

First of Dempsey-Tunney Training Camp Series Starts Here Today

BEGIN WITH TEETH CHAMPION STATES

"Will Train the Same for Tunney as I Did for Others," He Says

THIS is the first of a series of features on Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, written by Charles W. Dunker, sports editor in the Chicago Office of The Associated Press, who is covering news activities at Dempsey's training camp preliminary to the championship defense of his title bout with Gene Tunney.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 27.—(AP).—A fight is a fight with Jack Dempsey—he trains for them all alike.

If you know how the world's heavyweight champion got into shape for his title winning bout with Jess Willard at Toledo, Georges Carpentier at Jersey City, Tommy Gibbons at Shelby, Montana, Luis Firpo at New York, then you know just how he is going to train for his contest with Gene Tunney at Philadelphia on September 24.

"I couldn't train any different for Tunney than I did for all the rest," Dempsey said.

This business of training, usually drudgery with the average boxer, seems to be a genuine pleasure for the world's heavyweight champion. He goes into his training sessions with the enthusiasm of a boy, apparently enjoying every second of it, but finding the greatest pleasure in the soothing massage at the hands of Jerry the Greek, who kneads the champion's muscles at the finish of every workout.

Dempsey never drags through his workouts half-heartedly, but goes at top speed with every ounce of his energy, even to skipping the rope.

On his hikes along the roads surrounding the lake region of his camp, Dempsey steps along with a fast jerky pace, walking briskly for perhaps half a mile then breaking into a dog trot. He usually covers five or six miles every morning, taking Jerry or some other camp attendant along for company.

People wonder why the champion isn't fat and all out of condition after being idle from the ring for three years. The reason is because Dempsey trains instinctively all the time. Although ignorant of college training rules, Dempsey has hit upon the same system.

"I begin my training with my teeth and keep my system clear down to the tips of my toes. The stomach is the key to perfect health. My diet rules are simple and natural.

"I eat lots of fruit and vegetables. Once a day I like a well done piece of roast beef or veal. Also I relish salads with plenty of olive oil. I found olive oil to be one of the best tonics for stomachs there is.

"When a man is in condition he has a natural appetite. When he is out of condition his appetite is unnatural. Then, is when you have to watch yourself. "I have never been a heavy eater. One good meal a day and two light lunches are all I care for."

PORTLAND GOLFERS WIN AT GEARHEART

Asa Smith and Jack Marshall reach Finals of Coast Tournament

GEARHEART, Ore., Aug. 27.—(AP).—Asa Smith and Jack Marshall, both of Portland, reached the finals of the third annual coast midsummer golf tournament here today. In the women's division Mrs. C. V. Stater, Portland, and Miss Dorothy Shuback, Seattle, will fight it out for first place. Both finals will be played tomorrow, the men going 28 holes and the women 18.

Smith won his way into the finals by eliminating W. W. Giles, Portland, two up, in the morning round and beating Dr. J. P. Loudon, Yakima, Wash., in an extra hole match in the afternoon. Marshall eliminated Dr. W. A. Nordby, 1924, Gearheart champion, in the morning, round 3 and 2, and this afternoon turned back I. J. Staples, Portland, by the same score.

Mrs. Stater was assured of a chance at the women's title when in a spectacular extra hole match she won over Mrs. Joe Matck, Portland, one up in 27 holes. They were all square at the end of the 18th and the deadlock was not broken until they reached the green on the 19th hole. Miss Shuback eliminated Mrs. C. H. Davis, Jr., of Portland two up and one in the other semi-final match.

INDIAN BEAUTY LEAVES WENATCHEE, Wash., Aug. 27.—Jessie Jim, Okanogan Indian girl who was crowned Princess America at the recent Indian congress in Spokane, left today for Atlantic City where she will be a guest of honor in the bathing girl contest.

Tough Game Expected for Local Baseball Tossers Here on Sunday

SENATORS TO PLAY CYCLOPS ON SUNDAY

Hard Fought Game Expected When Bitter Rivals Clash on Diamond

The Portland Cyclops, the bitter rivals of the Senators this season, will be the next opponents of the local baseball team at Oxford Park Sunday. This game will be the second one of the fall tournament, and is expected to be a "raw meat" affair, according to "Biddy" Bishop, Salem manager. The Cyclops have won 3 out of 5 from Salem so far this season and the local men are out to make the count even. As an added incentive for a bitter fight, the teams will be struggling to keep out of the cellar position in the tourney. Each has lost one game so far, and the loser Sunday will land at the bottom of the heap.

The Salem team has been strengthened for the coming game by the addition of two new players, both said to be capable performers. One of them is Pete Parrie, who played part of this season with Albany. He will fill the outfield hole left vacant by the loss of Bobby Quinn. Parrie played baseball at OAC for three years, and plays both in the outfield and behind the bat. He is a good defensive player and has the reputation of doing most of his hitting when hits are needed.

The other new man is also said to be a real ball player, according to Manager Bishop. "Biddy" does not know the new man's name, as he has just come to Salem from California, where he has been playing ball. The unknown player is a heavy hitter, however, according to Bishop.

Turpin, former Albany pitcher, who made an excellent showing against Montavilla in his first start for Salem last Sunday, will be on the mound again tomorrow. Turpin pitched as well Sunday as he has in the past, and could do it again. The game because of a little loose fielding by his supporters.

The Cyclops have the same team that played for them during the regular season, and Eddie Huesing is expected to do their pitching Sunday. The Senators landed on Huesing hard the last time the Cyclops played here and expect to repeat tomorrow, with added wallop in their attack furnished by the newcomers.

The fast brand of baseball being played in this tournament is evidenced by last Sunday's games, in which the Cyclops and Salem, two best teams of the Greater Portland Valley league, were defeated by the Portland City league entries. The Valley league teams were not completely outclassed, however, as both games were won by close margins. They expect to have their revenge later on in the series when the same teams meet for the second time.

LATE FIGHT NEWS

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Charley (Phil) Rosenberg of New York, bantam champion, and Pete Sarmiento, the Filipino, fought a vicious ten-round draw at the White Sox ball park here tonight. The champion scored four knockdowns in the late rounds but needed all of them to even up a terrific beating he received in the first six. The title was not at stake.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 27.—Pinkey Mitchell of Milwaukee decisively outpointed Jimmy Finley of Louisville here tonight in a ten-round bout. Mitchell forced the fighting throughout the bout and shook Finley badly in the eighth and tenth rounds with wicked right crosses.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—(AP).—Ace Hudkin, Nebraska "Wild Cat" smashed his way to a slugging victory over Phil McGraw, Detroit lightweight tonight in a bruising 15 round battle at the Connie Island stadium. Hudkins carried off the decision with a sensational attack in the last half of the fight after he had been out pointed in the first half.

CURIOS STOLEN IS CLAIM

PORTLANDER SUES TO RECOVER FOR SAFE CONTENTS PORTLAND, Aug. 27.—(AP).—Ancient Chinese stamps and coins valued at hundreds of dollars as curios figure prominently in a suit filed in the U. S. district court today by Clement J. Page against Hastings and Wells, New York, and R. J. Leo, Portland, for recovery of damages totaling $47,000 claimed by the plaintiff to have been sustained when the defendants are alleged to have had a safe used by the plaintiff and his employer opened. The old coins and stamps with other personal property and securities were claimed by the plaintiff to have been lost or caused to disappear with the safe opening.

PORTLAND, Aug. 27.—Portland defeated Oakland in two games today, 3 to 1 and 7 to 6. In the first game George Washington Payne had the Oaks in check at all times, their only run being a high fly homer by Cavney in the second. In the other game Hub Pruet was unable to keep a five-run lead his team mates had staked him to on five hits and Portland errors in the third. The Beavers tied it in the sixth and won in the seventh when McCurdy singled, bringing in Washburn from second. Score—R. H. E. Portland 3 7 0 Oakland 1 7 0 Oeschger, Crahead and Read; Payne and Wendell.

Oakland 2 4 2 Portland 7 10 3 Pruet and Baker, Keefe; Leverett, Lingrel and Berry.

VALENTINO DARING IN ELSINORE FILM

Beautiful Hungarian Actress Plays Opposite Rudy in "The Eagle"

Rudolph Valentino had to do many daring stunts while filming "The Eagle," which presents him in the role of an action hero. This magnificent picture of Russia before the revolution is now playing to capacity crowds at the Elsinore theater. Here are some of the things Rudy did: Fought with a real live bear. Stopped a runaway horse and a runaway team. Rode spirited horses. Jumped out of a window. "The Eagle" is a Clarence Brown production of the star's first picture under his new United Artists corporation contract. Vilma Banky beautiful Hungarian actress, found by Samuel Goldwyn and loaned for this picture, plays opposite the star. The picture was produced on a lavish scale.

OREGON THEATRE PICTURE PLEASURES

Former Leading Man for Mary Pickford Stars in "What Fools Men"

Strange what prejudice some people have. Now, take Hugh Allan, for instance. Who is he? Well, you want to see "What Fools Men," latest First National production, now at the Oregon theater, and you'll know. But that isn't getting on with our story. Allan was playing "bits" in various screen productions out in Hollywood. Then came the glorious chance. Mary Pickford selected him as her leading man for "Little Annie Rooney." He started work, but barely had he begun when came a rude interruption. With no time to spare for his own designs except evenings, Allan scaled the roof of his home one night to repair the aerial of his radio outfit. The roof was of tile, and the evening dew had already settled on it. And Allan had rubber heeled and rubber soled shoes on. He plunged from the eerie heights and broke his arm. William Haines succeeded him and the scenes already photographed were re-shot. But the big chance was only deferred. When his arm knit he created a role in the new First National production which, according to cognascent, will definitely establish him as an actor of parts. Hood River—Columbia street is to be graded for nine blocks.
