Patterson reached first on an error by Proctor, Gibson taking second, but the side was retired when Fabry struck out Shop.

Neither side was able to cross in the second althought the sons of Ford had a man on with only one away. In the third the Legionaires registened twice. Gabrielson singled to right, but was thrown out at second on Huston's roller to third. Huston taking first on a fielder's choice. Bishop doubled to the center garden, and Gibson singled scoring Huston from third. Patterson was whiffed, but Mason hit left field for two bases, scoring Bishop. The rally was stopped when Hoope struck out. Fabry's homer for the Valley Motor in the fourth ended the scoring for the game.

Only needing two to tie, the disciples of Henry came in fo their last turn at the sticks. When the first man up singled to center it looked as though they had start ed a rally. But the soldiers were pepped up and when the next batter laid a screeching rap toward second base, Gabrielson made a great barehanded stop, touched the bag and doubled the runner at first. After this play the Legionaires were invincible, Mason fielding a hard hit ball perfectly. throwing the runner out, and the game was over. Both hurlers did great work.

Fabry struck out seven and walk ed none, in addition to his circui clout. Hooper, for the Legion whiffed five and walked one, only allowing the machinists three hit. for the entire contest, all three being in different frames. The Le gionaires found Fabry for six safe two doubless The lineups:

Noted Conductor Says No Musical Center Like U. S.

BERLIN .- No other musical center can match America and especially New York, insofar as technical perfection of the rendition is concerned, declared Wilhelm Furtwaengler, just returned from his second season as guest conductor of the New York Philharmonic Society.

"In the course of the last few years," . Herr Furtwaengler said. "the musical life of America has so developed in intensity and grandeur of conception that it cannot be compared with any othor musical center.

"There is a possible source of danger in the fact that the supply of musicians is greater than the demand. That may interfere with the steadiness and unity of develcoment, but I believe that the sound instincts of the American best-both the best orchestras and the best soloists is too great to need further comment."
