PONDMAN SLIPS, DROWNS SILENTLY

Accident Is Discovered Only When Supply of Logs Fails to Arrive

George Barrey, 21, employed as a pondman at the Salem Pulp & Paper company's plant here, was drowned in the pond yesterday morning at about 7 o'clock. The drowning was unobserved, so the cause is unknown, although it is thought that he slipped off a log and was unable to rise, being hampered by his heavy boots.

The body was recovered at 9 o'clock with a grappling hook by Walter Gerth of West Salem, who is recovering 16 other bodies from the Willamette. Although resuscitation was carried on for more than an hour, it was unsuccessful.

The man was not missed until the logs he was supposed to supply for the mill ceased coming. His hat and pike pole floating on the water were the only evidences of his disappearance. A crew of men started searching for the body immediately, but it was not until Gerth, a veteran river man, had been summoned that it could be found.

Barrey is survived by his mother, with whom he lived at 2100 North Commercial street. He was unmarried.

BUSES FOR CARS, HELP WITH BRIDGE

Highway Commission Asks S. P. to Help Meet Eugene Bridge Cost

The state highway commission yesterday filed in the office of the public service commission here an answer to the petition of the Southern Pacific company for permission to replace its street cars between Eugene and Springfield with buses, in which it urges that such an order of the public service commission should contain a proviso that in abandoning its street car tracks the Southern Pacific company should be made to participate in any expense involved in the construction of a new bridge and overhead crossing a short distance north of Springfield.

At the time of the hearing of the application of the Southern Pacific company at Eugene, recently the Southern Pacific officials indicated that in event the street cars were replaced with buses the street car tracks and right of way between Eugene and Springfield would be used as a part of the Natron cut-off. It was said that approximately 35 steam trains would be operated over the abandoned street car tracks daily.

In order to accommodate these trains the highway commission set out in its answer that it would be necessary to reconstruct the present bridge on the Eugene-Springfield line and erect an overhead crossing.

SALEM MAY HAVE ANOTHER CANNERY

The Proposed New One Is a Poultry Cannery With a Good Business

W. F. Smith & Co. of McMinnville, Oregon, have the only large exclusive poultry cannery on the coast. The company is reported to always have its annual pack sold in advance.

It has only been in operation two or three years, but last year put up and sold between 20,000 and 30,000 half pound cans of chicken products.

This chicken cannery handles about 1000 chickens a week and at the present time employs seven people.

Its products are trade-marked "Mione" Mince Chicken, Boned Chicken, Chicken Giblets and Chicken Soup or Broth and is a very fine product.

The company plans on adding canned turkey to its product in the near future. These products are found very convenient for picnic parties, lunches, sandwiches, and for the general household emergency shelf.

Mr. Smith informs the writer

DISEASES Treated by Osteopathy and the latest Electrical Therapy including Dr. Abram's Electronic System. No Charge for Consultation. DR. B. H. WHITE Physician and Surgeon 508 U. S. Bank Building Salem, Oregon that his company has about outgrown its present quarters and capacity, and before making any more additions or expanding in any way will probably consider a new location with improved power and transportation facilities, and they look very favorably upon Salem as the most central and convenient location for their new modern exclusive poultry cannery. Their product fills a long felt want in high class canned goods, and they meet with remarkable success in marketing their product, which indicates a large and ready demand for it. The business could be operated upon a much larger scale with correspondingly increased profits and should grow into a large, successful and profitable enterprise. A chance for the Salem Chamber of Commerce to get busy and by bringing this poultry cannery to Salem add more variety to our already large cannery interests here.

(The writer of the above will be pleased to know that the Salem Chamber of Commerce is already at work on this proposition, and will lend every help in securing the location of the proposed new cannery in this city.—Ed.)

TRUST

O yet we trust that somehow good Will be the final goal of ill, The pangs of nature, sins of will, Defects of doubt, and taints of blood.

That nothing walks with aimless feet; That not one life shall be destroyed, Or cast as rubbish to the void, When God hath made the pile complete.
