SPAULDING AGAIN HELD PUNCHED UP BY STATE MEN AS DRUNK ON HIGHWAY

For the second time in a few weeks, A. L. Spaulding was brought into the Salem police station, charged with violation of the liquor laws, when he was arrested Sunday in company with M. E. Hughes, of Salem, both being charged with being drunk on a public highway. The arrest was made on the Dallas-Salem highway by state traffic officers.

Spaulding was arrested here a few weeks ago on a charge of driving while drunk and given 60 days in jail and a $100 fine by Mark Poulsen, police judge and city recorder. Spaulding appealed the case to the circuit court where it has not yet been heard.

Spaulding and Hughes were turned over yesterday to Polk county authorities, as the arrest was made on Polk county soil, out of the local police court's jurisdiction.

SEDAN TAKES PLUNGE FALLS 500 FEET INTO CRATER LAKE; SPLINTERED

KLAMATH FALLS, Aug. 23.—(AP.)—An expensive sedan belonging to John Swanson, owner of a Klamath Falls barber shop, toppled over the rim of Crater Lake yesterday, hurled down a steep slope, gathering momentum, then turned over four times in the air while making a straight drop estimated at 500 feet. The body was reduced to shivers, the rectangular chassis frame stripped clean and left alone on a rock, while pieces of the engine and one wheel jumped fully 800 feet more into the lake, 1200 feet below the starting point.

The V type engine broke into two pieces, one of which has been located in the lake, together with a tire standing on edge in 40 feet of water. No one was in the machine when it fell.

Hoover and M'Nary Goin' Fishin' Some Day Soon

Former Salem Boy, Seeking Real Vacation, to Forget World Problems in Land He Knew Before He "Hooverized a Nation" During War

Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce in the Harding and Coolidge cabinets, and Senator Charles McNary, are going to disappear from Salem some morning soon on a fishing trip. Just where they are going, Mr. Hoover, who was a youth here in 1886, is not going to tell and he does not want anyone to ask.

Mr. Hoover came west to attend the Columbia Irrigation League meeting in Seattle, and he was called upon to make innumerable speeches coming across the country. That is one reason why he is glad to be in Oregon, which he considers home, so that he can forget for the time being economy, commerce, and other details connected with his public life.

SEA BRIGHTNESS. J. J. The ocean hereabouts, is bidding, as best it knows how, for a Gertrude Ederle to swim it. For several days now, the surface of the water has been covered with a thick coat of oil, floating in from some obscure and oily incident far at sea. Fishermen—surely covered with oil perfectly greased in splendid style for the purpose of long distance swims. If Gertrude should go bathing here she could dispense wholly with the greasing ceremony and be off, merrily and fully equipped, for Land's End or Finisterre.

SO THIS IS AMERICA! PARIS.—Discussion of the debt doesn't intensify the making, except of all Frenchmen, nor does it obscure their vista of the real, the true America. By way of illustration, he is reported that a Frenchman, following his regular sport at the Cafe du Dome, over in the so-called Latin Quarter, picked up an American newspaper, left there by a tourist. As it happened he turned first to the page of comic strips, where he saw a picture of a young man, who he laid it down thoughtfully, took another sip of afternoon pleasure, and then rose up, checked the "Five in American" and then began to jump from table to table, handing in papers to bystanders nearby. "ZOWIE, REEKE and WHAM!" He ended up by disappearing into the cafe of comic strips, where he was seen only his feet visible above the table. When he has been rescued, he explained that he was only trying to make American visitors feel at home. For verification of this story go to his home any day, along about the apartment here.

EX-DRY AGENT IS HELD WILLIAM McMILLS WILL FACE GRAND JURY QUIZ

William McMills, ex-state agent who recently was dismissed from service by Governor Pierce after he was fined for being intoxicated in Douglas county, yesterday was bound over to the grand jury here on charges of assault and battery and impersonating an officer. The assault was alleged to have been on the person of Chester Vining of Hubbard.

Lawrence Coon, Paul Jones and Walter Miller, alleged to have been companions of McMills at the time of the trouble, also were held to answer charges of assault and battery.

No motive for the attack was given by the officers. The attack was said to have taken place after Vining had been enticed to enter an automobile occupied by McMills and his companions.

Most Romantic Figure on Silver Screen Loses Protracted Struggle

END COMES IN SILENCE

Chamber Heaped With Flowers at End of Career Began as $7.50 a Week Actor, Loss Mourned

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—(By Associated Press.)—Rudolph Valentino, greatest lover of them all in the whole history of motion pictures, died today.

For eight days he had waged battle against disease such as he never had to fight to vanquish his opposing forces on the screen. In the hospital, as on the silver sheet, he fought valiantly, his determination to win never clouding the essential cheeriness of his disposition.

The last words he ever spoke, but a few hours before he died, were said in friendly conversation with one of the doctors who had tended him since his operation for appendicitis a week ago Sunday.

He said then that the greatest thing he was looking forward to was a fishing trip, upon which he invited the physician to accompany him.

Soon after that he lapsed into coma from which he never rallied.

From time to time he strained and tossed, as though there were words he wished to utter. His three doctors and two nurses bent low above him, trying to catch his

YOUTH, SWEEPED THROUGH 3000 FOOT TUBE, LIVES

STRENGTH AND COOLNESS SAVES BOY AFTER FALL

Steps on Sage Brush, Drops 20 Feet, Is Carried Away By Current

KLAMATH FALLS, Aug. 23.—(AP.)—Swept through the 3,000 foot tunnel of the main irrigation canal in the dead of night and saved by his own coolness and strength from what appeared to be certain death, was the experience last night of Robert Herman, aged 16, son of Ross Herman of this city.

Young Herman had just climbed from the edge of the canal at the entrance of the underground conduit to the top of the bank, when a piece of sage brush broke under his weight and he plunged 20 feet down the bank into the canal. The five miles an hour current swept him into the black maw of the conduit. His companions rushed for help.

The fire department hurried to the mouth of the underground conduit with a pumotor, hoping but hardly believing that the youth could be alive. Between 15 and 20 minutes later young Herman, still swimming but exhausted, emerged from the blackness of the tunnel into the moonlight. He lifted his arm and was pulled to the bank and safety.

ZONERS STUDY BASIC PROBLEM

Residential, Store and Industrial Districts May Be Set by Law

SECRETARY TO BE HIRED

Careful Investigation to Precede Definite Action by Newly Appointed Planning Commission

Little other than routine business came before the recently appointed city zoning and planning commission at its second meeting in the city hall last night. The members appeared unwilling to commit themselves to any set policy, as they have not yet had time to become fully adjusted to their new duties.

A zoning law will have to be formulated, dividing the city into residential, store, and industrial districts before the commission can follow a definite policy in its transactions, and this law will not be decided for some time.

A committee of two men will be appointed to investigate the matter of obtaining a permanent secretary. The names of the committee will be announced some time this week, according to Louis Campbell, chairman.

Several matters referred to the commission by the city council were considered, and some other original questions were brought up. The petition of Dave Pugh to erect a combination store and residence at Church and Howard streets, near the new Tuxedo

Mr. Smoot received severe injuries to his head and died without regaining consciousness. It was believed that he suffered a fractured skull.

According to an account made by Winger at police headquarters, he was going south on Twelfth street, and Mr. Ross was crossing at the intersection of Mill. He says he sounded his horn, but Mr. Ross stopped in the middle of the street and became confused. Winger tried to avoid hitting him but the accident could not be avoided.

This account was substantiated by W. C. Heise, an eye witness, who said that Mr. Ross was more than halfway across the street, going west, and that he apparently became confused. He turned and went back to the middle of the street, then started to run forward again, when the car hit him.

Mr. Ross was thrown about three feet into the air, Mr. Heise stated, and fell on his hand, being knocked unconscious by the blow. Mr. Heise did not believe that the car passed over his body.

Besides Mr. Heise, there were two other eye witnesses to the ac-

SANTIAM GIVES UP BODY MUDDY, SWIFT RIVER MAKES RECOVERY DIFFICULT

The body of Grant Baldere, 23, who was drowned in the Santiam river near Mill City a week ago, was recovered late Sunday by a group of men working under the direction of W. B. Gerth of this city.

Mr. Gerth described the conditions as being very unfavorable as the river was very swift, deep and muddy and the workers were handicapped by a log jam under which the body was finally located. Forty or 50 volunteers aided in the search Sunday and during the rest of the time nearly 40 were constantly at work, he said. Gerth has recovered or helped to recover some 13 bodies from drownings in recent years.

Baldere graduated from the Oregon Agricultural college last spring and had since been employed as a civil engineer. The youth was the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Baldere, whose father has been engaged in the lumber business at Mill City for a number of years.
