

Enter Photographic Art, Young Women Are Urged

Education, Tactfulness, Honesty Outlined as Fundamentals to Success in Field Open to Young Women Seeking to Choose Profession

By RUTH HAZLETON
Mrs. D. L. Shrode of Kennell-Ellis studios in an interview yesterday morning concerning prospective positions or vocations for young women, suggested that a young woman planning to enter photography, should have a very good education. A high school course is required and a college course very pointedly emphasized.

In order to be very successful in a business of this kind, it is suggested that a course in a well recommended school, dealing with this type of work be taken.

In a studio the photographer comes in direct contact with human nature and one must be in sympathy with the human race.

Mrs. Shrode emphasizes the three following characteristics for a young girl planning on this for her life work: First, she should be honest; second, fair-minded, and third, she should have determination to develop a quick wit and the personal touch in the studio.

One must enjoy working with the public, complying with their whims, likes and dislikes, if she expects to be successful.

Quoting Mrs. Shrode, a very apt policy is put before the beginer: "I like my people I deal with, and treat them as if they were in my own home."

The difficult work of the laboratory is the man's place in the photography business while the women take care of the salesmanship in the studio, and the mounting and retouching, unless they are especially gifted with ability or genius.

In photography one finds just as good an opening as in many other phases of work, but it is suggested to a young girl interested in art and painting to take up photography in place of regular office work.

In summarizing, it may be said, that this is a very pleasing occupation, that it cannot be over-emphasized that a good foundation and a good education are always required.

Mother! It's Cruel to "Physic" Your Child

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" every day or two was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel regularity, even if the child was chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

FRUIT INSPECTION TOUR HERE MONDAY

Final Plans Made for Reception of prominent Eastern Growers

More than 60 members of the American Pomological Society will arrive in Salem at 3:15 tomorrow for an inspection tour of the nearby orchards. Places they will visit include the Skyline orchard, Liberty district, and the prune section near Rosedale. They will return to Salem on the Pacific highway, reaching it near the Friends church.

W. S. Brown of Corvallis, chief horticulturist of OAC has induced the party to make their present tour of the Northwest. M. L. Dean of Boise, Idaho, director of the Idaho bureau of plant industry, was also instrumental in bringing them here.

Ralph Rees, formerly of Oregon, now horticultural agent for the New York Central Lines, is in charge of the party. Rees' parents are prominent horticulturists at Springbrook, near Newberg.

The party will arrive from Dallas either in automobiles or in a special train. It will leave for Woodburn about 5 o'clock. From Woodburn it will return to Portland and then visit the Yakima and Wenatchee fruit districts in Washington before returning east.

Salem citizens who have agreed to furnish cars for the visitors will be notified Monday when and where to report, according to an announcement made at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

Membership in the society, which was founded in 1848, is said to include the most prominent fruit growers and horticulturists in the United States.

RUSSEL SCOTT DECLARED SANE; DEATH NOW FACED

George E. Gorman, assistant state's attorney, in his closing arguments referred to a letter Scott had written saying he had no use for his mother.

Scott leaped to his feet shouting "You're a liar, a hypocrite and a rat" and as balliffs struggled with him he exclaimed: "I'm not insane."

William Scott Stewart, Scott's attorney, who once saved him from the gallows declared in his closing argument that this is the first time in history that the state has gone to the insane asylum, taken a man out and asked a jury to hang him.

and returned here and is awaiting trial for the same murder. Russell was convicted although he charged that Robert did the shooting during a drinking party at the drug store.

Russell was sentenced to be hanged but later was granted a reprieve and then was given a second reprieve when a fake message signed with his brother's name was received from Detroit in which the writer assumed responsibility for the slaying.

Finally on the night before Scott was to have been hanged his attorney asked for a sanity hearing, maintaining he had become insane since conviction. A jury declared him insane and last August he was sent to the asylum but last month state alienists examined him and decided he is now sane.

BOBBED HAIR DEPLORED

FAMOUS DANCER DECLARES BOYISH BOB IS "SILLY"

NEW YORK, June 26.—(By Associated Press.)—Irene Castle McLaughlin today deplored bobbed hair, 13 years after she introduced the practice. But she is still bobbed.

"The boyish bob has ruined it all!" she said. "It is affecting girls' characters."

"I think girls are silly," she said, "either to have boyish bobs or boyish forms. They are losing the softness and appeal which should be theirs."

The former dancer was sailing on the France on a two months' shopping tour.

"Why don't you let your hair grow long?" she was asked after she had forcefully expressed her opinions.

"As if I haven't," she exclaimed. "Why, I've let it grow five times, and every time it reaches the awkward stage—"

TEARS OF JOY GREET EVANGELIST'S RETURN

The Mexican desert across which she said she fled last Tuesday.

M. F. McCarthy, special agent of the Southern Pacific in charge of a squad of guards at the station into which Mrs. McPherson's train pulled, said that the arrangements to guard the little white clad, bronze-haired woman, and the preparations made by her followers to greet her were more described, Roberta, by her first husband, Robert Semple, now dead, and Rolf, the son of her second husband, Harold McPherson, from whom she is divorced, walked from her car and ran to the station lobby, surrounded by eight body guards. These special officers rode with her from Douglas after reported threats of violence against her there.

Twelve little girls from Angelus temple preceded the party, scattering roses at the feet of their religious teacher. The Angelus temple band, white uniforms glistening in the summer sun, struck a triumphant air as their pastor appeared at the door and faced the tremendous crowd. Then the joyous procession formed and the leader of her faith was escorted by cheering thousands back to her temple.

There she will take again the flower-draped chair which has stood vacant beside the pulpit ever since her flock was told by M. Kennedy on the eventful night of May 13, that Sister McPherson had gone to her death in the Santa Monica tide.
