Story Causes Comment

The East Long Beach Star-Progress comments in the following words on a local "chicken" story: "Hens belonging to Mrs. F. L. Purvine, 1351 Juniper street, are determined to set this year's largest egg record. Mrs. F. L. Purvine reports that last fall, one of her Black Jersey Giant hens laid an egg that measured 8 1/2 x 6 1/2 inches. Last week, an egg from the same pen, when broken, was found to contain three ordinary-sized yolks and whites. With eggs at 40c per dozen, the possession of a few such hens would insure the more frequent appearance of ham and eggs on the breakfast table."
