WOMAN IS HELD IN MYSTERY MURDER

The reasons for Mrs. Hall's arrest were not disclosed tonight but it came several weeks after interest was renewed in the case by charges made in a suit for annulment brought by the husband of a former maid in the Hall household. The bodies of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, rector of the Episcopal church of St. John the Evangelist, New Brunswick, and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, wife of the Sexton of the church and a singer in the choir, were found in an orchard on an abandoned farm September 16, 1923.

Investigation of the double murder led to disclosures of intimacy between the rector and Mrs. Mills, and Mrs. Hall, James Mills, husband of the dead singer and numerous others were at one time or another questioned as suspects.

LIVED LONG AND EXEMPLARY LIFE

Edward P. Cochran Served State Hospital for Nearly Thirty Years

Edward P. Cochran, who died at his residence, 1657 Chemeketa street, Salem, Or., July 21, 1926, would have been 80 years of age had he lived until September 28. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Tully of the First Presbyterian church, Friday afternoon, July 23, with interment in City View cemetery.

Mr. Cochran was born on a farm near Ripley, New York, Sept. 28, 1846, where he passed his early life. In 1872 he went to Kansas where he was associated with an uncle in a store for two years, then returning to Fredonia, N. Y., to be married. On March 4, 1874, he married Sarah McMillen, leaving the same day for McPherson county, Kansas, where he took up a homestead and engaged in farming for a number of years. In 1883 he moved with his family to Canton in the same county, where he followed the mercantile business, until the spring of 1891, when he removed to Salem, where he lived continuously until his death. His family followed him in December of the same year. Mrs. Cochran died in January, 1918.

At an early age Mr. Cochran became a member of the Presbyterian church, being ordained an elder while yet a young man, and throughout his life was actively identified with that denomination. He was a devout Christian, contributed to and participated in various religious and civic activities, and shared the respect and confidence of the community in which he lived. For nearly 30 years preceding his death he was an employe at the Oregon state hospital, being obliged on account of failing health to sever his connections with that institution in March, 1925. He served as financial secretary for the Independent Order of Foresters for more than 25 years.

Mr. Cochran is survived by two sons and one daughter, John W., chief deputy collector, United States internal revenue, of Portland; B. Gates, a lumber manufacturer of Lyons, and Mrs. Geo. T. Pratt, wife of the pastor of the Presbyterian church, Oreoc, Or. He also left a sister, Ellen Roseanna Cochran of Pacific Grove, Cal., and a brother, John G. Cochran of Santa Rosa, Cal. Other survivors include three grandchildren, Catherine R., Paul T. and Margaret E. Pratt, children of Rev. and Mrs. Pratt of Oreoc.

OFFICIALS ARE HIT BY MRS. MCPHERSON

(Continued from page 1.) Angeles from Carmel late today and immediately went into a lengthy conference with District Attorney Keyes. Prior to this conference both refused to comment on the statements made by Mrs. McPherson. Ryan contented himself with saying "I would place her on a platform and debate it with her."

After the conference of the three officials continued their silence on the case except to signify that the evangelists demand for a "show down" met with their approval.

LOS ANGELES, July 28.—(By Associated Press.)—Almea Temple McPherson, evangelist founder of the $1,000,000 Angelus temple here, sounded the note of a religious war here tonight in the controversy raging on her kidnapping story when she made the sweeping charge that attacks on her version of her absence between May 18 and June 23 were the result of a plot to wreck the temple, hatched by a combination of Catholics and Protestants.

In a lengthy statement, the woman religious leader of the "four-square" religion, movement directed against Captain Herman Cline, chief of detectives of Los Angeles, and Joseph Ryan, deputy district attorney, of making a "determined effort to dig up dirt and

Passing of Molly Brunk Is Marked by City's Most Impressive Tribute

The funeral of Molly Brunk was held from Webb's chapel at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning, with hundreds of Salem people who had known her present to offer tributes. Many arrived long before the hour designated, filling the front of the room with floral offerings.

Members of the Salem arts league and newspaper men and women, among whom she had done much of her work, were prominent in the long lines of persons who filed past the casket.

The funeral address at the chapel was given by Rev. E. H. Shanks. A solo by Miss Grace Fawk, "Just Going Home," preceded the address. Rev. Shanks pictured the immortal life as a life of service, rather than a passive one. He described the character of Mrs. Brunk comparing it to the ideal human character described in the Bible. Miss Fawk sang "The City Four-Square" as a closing number.

The body was escorted to the City View cemetery by a line of vehicles several blocks long. After a brief service, the body was lowered into the grave, which was hidden with flowers.

bank, told of efforts by the Portland chamber of commerce to obtain a stabilized market there. The packers had cut the price to a ridiculously low figure, he said, and the chamber called a meeting of packers to find out who caused the cut.

The meeting decided that the proper thing would be to attempt to stabilize the market rather than fix the blame for cut prices, however, and a committee was appointed to attempt this stabilization. Small success was obtained, however.

Little hope exists for a stabilized market until the growers and packers get together, according to Mr. Crawford. They have done this in California, but not in the northwest.

THE CHOIR INVISIBLE

May I reach that purest heaven—be to other souls That cup of strength in some great agony. Be the sweet strength of a good diffused. And in diffusion even more intense! So shall I join the choir invisible. Whole music is the gladness of the world.

FUNERALS

The body of Edward M. Larney who died in this city Tuesday, July 27, will be forwarded to Portland by the Webb funeral parlors, for funeral services and interment.

THE QUESTION OF WAGES FOR the question of wages for the packers to find out who caused the cut.

Referring to the witness found by Cline and Ryan at Carmel, who are reported to have said that a woman resembling the evangelist and Kenneth M. Ormiston, former radio operator at the temple, had lived in a cottage there after Mrs. McPherson disappeared May 18, she asked:

"Why did they not come forward when I was missing and claim the $25,000 reward that was offered for me? They could not, not even when Mr. Ryan told the grand jury that he would produce the Salinas witness to identify me and the Salinas witness denied that he could."

She scouted the report of her fingerprints on a tin can in the Carmel cottage with the comment:

"Press your fingers against a tin can and watch the prints dissolve immediately. Yet these on the tin can endured for months."

"I have been chosen," she declared, "the lamb for every kind of slaughter, but I won't be slaughtered, either financially or morally."

The evangelist's statement concluded:

"The lust for gain, the glitter of envy knows no tolerance. The devil's convention is at its height because in Angelus temple, hundreds of souls are being brought to Jesus."

PALESTINE FOR THE JEW. WHY?

Among the remarkable and significant movements of the present day none is more interesting and worthy of note than that of the Jews rebuilding Palestine.

After having been desolate for almost nineteen centuries the land is gradually being restored to fertility and modern cities are being built by ardent Jews from all parts of the world. They have bought thousands of acres of marshes and waste lands and are turning them into a paradise.

Will Palestine be fully restored to the Jewish people? This is a question that suggests itself to the thinking mind. And what is the significance that the Bible attaches to this movement?
