

Bearcats--U of O Clash at 2:30 o'Clock Today in Eugene Grid Play

30 LOCALS MAKE TRIP, ALL PLAY

Coach Keene Announces Strengthened Team, Fight Is Promised

A squad of 30 football men representing Willamette University will accompany Coach Spec Keene to Eugene today for the first game of the season with the University of Oregon, beginning on Hayward field at 2:30 o'clock. All 30 of these men will get into the game, whether the score is 100 or 0 or less, according to Keene.

The tentative starting lineup announced yesterday includes Bican, center; Best and McKenzie, guards; Rhodes (captain) and Hartley, tackles; Ruch and Mahoney, ends; Winslow, quarter; Zeller and Waddell, halves; and Robinson, full.

Who will do the punting is a problem still unsolved, according to Keene. None of the men are much good at this important department of the game. A good kicker is essential for a team in the position Willamette will occupy today against Oregon, as about all the Bearcats can do when they get the ball is to kick.

The squad has been recently strengthened by the addition of Harry Cloninger and Red Bennett from Seapoose. Cloninger is an especially welcome addition, as he is reputed to be a good kicker.

The squad is still shy a triple-threat man and has hardly any one who can throw passes well. With these weak spots and a green team, undrilled by spring practice, and with only nine days training behind them, little hope is held out for anything less than a stampee for Oregon.

"We don't care what the score is," said Coach Keene yesterday. "I hope no one else will worry about it, because little can be expected. We will put as much fight into the game as possible."

Besides the men who will start the game, those who will make the trip to Eugene are Cranor, Ferguson, Hauk, Herman, Jungblom, Lang, Mort, Propp, Schofield, Sandbert, Versteeg, Woodworth, Cloninger, and Curtis.

EUGENE, Sept. 24.—(AP)—The football season so far as Eugene is concerned, will open tomorrow afternoon on Hayward field with Willamette university of Salem and the University of Oregon furnishing the teams and the entertainment. Although the game is not expected to be particularly close or exciting there are several angles which will make it interesting.

It will be the first appearance of a team coached by Captain John J. McEwan and his two right hand men, Ellinger and Vidal, and will disclose the new style of play that will become familiar here within the next few weeks. Fans, too, can form their estimates of the team's chances against University of Washington when the two rivals clash in Portland October 9.

The Oregon team will take the field with Ord, Wetzel, Jones and Woodie in the backfield, and Smith, Slauson, Sinefrat, Dixon, Kerns, Hodgen and Klippel in the line, according to the Oregon coaches, but many substitutions may be made before the final whistle blows.

Eldon Jones of Portland, former WSC football and track star, will be referee, and W. R. Ruef, a new face in officiating circles, in the umpire's position. Earl R. Goodwin, a Portland newspaperman, will be the head linesman.

NEW YORK COMEDY HERE ON TUESDAY

"Love 'Em and Leave 'Em" Coming to Elsinore for One Performance

Tuesday evening at the Elsinore "Love 'Em and Leave 'Em," the best of all American comedies, will be presented by Street's New York Players for the first time in Salem.

"Love 'Em and Leave 'Em" played one entire season at the Sam H. Harris theater, New York, and is one of the freshest, shiest comedies produced for many seasons past.

One of the biggest of the hundreds of laughs in "Love 'Em and Leave 'Em" comes in the third act during the rehearsal of the Gineberg department store's "annual show," when the amateur cast assembles to sing the song especially composed for the occasion by one of the clerks. The song is sung to the tune of "Marching Through Georgia."

Washington, 1925 Champs, to Play Navy Team, Dark Horse Seen

With a heavy list of candidates to be tried out, Coach Warner sends his Stanford eleven into two games on its home gridiron. California Tech and Fresno State Teachers' college furnish the opposition in tomorrow's double header.

University of Southern California, considered by most critics as the dark horse of the 1926 race, takes on Whittier college at Los Angeles.

California meets Santa Clara at Berkeley and Oregon opens its schedule at Eugene against Willamette.

The Oregon Aggies match gridiron strength with the Multnomah A. C. at Corvallis.

LOCAL PROMOTER TRIES FOR MATCH

Benny Pelz and Phil Bayes Fail to Agree on Bout Called Off

Efforts to obtain Benny Pelz of Portland as an opponent for Phil Bayes in a match to be held here fair week having failed, Harry Plant, matchmaker for the Salem boxing commission, is trying to schedule a bout between Bayes and Jake Battling Hoppe, who has been working out at the local armory.

Hoppe is a veteran fighter who is said to have a creditable list of victories over good men. He has shown enough in his workouts to sustain this reputation. Provided the match is definitely scheduled, it will be held the night of October 6.

The Pelz-Bayes bout failed to go through because the managers of the two fighters couldn't agree on terms. Jack Wagner, Pelz's manager, demanded that Bayes come down to 122 pounds for the match, while Phil didn't want to go below 124. They finally agreed on 123, but then Wagner wanted a forfeit posted by Bayes and also demanded that he have the right to call off the match if Bayes wasn't down to weight by 2 o'clock of the afternoon before the battle.

Local fight authorities considered such demands unreasonable, so negotiations were called off.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals landed safely in port today with the 1926 National league championship nailed firmly to the mast by defeating the New York Giants 6 to 4, thereby eliminating Cincinnati's mathematical hope in the line of pennant pursuit.

BOARD ELIMINATES SHORTAGE OF CARS

American Railway Association Meeting Well Attended in Portland

PORTLAND, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Prosperous business conditions throughout the Pacific northwest, with good crops and good demand for products of all kinds was reflected in reports today at a meeting here of the northwest advisory board of the American Railway association. About 500 growers, shippers, manufacturers, bankers, business men and railroad representatives attended the meeting.

More orderly distribution of products was indicated, due largely to cooperation among producers, shippers and railroads. This has largely eliminated car shortage which existed in past years.

The advisory board plan has been a big factor in stabilizing transportation systems, said a report by the banking and insurance committee.

"The board is effectively attacking the problem of reducing opportunities for market gluts, particularly in perishable products, and it has been found that by correlating the organized intelligence of the marketing and transportation agencies, the possibilities in this respect are revealing themselves more clearly as the study progresses," said the report.

Klamath Falls—Contract let for sixty street viaduct to cost $116,000.

FOUR DEER SHOT BY SALEM PARTY

J. A. Smith, Bill Doughty and Bliss Smith Back From Tillamook

One Salem party of deer hunters had excellent hunting in the coast range mountains near Tillamook which was substantiated not only by the hides of the animals but by the large amount of "jerked" venison they brought home. The hunters were J. A. Smith, Bill Doughty and Bliss Smith.

One of the deer shot by the hunters was a five point buck which weighed 225 dressed. This figure was not the result of guesswork, said J. A. Smith but actual scale measure. The other deer were a three point buck which weighed 175 dressed and two spike bucks.

Three cougar were seen by the party eating on the remains of one of the carcasses of the deer. Although the hunters fired at the large cats it was not believed any of them were hit.

The party was gone seven days and saw one fawn. It was the belief of the hunters that the cougar were responsible for killing the young deer as last year in the same locality a number of fawns were seen.

MOVIE AT OREGON HAS MYSTERY PLOT

A rapid mystery melodrama of stirring situations in "Raffles," the Universal-Jewel photoplay which opened at the Oregon theatre yesterday plays last times today.

House Peters in the title role plays the amateur crookman with great skill and histrionic ability. He gives a reserved, careful delineation of the most entertaining of fiction sleuths. Although the "Raffles" stories were written more than thirty years ago by Ernest W. Hornung and Eugene Presbrey, they have continued to be popular with readers of all ages. Both young and old will revel in the exciting situations in the present production. Drama runs rampant in this King Baggot production.

The almost impossible theft of a famous string of pearls from the neck of a fashionable woman traveler aboard an ocean steamer between Calcutta and Liverpool, forms the ground work of the story. From the brilliant ballroom of the ocean liner the story changes to London and to a large estate just outside the English capital.

Until the very end of the story the mystery is sustained and the mysterious Mr. Raffles is successful in keeping just a day or so ahead of the "best brains in England" who are hounding him to his lair. It is a story of hit and miss from the point of view of the criminal experts who are at a loss how to catch the elusive amateur cracksmen.

An impassioned love story is skilfully entwined into the mysterious element of "Raffles," and the heroine of the affair d'Amour is none other than the lovely Miss Dupont. Others in the supporting cast include Hedda Hooper, Frederick Esamelton, Walter Long, Winter Hill, Kate Lester, Freeman Wood, Roland Bottomley, Lillian Langdon and Robert Bolter. The production was directed by King Baggot.

E. C. Jerome Arrives—

E. C. Jerome, representative of the Pacific Coast Coal company, will spend all of next week in Salem in connection with displays made by his company and by Otto Hillman, demonstrating prevention of destruction by frost in orchards. Introduction of briquets, which eliminate the smoke evil, has proved exceedingly successful even in portions of California, where orchards are near the oil supply. The system, which will be shown at the state fair for the first time, is used extensively, also in Milton-Freewater, Wenatchee, Walla Walla and Yakima valley districts.

Social Is Held—

More than 300 persons gathered for the first all-church social of the fall, at the Baptist church last evening, for refreshments and entertainment. Piano solos were given by Miss Echo Hall and Miss Ruth Moore, while Stanley King gave a recitation. Miss Gail McClean led in community singing. Refreshments were served by the Young Married Peoples' class and decorations were furnished by the Count on Me class. Rally day will be held next Sunday, according to Rev. Shanks.

STATE FAIR HORSE SHOW TO BE LARGE

More Animals Entered Than Ever Before in History of Annual Event

With more horses already entered than ever before in the history of the fair, and with entries still being confirmed by telegram and arrival of the horses, it is now assured that the racing on the Lone Oak track during the 65th Oregon State Fair, opening next Monday, will be the greatest ever staged in the state.

Not only will there be more horses entered, but the competition will be keener and the horses will average up faster than ever before, according to Ella S. Wilson, secretary of the fair board. From the first race on through the week to the Governor Perce derby there is promise of a battle for places in every event, she says.

Nor will the fair's appeal to lovers of horses be confined to the track. The early entries in both the horse classes of the stock show and those for the night horse show, to be held six nights this year instead of four or five as in the past, assure the presence of more horses on the grounds in every department than there has ever been before. One hundred and thirty-five horses have already been entered in the horse show, and there are nearly 60 more horses in the stock show than there are stalls for. This in spite of the 100 new stalls added this year in the pavilion.

Oswald West, Aaron Frank, J. D. Farrell, Dr. Held and Mrs. Ellery Stone of Oakland, Cal., are among the exhibitors who already have their strings of horse show animals on the grounds. Strings from the Portland Hunt Club and James Nicol of Portland, and G. L. A. Lauer and the Seattle Riding Academy will also be on the grounds for the opening Monday night.

What is news, anyway?

THAT depends a good deal on you. If you're one type of person, news is divorces, and murders, and heir-to-millions-hangs-self. If you're another type, news is closing quotations on the stock exchange. If you're somebody else, news is final scores at the ball-field or race-track.

But no matter what type of person you are, news is also information about the things you need and use in your everyday life. If there's a new style in coats or shoes or gloves—that's news. If there's a new type of vacuum cleaner or radio battery or vitamin—that's news. If there are improvements in automobiles, new records for the player piano, a better tooth-paste—that's news.

You get all this news in the shape of advertisements. It's pretty important, advertising is. It keeps you informed about all kinds of things you need to know. It helps you. It saves time and mistakes.
