told of conditions of depression in the sections visited, including 175 bank failures during the past six months in Iowa; deplored the re of the Haugen farm relief and urged cooperation among the farmers and growers. W. A. Delzell, secretary to Governor Pierce, declared that the most effective remedy for present; farmer ills is to cut the costs of marketing. He stated that eastern flax judges marvel at the quality and quantity flax production in the Willamette valley.

Prof. George Hyslop, farm crop specialist at Oregon Agricultural college, and H. N. Bressman, hig assistant, spoke. The former declared there will be no surplus of flax grown in this country in many years hence. He emphasized the need for an increase in the tariff on raw flax in order to maintain the industry under free American labor against foreign competition. As the tariff rate is now one cent a pound only on the raw material, the president can not increase the rate to an appreciable degree, hence the wisdom of appealing to our congressmen for aid in this matter of tariff.

This speaker further emphasized further the need of producing long straw of good quality fibre, good seed and land adapted to and pre-
