Most Cherished Amateur Trophy

ST. ANNES, England, June 25.—(By Associated Press.)—Bobby Jones, beloved of American amateur golfers and almost as popular in his home land, left the Royal Lytham and St. Annes golf course tonight to catch a liner home tomorrow the proud possessor of the world's most cherished golfing trophy—the British open championship cup. His name will be engraved on its silver sides along with those of other famous players—Jim Braid, Harry Vardon, J. H. Taylor and Walter Hagen, and there is added lustre to his victory, for it is the first time an American amateur ever captured the coveted golfing goal, symbolizing victory over both professionals and amateurs. But American professionals won the title in four of the last six years, Jock Hutchinson being the victor in 1921, Walter Hagen in 1922 and 1924, and Jim Barnes in 1925. Arthur Havers managed to break through for England in 1923 with Hagen second. Jones' accomplishment never has been equalled by a British amateur playing in the American open. The young Atlantan is the first amateur to win the British championship since Harold Hilton scored at Hoy Lake in 1897. Bobby achieved a great personal victory, but a dozen Americans—all professionals except the Californian, George Von Elm—made the finish top-heavy with the scores of entrants from the United States. Native born Americans took the first four places, Jones first with 291 strokes; Al Watrous second with 293, and Hagen and Von Elm tied for third with 296. A British pair, Abe Mitchell and Tom Barber, then entered the list, tied at 299, and they were followed by an American trio, Fred McLeod with 301 and Emmett French and Bill Mehlhorn tied at 305.
