

Playground Program Ends With Races and Pageant

Forty Girls Join in Presenting "The Gipsy," Depicting Dances of All Nations, Boys Compete for Honors in Final Contests

The playground season on the 15th street and Lincoln playgrounds came to an end Friday afternoon with a pageant and athletic contests at the 13th street grounds, attended by about 300 visitors. The celebration was originally scheduled for Wednesday afternoon, but was postponed because of rainy weather.

Foot races were held for the boys, divided into three sections according to size. Clarence Lane, Dan Ellis and Dar Mennice won in the small boy class, William Lapichies, Melvin Engle and Bertram Ross in the medium class and Ralph Williams and Harold Blusher in the big boy class. The races were for a distance of 40 yards.

dividuals." He said the votes in congress on different farm proposals showed a fairly equal division as, between the republican and democratic parties.

Undoubtedly, he continued, the farmers of the west think their situation is due in part to the tariff. They may not know, he added, but they think that is one source of their trouble and that the tariff does not work as effectively for them as in the east. An increased price then for some products, such as hides, he said, may be sought by them in the new congress as well as a reduction in rates on some of the manufactured goods they buy.

As for taxes, Mr. Jardine said, it appeared that local rather than federal taxes at present bore most heavily upon the farmers, although they would like to see reductions all along the line.

Emphasizing the need for adequate credits to assist cooperative marketing organizations including those which deal in perishable fruits and vegetables, Mr. Jardine said that whether the Fees bill

In the big boy class Jimmy Emmett, Harold Flesher and Swede Nelson won, and in the medium class Herbert Arnold and Wayne Slesher were victorious. No race was held in the small boy class, as the distance was considered too great.

A pageant called "The Gipsy" was given by the girls, the open space under the trees being used as a stage. About 40 girls took part, dressed to represent the various nations of the world. Each nation was represented by a dance, and various folk dances learned at the playgrounds were given.

A baseball game was held in which the Lincoln playground boys defeated the 13th street boys 12 to 4. The same Lincoln boys beat their fathers recently 12 to 1. A swimming meet originally planned was called off because the rain had made the water too muddy.

The Fees measure, which would have provided a $100,000,000 revolving fund for loan purposes to co-operatives, was defeated at the recent session in the face of support by President Coolidge and the entire administration. His support for the measure, Mr. Jardine asserted, was no eleventh hour matter.

LEGAL WAR SEEN IN CHAMP BATTLE

Rival Promoters Now Claim Prior Rights on Sesqui Stadium

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—(By Associated Press.)—Legal storms still hung over the plans of Tex Rickard, New York promoter tonight, to hold the heavy weight title bout between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney in the Sesqui-Centennial stadium September 23. Officials of the state boxing commission, however, asserted there was nothing in the way and that Rickard already had been granted a license.

Taylor and Gunnis, Philadelphia promoters, have retained counsel to "protect their interests" contending that in their capacity as promoters of boxing at the stadium they had prior rights. The local promoters made it plain that they were not taking any stand against the fight. They asserted that in view of the "heavy expense" they went to in their efforts to obtain a match between Dempsey and Harry Willis in the stadium only to have it banned by Mayor Kendrick, they should be compensated.

James J. Corbett also has injected himself into the situation, asserting that an agreement he had with Col. David Collier, former director general of the Sesqui-Centennial, superseded any other. Corbett, who also has retained counsel, threatens to ask an injunction restraining Rickard from staging the fight.

John J. McDevitt, counsel for the former heavyweight champion, said that Corbett had told Dempsey of his plans and that Dempsey had heartily agreed.

"Col. Collier sanctioned the plans and we were the first in the field," said McDevitt, who added that he would advise Corbett when he comes here next Tuesday to apply at once for a restraining injunction.

Frank L. Weiner, chairman of the Pennsylvania athletic commission declared that if Taylor and Gunnis could have produced evidence to show that they could have arranged the Dempsey-Tunney bout their efforts would have received the sanction of the commission. "Rickard showed me he could promote the fight," said Mr. Weiner, "and when he put up $50,000 forfeit, I was convinced."

Tickets for the bout will be placed on sale early next week. Prices will range from $2.00 to $27.50. Jules Aronson, local associate of Rickard, said tonight that applications were already pouring in.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 21.—(By Associated Press.)

When Jack Dempsey departs from his training camp at Luthers, near Saratoga Lake, tomorrow night for his new quarters in Atlantic City, the heavyweight champion will leave his cream colored automobile of an expensive make behind.

The car was seized by a deputy sheriff this afternoon under a writ of attachment in Jack Kearns' $333,333.33 suit against the champion.

The deputy picked it up near Luthers while it was being driven by a chauffeur and had it taken to a local garage where it will be placed under a night and day guard, the deputy said. Dempsey was not in it when it was seized.

Estelle Taylor, Dempsey's wife, holds a bill of sale of the car from Dempsey, but representatives of Kearns make the claim that Dempsey transferred ownership after Kearns brought his action. The champion did five rounds of fast work in the ring as his afternoon's allotment of work in addition to a round of shadow boxing and the usual session with the equipment.

Benny Funderburke, who suffered severe punishment early in the week, was back in the ring for a round this afternoon, but he was floored twice, being unable to finish the round. Jimmy Roberts also came in for his usual punishment but Dempsey eased up enough at the close to enable Roberts to keep his feet until the bell.

SPECULATOR, N. Y., AUG. 21.

(By Associated Press.)—Gene Tunney, challenger for Jack Dempsey's heavyweight boxing crown, appeared in the role of benefit performer today.

While hundreds of spectators gazed at the ring, the fighting marine stepped six fast rounds against "Osk Till," elongated Rochester sparring partner, and Billy Vidasbeck, the Blonde Tiger of Jersey City. Proceeds of the exhibition bouts, which will probably amount to at least $800, will go for the benefit of the Catholic church here. Newspaper men arranged the benefit and Tunney was glad to carry out their plans.

308 PEOPLE SENT TO JOBS IN WEEK

The Salem Y Free Employment Office Making a Fine Record

The number of placements in the Salem Y. M. C. A. free employment office up to date for the current reporting year exceeds the placements for the entire 13 months of last year. There are four more weekly reports to complete this year. This year's business will exceed that of last year by 1000 or more placements.

Yesterday 96 people were sent to jobs. During the week up to Friday evening 308 were sent out.

The placements do not include all sent to jobs. It means all reported on cards sent to employees. Many do not report; so there are always more actual placements than show on the record. In other words, more people get jobs than the office gets credit for, in part of the work of the United States department of labor. That department pays part of the expense, Marion county part, and the Salem Y. the balance. The government also gives free mailing privileges, and furnishes the printed matter.

The work is free to both the people looking for jobs and those employing them.

The first hint of a relapse came with the announcement early today of a slight spread of the peritonitis, which was said by his physicians not to be cause for alarm. A bulletin early tonight told the addition of pleurisy and after a two hour conference of doctors, preparation for the blood transfusion were made known.

The physicians were called to the Polyclinic hospital tonight, and after a consultation issued a bulletin saying that the seer star had spent a very restless day. His temperature had risen to 103 2 1-10, his pulse 120 and his respiration 24, they announced.

The high temperature was believed an indication that he was building up resistance to further infection.
