

Clarence Eddy, World Famous Organist, Spends

Two Days in Salem Clarence Eddy, dean of Ameri can organists, handsome, affable, and distinguished, is in Salem today. Another story is that Mr. Eddy was in Salem yesterday and a certain few of us had the decidedly delightful and unexpected privilege of making his acquaintance at that time. Yesterday Mr. Eddy was in Salem as a friend, in excellent motor companion, a revered guest; today he is in Saem as an artist—the greatest American organist, in fact, of the century, whose reputation abroad is as secure as in this country. Mr. Eddy has the added distinction of having dedicated more organs than any other contemporary organist, among the instruments being the famous organ in Trinity church in Denver.

Twice this afternoon, and once this evening, Mr. Eddy will give recitals-different numbers at each appearance—at the Elsinore theater, playing on the magnificent Wurlitzer so recently install-

At 3 o'clock Mr. Eddy will play as his first program the following numbers:

1. Toccata and Fugue in "D" MinorJ. S. Bach Melody. . Gen. Charles G. Dawes Rustic March....A. J. Boex. Hymn of Glory .. Pietro A. Yon Mr. Eddy's second group will be heard at 8 o'clock when he will

1. Grand Choeur Dialogue Eugene Gigout 2. From the Land of the Sky-Blue Water Cadman-Eddy Caprice HeroiqueJoseph Bonnet

4. Indian Serenade..... Harry L. Vibbard 5. Wedding March..... At 9:40 o'clock the third program will be given:

1. Fantasia on a Welsh Tune. T. J. Morgan 2. Russian Boatman's Song. Arranged by Clarence Eddy . Gavotte Padre Martini

5. Processional March...... James H. Rogers Eddy was born in Greenfield, Massachusetts, eighty years ago-though those who rode with him yesterday when Professor and Mrs. Percy S. Burraston entertained with a drive about the citywould never have guessed the years. Mr. Eddy, himself declaring his two hundred pounds, has a marvelous physique, and a great conversational alacrity.

Mr. Eddy rejoiced with the trusensitive temperament of an artist at the zestful air of Septemin Oregon and indicated to motor hosts, Professor and rs. Burraston, that Salem and he surrounding country exceeded expectations. The landscaping of the state institutions and the Polk county hills seemed to have in them a particular appeal.

Mr. Eddy and Mr. Burraston recalled together the artistic features of Queen's Hall in London nd conversed informally concernng prominent musical figures the two know in common. The rudiments of organ construction, the status of jazz, the personal characteristics of Mrs. Eddy, the middle western storms, the aspects of a wild west parade, the English monarchy, and flowers and archiecture afforded topics for agreeable intercourse.

Mr. Eddy described his wifewho was unable to make the trip with him—as a perfect, blonde, "a nugget of gold," from California, whose golden voice-a superb contralto-is matched with golden hair. As a passing coincidence, Mr. Eddy mentioned that both he and the girl who was to become his wife were students in Paris at the same time but, strangely, did not meet until they were both in America again.

It was revealed yesterday mornng that it was Mr. Eddy's arangements of "Finlandia" and The Volga Boat Song" that Professor Burraston introduced on the night the Elsinore opened.

Mr. Eddy was taken the Burrastons' home on Lincoln Hill before the conclusion of the ride. Today Mr. Eddy will be honored with a luncheon.
