of the lifeboat, floating upside down, apparently told the fate of the missing trio, and silence from Canada rendered incredible the slim hope that the men had been washed, possibly alive, onto the Canadian shores.

Those believed drowned are: George M. McMinin, mate; Richard Freeman, watchman, and William Logan, derrick engineer, all of whose homes are said to be in Buffalo, the craft's port of registry.

Sixteen members of the crew were taken from the two lifeboats, pressed into service when the Gerken sank in the height of the gale, by the Maitland after a two-hour battle with waves which momentarily threatened to hurl the tiny craft beneath her hull.

Among those rescued were Captain John B. Gamble of the Gerken and Howard Gerken, owner.

Mrs. Lottie J. Flannigan died August 20 at San Mateo, Cal., at the age of 51 years. She is survived by her widower, S. E. Flannigan, three sons, Homer C. Funeral services were held yesterday for Richard G. Infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Scott from the Terwilliger Funeral Home. Interment was made in the Odd Fellow cemetery.

Funeral services for Collie St. Hillaris who died on August 20 at the home of Felix LaBranch on the east of Salem, will be held Monday, Aug. 23, from St. Joseph's church at 9:30 a. m. Rosary will be recited Sunday evening at 7 o'clock at the chapel of the Salem mortuary. Interment will be in St. Barbara cemetery. Rev. J. R. Buck in charge.

It is a free screen picture-romance of life and love in the south sea. Made largely from actors who did not know they were acting. Laurence Stallings, well-known writer and author of "The Big Parade," saw the films before the titles had been inserted; and he declared it "the best motion picture ever made."

The sugar industry series of editorials in "The Statesman" has about finished. If any reader has facts that ought to be told, will he please write or phone this office. The series is to have wide use, for the purpose of getting beet sugar factories in Salem, and getting the beets grown for the factories. Do you not think that is worth while? Do you know anything more worth while right now for this district, and the whole Willamette valley?

The Statesman's editor does not seek for credit. He is just trying to help in getting the thing done. And it can be done. And every one who can ought to help.
