

SOME PEARS ARE BEING BOUGHT NOW

But There is No Fixed Price Named by the Cannery for the Product

There is encouragement for pear growers, who are vitally interested, in fact that some sales are now being made of Bartlett's. The Hunt cannery has been buying some pears, but Manager W. G. Allen does not like to say just what he is paying for the different lots. He may give a preference to growers who have been delivering their products to the cannery for years. But even so, he does not for the present want to say just what he has been paying, or what he may offer today or tomorrow or a few days later. The Oregon Packing company is not in the market for the present. But they have some contracts. They paid as high as $40 a ton for some pears, but that was some time ago, before the slump in the market for canned pears.

Whether the general price will be above $30 a ton, or even below, is problematical. But there will be offers for all pears, at some price, and no doubt all the Bartlett's will be canned.

OREGON BANDIT SAID HELD IN ADIRONDACKS

White Pine camp, the summer White House. It was not, he added, made as a result of extra precautions due to the presence of President Coolidge in this region but as a result of careful observation and systematic searching since reports had been received that the bandit, Roy D'Autremont, was in the Adirondacks and circulars recently had been received containing a description of the man.

The suspect was picked up on a farm where he was working regularly and was said to answer the description of the circular except for a slight question involving the color of the eyes. More complete information on this point has been sought of the Oregon authorities. The description in the circular said the man was accustomed to seek farm work and referred to him as an atheist. When the suspect, who gave the name of Archambault, was asked today if he believed in God, he was said to have replied in the negative but added that he read the Bible every day. Captain Broadfield, commander of the Malone Barracks said tonight that he had notified the United States postal inspector at Spokane, Wash., for whom the arrest was made. D'Autremont, Captain Broadfield added, is held on an open charge and will not be arraigned until the captain receives word from Washington as to the disposition of the case. According to Captain Broadfield, the bandit is implicated in a large mail robbery. He could give no details of the arrest at the farmhouse beyond the fact that his men were familiar with a photograph of the fugitive.

Lillian Gish Gets Many Picture Ideas From Dog

CULVER CITY, Cal.—Animals gave Lillian Gish many ideas for her work before the motion picture camera. Often when she is playing a scene in which the character is supposed to be very happy, she may be seen spinning round on her feet. She does it because her dog reacts the same way to the same emotion. "The means of showing emotion are limited on the screen," she said. "We have only facial expression and gestures. Therefore, the simplest way of expressing anything is the natural way. We must show what we mean in the elemental way—in the animal way—since we can understand animals although they do not talk to us. They have a great gift of naturalness."

PRODUCERS PAYING LOGANBERRY POOL

Paying Six Cents a Pound, Eighth of a Cent Above Last Year's Price

The Producers Cooperative Packing company on Friday paid off their loganberry pool. They paid their growers six cents a pound, and the checks are all in the mails or ready. This means that all the loganberries packed at their cannery have been sold and realized upon. The price for their loganberry pool last year was five and five-eighths cents a pound, or an eighth of a cent a pound less than this year.

Boring Holes in Volcano In Search of Information

HONOLULU.—(AP.)—Scientists who desire to know more about volcanoes and especially about the Kilauea volcano on the island of Hawaii, are boring a network of holes around the vast crater. The holes are being bored with compressed air drills, and are ten feet deep. There will be one every 1,000 feet.

Dr. Thomas A. Jaggar, in charge of the Kilauea volcano observatory, who is directing the work, expects to learn something about subterranean heat in its relation to volcanic activity. The holes will be encased around the top and capped so that temperature tests may be made at any time. It is thought that a rise in temperature in the holes may presage an eruption and thus serve as a log of the life of the volcano. Experimental holes previously drilled disclosed a wide variation in temperature, seemingly without reference to the proximity of Halemaumau volcano. This convinced scientists that systematic temperature observations would be valuable.

Princess Mary Only Real Race Fan in Royal Group

LONDON.—(By Associated m b LONDON. (AP.)—Princess Mary is really the only member of the royal family who is an out-and-out racing fan. The king primarily is a sailor. He raises thoroughbreds and is fond of horses, but racing is no passion with him, as it was with his father, King Edward VII. The king never bets on races. Queen Mary has little taste for racing. She goes to the great races, however, as part of her official job. The Prince of Wales cares little for flat racing, but is much interested in hurdling and hunting. The same is true of the Duke of York.

WAR MOTHERS HAD VERY FINE PICNIC

Good Crowd and Fine Addresses and Splendid Repast at Old Champoeg

The chapters of the American War Mothers of Oregon had a fine picnic yesterday afternoon at Old Champoeg. The address of Col. J. J. Crossley of Portland was both interesting and eloquent. The talk of Mrs. Edyth Tozier-Weathered was instructive, especially the part concerning the historic spot where the meeting was held, which will always be a shrine for patriotic American souls, because there the destiny of civilization was held in the balance on the day the Stars and Stripes were preferred by a slender majority, over the English flag. Mrs. Pollock of Portland was the life of the gathering, with her songs. Mrs. R. J. Hendricks of Salem presided. Hon. I. L. Patterson responded to a call with a heartening speech.

The feast under the shade of the historic trees was more than bountiful. Such a picnic is designed to be an annual event of the American War Mothers of Oregon. There was a very gratifying attendance yesterday, the Salem and Portland chapters being especially represented.

"IMBECILIC WORLD HELL BENT" SAYS SUNDAY

as far from religion as vice is from virtue.

"The sermon on the mount is the only thing that will spike every gun and sink every battleship. It will turn this old God-hating, Christ-hating world that is going to hell so fast it is breaking the speed limit. "The trouble is not with the foreigners, it is those in this country. There are Americans that are to this country what blow-flies are to meat. They turn it into magots. "There is no place under our flag for the heart that does not love it or for the arm which will not protect it. I thank God that I am an American. "Success throws mock kisses to the pouting lips of disappointment. "The vulture sees carrion no matter how high he flies; the mocking bird would never learn to sing if he took his lessons from the hoot owl, and the hen is dead sure the duck has deformed feet. "It's because a young man went in bad company that he dies an old man in a penitentiary. "Your happiness depends on whether you said 'yes' or 'no' yesterday, and whether you say 'yes' or 'no' today and tomorrow. "Youth must sow its wild oats, but the best time to seed the first crop is between the years of 85 and 90. "When a boy calls his father the 'old man,' and his mother the 'old woman,' the chances are that some cheap-skate has called upon him to assert his independence. "The boy who's tied to his mother's apron strings is the one who can't tell three acers from a load of cabbage. And he is also the lad who gets positions of trust and the one who isn't going to send eternity in hell-fire. "I'd rather have a boy of mine tied to his mother's apron strings than have him trying to steal the next poker pot on a pair of deuces. "The world needs husbands and wives who are true to each other; mothers and fathers who look after their children; boys and girls who obey their parents. We want girls with lofty ideals of womanhood—and who can cook and wash. In speaking of the Charleston, the latest dance craze, Billy Sunday declared it was the "most God-forsaken, licentious dance that ever wiggled out of the pit of hell." "If I had my way I'd have a law enacted to make those getting married have to show something more than just the price of a marriage license. They'd have to pass a physical, mental and moral examination. "Children unborn have the right to be well-born. "Love, and you'll never be whining around the court house for a divorce. "If I were a judge, so help me God, I'd never send a boy to the penitentiary for his first offense.

"Try praising your wife, even if it does frighter her at first. "If I had never loved I'd want the undertaker to embalm me and plant me. "Don't get mad at the same time your wife does. "Every wife would rather have the flowers that are going to be put on her grave scattered at her feet during her lifetime. "I don't believe that my great-great-great grandfather was a monkey with a prehensile tail, sitting in a tree shying coconuts into monkeys in other trees. "I don't want to go into a zoo and throw a handful of peanuts into a monkey cage and say, 'have a treat on me, great-great grandfather.' "I've done my best to give the devil the best run for his money I can."

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Old Folks Need a Mild Laxative -Not a "Physic"

Most men and women past fifty must give to the bowels some occasional help else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to weak bowels. Is your present laxative, in whatever form, promoting natural bowel "regularity"—or must you purge and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, colds, or sour, gassy stomach? Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural, regular bowel movement even for those chronically constipated. It never gripes, sickens or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take. Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN

Strange, Isn't It?

A gentleman standing in front of the drug store, corner of Court and High streets, made this remark. He had to go to the Ladd & Bush bank to get a check cashed, and the distance did not strike him as one bit far, and yet if he had wanted to buy a Wilton rug of Chambers & Chambers at their new store on High street, the distance would be just half as far. Strange isn't it?

No one in Salem would take issue with you should you say U. S. Shipley has one of the very best business locations in the city, and yet the new furniture store of Chambers & Chambers on North High street is just three blocks from Shipley's... Strange, isn't it?

Should you want to go to a fine show at the Elsinore, you would not think of staying away, if you were standing on the corner at Farmer's Hardware store. Now if you were standing on that same corner and wanted to buy a fine davenport and chair at Chambers & Chambers new store on North High street, what would hinder you from going, as the distance is just the same. The only difference is that store is located just out of the high rent district. Strange, isn't it?

Do you know all the people coming to Salem from Silverton, Mt. Angel, Woodburn and all towns to the north, as well as all of Polk county could come down High street and pass the new Chambers & Chambers store if they were so minded, and many will be so minded, for there is a wonderful bunch of folks coming to Salem from the north end. Strange, isn't it?

That man Chambers who is building the fine new store on North High street is a little old fashioned, as he parts his hair on the side just as his good mother taught him over a century ago, but when it comes to having an up-to-the minute store building and a fine stock of merchandise, nothing old fashioned about that at all, and he was wise enough to build just outside of the high rent district. Strange, isn't it?

Those Chambers boys are so pleased with their new store on High street, just out the high rent district, that they smile all the time, so when you come to see that wonderful new stock of Furniture and Rugs they open next month, you will be greeted with a smile. Not strange, is it?
