STRENGTH AND COURAGE—Be strong and of a good courage, fear not, nor be afraid ... He will not fall thee, nor forsake thee.

ABOUT THE BERRY HIATUS

The Statesman has been suggesting some suitable crop to fill the hiatus between loganberries and evergreen blackberries in our canning and packing and shipping and picking season.

Which, if it can be found and developed, will make a continuous season, from gooseberries in the early spring to apples around Christmas time.

But the crop must be a good one. It must represent an outstanding product, better than any other section can furnish.

In this respect, it must line up with loganberries and evergreen blackberries.

The Himalaya blackberry was suggested. It fits in between loganberries and evergreen blackberries. But it does not stand up in cans like the evergreen, the great pie berry. It goes soft. So it is not just the right thing to push to hang a campaign on.

For neither of the three is good enough to boost to the limit. Well then, who shall be the Etterberg or the Burbank of our bush fruit and vegetable district?

Is it possible to find a Judge Logan, to make a cross that will produce something as good as the loganberry?

The length of the hiatus depends on seasons. This year it was long, two or three weeks. Last year it was short, almost negligible.

One of the big things of this great canning and packing and picking center will be to fill up the hiatus.

Salem must have a beet sugar factory, and this district must have several of them. We can get them, if we will go after them, and stay with it.

'THE GOLD RUSH' IS CHAPLIN'S GREATEST

Super-Comedy as Feature Today at the Oregon and The Elsinore

At last the world's foremost comedian, Charlie Chaplin, has launched his greatest comedy, "The Gold Rush," on the leg of popular fancy.

Announcement is made by Manager John Stille of both the Oregon and Elsinore, that he has paid the record price for any photoplay ever shown in Salem for the celebrated stars' new United Artists Corporation release.

For sixteen months, Charlie Chaplin worked on this production. During that time he was practically a hermit—refuse to all save his studio associates.

Only the vaguest announcements of progress on "The Gold Rush" came from his studio. Chaplin seldom, and expresses more than any other entertainer, the close affinity between the ludicrous and the pathetic; his comedy springs from within—more as a matter of mood than of circumstance.

In the role of a hardluck sourdough, dressed in the baggy pants the floppy shoes, the old derby and funny cane of early association, Charlie twists the sufferings of the Alaskan pioneers into a strange commingling of humor and tragedy.

Charlie Chaplin's "The Gold Rush" contains comedy, drama, satire, melodrama, farce. Not to forget a little slapstick—and everything else in the way of entertainment all rolled into one big ten reeled film.

'TERRIBLE THORNE GIRL'

Open Season on Unscrupulous Class Recommended at La Grande Meeting

LA GRANDE, Ore., July 23.—(By Associated Press.)—Recommendation that an open season be declared on unscrupulous real estate brokers, definition of real estate ethics and general optimism as to the outlook for northwestern property were features of the second day of the tenth annual convention of the Pacific Northwest Real Estate association.

The western states real estate commissioners, following a conference this morning, recommended that the association go on record favoring a new licensing act to protect buyers and sellers of land from unscrupulous real estate brokers.

The future of the west looks bright for the realtors if they will exert themselves to bring real character into their appraisals until they secure the confidence of their fellow and the public said Frederick E. Elmendorf of Spokane.

Clyde J. Brown of Boise, vice president of the Idaho Real Estate association, declared that conditions in Idaho are constantly improving and that realtors are more optimistic than for years.

Keeping the real estate profession one of the best informed groups of business men in America, was urged by William E. Warren, director of extension, national association of real estate boards.

Now Go on With the Story TWENTY-FIVE

"Well—well, little girl," Mr. Miller said, without removing his hat. "I am sure glad to see you back in town again. And prettier than ever, too. I fondled her hand gently, and she said, 'I read all about you mix-up in the papers, Say, kid—don't let a thing like that worry you. All the big stars get talked about, sooner or later.' Then International people made a bad break letting a girl like you go."

dition to the population of this county of 54,000 people. What? Perhaps before very long, for a fair start is already being made with wonderful berry crops and tomato and bean and other crops—and nothing succeeds like success, and nothing advertises a country like concrete facts concerning certain profits; sustained profits year after year, without any break due to dry summer weather or other causes.

The two projects under development now contain over 27,000 people. Each five acres will eventually keep a family, and in independence. Take five to the family. That means 27,000 new people. And it will take 27,000 more, in the way of teachers and preachers and butchers and bakers and candlestick makers; and doctors and lawyers and dentists and laborers, including pickers of berries, tenders of the ditches, and what not. The full development of the 27,000 acres, under irrigation and with intensified and diversified crops, and with the drying and swine and poultry breeding and the canning and other manufacturing that will be brought about by such use of these lands, will mean a total addition to the population of this county of 54,000 people.
