

WASHINGTON CHICK BAN IS POSTPONED

Quarantine Order Date Advanced at Request of Oregon Poultrymen

The effective date of the quarantine order issued by the state of Washington against the importation of chickens from other states of baby chicks that have not been tested for white diarrhea, has been postponed until August 1, 1927, according to a letter received here yesterday by Dr. W. H. Lytle, state veterinarian.

The effective date of the order originally was fixed as August 1 of this year, but was postponed at the request of Oregon poultrymen and the state livestock-sanitary board. Pending the effective date of the order virtually all the poultry stock in Oregon will be tested for white diarrhea, which has become serious in some sections of the state.

After August 1, 1927, no eggs for hatching purposes, breeding stock or baby chicks will be allowed to enter the state of Washington unless the parent stock has passed a satisfactory test for the disease.

MARY ADAMS DIES, 82 YEARS OF AGE

Rumors of Fortune Left by Unknown Man Revived, Funeral Monday

The death here yesterday of Miss Mary Elizabeth Adams, 82, revived a report in circulation here several months ago that she had fallen heir to a fortune left by a wealthy Los Angeles man whose name is not known here.

Early last year letters were received at Willamette university that a search had started to locate Miss Mary Adams, who attended Willamette in 1881. The letters indicated that unless she was found within a week the fortune would revert to another person.

The letters received here were written by the Rev. J. S. Green, pastor of the Methodist church at Sheridan.

Although an investigation was started in behalf of Miss Adams it was said that she never received the fortune mentioned in the letters received from Rev. Mr. Green. At the time the letters were received she was making her home with her niece, Mrs. F. A. Legg of Salem.

Miss Adams was a member of an old pioneer family and had lived in Salem for many years. She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. W. L. Hinkle, Mrs. D. M. French and Miss Irene Adams, all of Portland. Her nephew, Frank Meredith, is state budget commissioner. Funeral services will be held Monday at 10 a. m. at Webb's funeral parlors.

Bits For Breakfast

Good morning, editors—Greetings to members of the National Editorial association passing through Salem on their special train at 6 o'clock this morning—

And please accept the beautiful flowers, contributed, in the name of the newspaper workers of Salem, by the state hospital. Sorry you could not have come at a more reasonable hour, and had time to look over the City Beautiful of this coast, and the land of diversity and country of opportunity.

Another section of the National Editorial association will pass through Salem at the same hour, Tuesday morning, to which like greetings, and perhaps additional ones, will be extended.

It was a dull week, but the Y free employment office sent out 52 workers. But 242 registered for work. In a few more days, however, the workers wanted will exceed the applications. There will be more jobs than people, with evergreen blackberries and pears and cucumbers, etc., to pick—and especially, a little later, with the prune harvest on. Then hops, when 50,000 will be needed for the Salem district yards.

It was found that R. B. Houston was the man who sent the Isaluma circular to the Slogan editor, printed in the editorial columns of yesterday morning. Mr. Houston was for about 10 years Southern Pacific agent in Salem, and he is now working for the same company, out of the great chicken metropolis and Santa Rosa, his home being in Santa Rosa. He is district freight and passenger agent. When Salem gets to be a bigger hen town than Petaluma, we will petition to have Bert back here, to stay in Salem the rest of his life.

Subways Tied Up by Strike, New Yorkers Wait for Busses

When striking motormen and switchmen on the subways of New York cut the underground service to about 50 per cent of normal, the New Yorker must needs find another way to get to work. Here are seen hundreds of impatient folk waiting in the rain at an uptown corner for the special service of busses which is one of the strike-time measures.

TALE OF MOONSHINE TRIAL IS NOW TOLD

Weird Experience Related by State Officer; Authenticity Vouched

BEND, Ore., July 17.—This happened all of five weeks ago, but it was never known to the rest of the world until A. F. Marriot, state prohibition officer who was concerned in the case, told of it here yesterday in conversation with friends.

The nebulous trail, Culver City, Jacumba, Tucson, Agua Prieta, leads directly from the Santa Monica surf to the desert across the Mexican border near McDermott. A liquor law violation was its charge against the defendant.

The characters: A justice of the peace, name forgotten by Officer Marriot; two attorneys, state and defense; the defendant; various veniremen, etc.

It is a sparsely populated region, miles from anywhere. The small panel of veniremen was quickly exhausted, many being excused for various reasons. When all had been examined it was found but one juror had been procured. On stipulation of attorneys, the case was tried before this lone juror.

Evidence was introduced, testimony taken and arguments advanced by both sides. In due time the "jury" retired for consideration.

Followed then an idle period of speculation. After a while the lone juror came out. Throwing a sealed envelope on the stable with the remark:

"There's the verdict," he hastened out the door, onto his horse and went galloping down the road.

Proper authority opened the envelope. Inside was the message: "Jury unable to agree."

The laughter that followed according to Officer Marriot could have been heard a long, long distance.

PHANTOM TRAIL IS YET TANGLED SKEIN

Heaved to have drowned and prior to her dramatic reappearance at Douglas, traveling in an automobile away from the beach through Culver City, a Los Angeles suburb; traveling in an automobile through Tucson, Ariz., and getting into an automobile at Agua Prieta, Mexico, in front of a resort there.

Tonight investigators were seeking to establish or disprove reports from Jacumba Hot Springs San Diego county resort, that a veiled woman accompanied by two men spent a day and a night there shortly after May 18 was the evangelist, B. L. Vaughn, manager of the Jacumba Hot Springs company and several of his employees were so impressed with the general likeness of the mysterious woman of the hidden face to Mrs. McPherson, that they revealed their suspicions to the police and officers were sent to look into the evidence.

Ernesto Bubion, mayor or president of the Mexican town, had indicated previously that he seriously doubted the evangelist's tale of her seventeen mile hike without food or water and today he drew the legal fire of Mrs. McPherson's attorneys. They made public an affidavit said to have been signed by William Appel, interpreter of Agua Prieta, charging Bubion with attempting to extort money from the evangelist as the price of his silence on the evidence which he said he possessed contradicting her statements.

Kenneth G. Ormiston, formerly Mrs. McPherson's radio operator and her friend, who has been sought far and near as a possible source of information in the mystery was heard from indirectly at two eastern points today.

One report said that he had been seen in Statesville, North Carolina, last night and the second said that he had filed a telegram in Norfolk, Virginia, to an unrevealed address.

A telegram, purporting to come from Ormiston was received today from Norfolk, Va., addressed to the mayor of Los Angeles and the grand jury and threatening civil action if the "rotten stories" about him do not cease.

The telegram reads: "I stand to clean up hundred thousand in Norfolk, Va., real estate boom. Will sue Los Angeles if don't stop rotten stories about me. Will not leave Norfolk until boom is over or clean up big. Cut out the bum stuff or will pay dear for it.

"Kenneth D. Ormiston."

Police officials placed little credence in the telegram expressing the opinion it has been sent by some "crank" or by a real estate operator seeking publicity.

Another telegram also signed "K. G. Ormiston" but sent from New York was received by a Los Angeles newspaper today. The telegram declares that the writer had telegraphed District Attorney Asa L. Keyes Wednesday from New York. The telegram to the newspaper reads:

"I wired Asa Keyes Wednesday from here. Yesterday he gave out contents with intimation that it came from North Carolina. Ask Keyes why he thus gave support to idiotic carolina story when he knew wire came from New York. Ask him why he has not published my letter."

OAKLAND, Cal., July 17.—(By Associated Press.)—Mrs. Henrietta Walther, a spiritualist today told police here that she was prompted to send to Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of Aimee Semple McPherson, a telegram three days after the evangelist was missing. In her statement obtained at the request of District Attorney Asa Keyes of Los Angeles, Mrs. Walther said her telegram to Angelus temple was similar to the famous "Aimee OK" message sent from Oakland by a man as yet unidentified. Giving the revelations of a trance as her inspiration for the telegram, Mrs. Walther said she saw Mrs. McPherson bound and apparently in distress in a cabin.

Mrs. Walther said the written telegram she had prepared was refused by the telegraph company because it was unsigned. She then telephoned the Angelus temple, she said. A man answered the telephone she could not make herself understood. She then asked telephone attendants to send a telegram very similar to the one received in Los Angeles signed Dr. Murten, she said she instructed the attendants to sign it "Walther."

3,000 ACRES OF MINT IN VALLEY

Eastman Brothers, Silverton Estimate the Extent of Industry

SILVERTON, Ore., July 17.—(Special.)—According to information compiled by the Eastman Bros. firm at Silverton the Willamette valley now has 3000 acres into mint.

Of this 500 acres are located in the Lake Labish country while Silverton only has 15 acres. Silverton farmers are, however, planning on planting more mint for the coming season. A representative from Washington, D. C., recently remarked at Silverton that this section of the country is particularly adapted to the growth of mint and that the mint fields here surpass those of Michigan and Indiana.

Eastman Bros. are compiling a bulletin on the growth, culture and distillation of commercial peppermint which will be put out within the near future. Great care has been taken in compiling the material to go into the bulletin and it is greatly looked forward to by present and prospective mint growers.

This Silverton firm is now making practically 90 per cent of the mint stills made in the northwest. It recently received a shipment of seven tons of sheet metal to be used for this purpose.
