Probable Treatment
Joe McGee of Jefferson objected to the method employed by C. H. Libby, traffic officer there, in arresting him for driving without a tail light, and will present his troubles to the grand jury at its next session. He claims Libby stuck a revolver into his ribs when making the arrest. Libby's side of the story is that McGee became abusive and picked up a club before he pulled the gun. McGee pleaded guilty to the charge in justice court and paid a $10 fine.
