

Statesman's Saturday Morning Market News and Household Information Page

Jams and Jellies That Are Different

I guess we all like to try new recipes in the jam-and-jelly line. In fact an exchange of these recipes among friends is a nice custom.

Knowing that a rare conserve or unusual jelly often transpires a commonplace dessert or a simple meal into an interesting and delectable little feast, it is well to keep a small supply at least on hand for emergencies, moreover, a feeling of satisfaction in having at hand a bountiful supply of sweets.

These two may be new to you and have the same appeal they had for me.

Andover Conserve is made by an old family recipe thus: Boil 5 pounds of currants 15 minutes; strain over 500 cc of juice. Boil 3 cups of raspberries (mashed) and press out the juice. Put 2 oranges and 1 tangerine (or lemon) through food chopper, add to the currant and raspberry juice with 1 1/2 pound of seeded raisins.

Boil 8 minutes, then add 5 lbs. of sugar, and boil 2 minutes longer. Put at once into sterilized glasses. This is one of the very finest of conserves; delicious with meat or for dessert with toast or crackers.

If fruit is raised on the place, the conserve could be sold at a good profit.

Ruby Jelly used to be made with the last raspberries and the earliest apples; but nowadays the "ever-bearing" berries may well serve us. Or, can raspberries juice and use it in place of fruit.

Kettle of apple juice prepared as for ordinary apple jelly, add any preferred proportion of raspberry juice. Boil 20 minutes, add equal weight of hot sugar, boil 5 minutes, skim and pour into hot sterilized glasses.

Frozen Dishes
Of all desserts, and we might include salads, too, the frozen one is the favorite for summer time. It is not only appetizing, but most refreshing, since it cools the blood, therefore making the entire body cooler.

Many housewives have the idea that to make a frozen dish is a long laborious task. Really it takes no longer to make a freezer of ice cream or sherbet than it does to make and bake a pie.

If you are having company for the noon-day meal, the dessert or salad may be made and frozen early in the morning when it is cooler; then you have no standing over a hot stove making a cooked dessert.

One of the most important points to remember in making frozen dishes of any kind is that the smaller the proportion of salt to the ice used the slower the freezer will be, but you will have a product of smoother and finer texture.

The freezer can should not be filled more than three-fourths full since the mixture increases in volume due to air being incorporated into it by the turning of the crank. Generally speaking, three parts of ice to one of salt should be used in freezing. The brine should not be poured off during freezing but when you are ready to pack, then pour off the brine and repack, using four parts of ice to one of salt.

Before beginning the process of making a frozen dish, a few articles are necessary, such as a heavy canvas bag, ice pick, heavy hammer of some kind. Ice cream salt is not necessary, but it is convenient to use, and what is left in the freezer may be used.

General Markets
PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Butter steady; eggs, city 4 1/2; standards 4 1/4; prime firsts 3 3/4; firsts 3 1/4; second 4 1/2; cartons 4 1/2. Milk steady; best churning cream 4 1/2 per pound, net shippers track in zone 1. Cream delivered Portland 4 1/2 per pound. Best milk (4 per cent) $2.25 (wt. f. o. b. Portland). Poultry steady; heavy hens 25 1/2; light 23; young white ducks 22 1/2; colored 18 1/2. Potatoes and onions, quiet, inactive. Onions local 75 1/2; Walla Walla 90 1/2; $1; potatoes $1.50 @ 1.75 sack.

FREEZE THREATENS LARGE APPLE CROP

Weather Bureau Says Cold Wave at This Season Has No Parallel

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24.—(AP)—A record cold wave extending throughout the great northwest and reaching down as far as Denver, was threatening wholesale damage to ripening apple and other crops today.

The weather bureau here said that such an extensive cold wave at this season of the year had no parallel in the meteorological history of the Pacific coast.

The thermometer went down to six above zero at Helena, Mont., last night, while at Kalispell, Mont., it was but eight above.

Record low temperature of 20 above was reported from Yakima, Wash., and Baker, Ore., and the chief damage to the bumper apple crops was expected in these regions.

Walla Walla, Wash., with 28 above last night, experienced the lowest temperature in its history, while at Winnemucca, Nev., the mercury went down to 26, a record September figure.

The cold wave will not affect California and was receding along its southernmost extremities, the bureau said.

COLD WEATHER STRIKES WEST HALF OF COUNTRY

deep in snow from Winnipeg to British Columbia, with damage to unharvested crops estimated at $12,000,000.

Ohio, at the eastern end of the storm zone, computed the losses from a tornado which killed a child and did $300,000 damage when it swept through three counties along Lake Erie last night.

Originating in the upper Rocky mountains, the phenomenal cold wave brought Seattle the lowest September temperature since 1887 and sent the mercury down to 6 degrees at Helena, Mont. It scribbled on through Wyoming, the Dakotas and Nebraska, bringing six inches of snow to several North Dakota points near the Canadian line, and heavy falls at Rapid City and Pierre, S. D., and Crawford, Neb.

The temperature fell 40 degrees in 24 hours at Omaha to 41, and Alliance, Neb., reported a temperature of 20. At Goodland, Kansas, frost was felt when the mercury dropped 54 degrees in 12 hours. At Dodge City, Kan., a fall of 56 degrees was experienced overnight.

Snow fell at Albert Lea, Minn., and Cedar Rapids, Iowa, as the storm moved eastward, and Evanston, Ill., reported a trace of snow followed by rain and hail.

Tonight killing frosts were general over the states in the storm area west of the Mississippi river. Illinois' rainfall was general today and brought reports of rising waters along the Fox and Illinois rivers. At Aurora the Fox was two feet above normal and at Ottumwa it rose 14 feet over night.

The state armory was opened at Ottawa to shelter homeless families half a dozen of which still occupied it tonight although the rain had stopped. Many more were living on the second stories of their homes. A dam in the Illinois river at Lockport was endangered. Damage to crops near Ottumwa was estimated at several hundred thousand dollars.

Rain washed out railroad tracks at Bloomington, Ill., causing re-routing of trains and patrolling of all rail lines.

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 24.—(AP)—From the Canadian border to northern New Mexico and Arizona, the Rocky mountains region today shivered in the grip of the first general cold spell of the autumn season, while snow continued to fall intermittently in parts of Montana and Wyoming.

Forecasts were for Colorado's first snowfall tonight, with temperatures well below freezing. The cold wave is expected to continue through Sunday.

Several points in the mountain area recorded low temperature marks for September. At Butte, Mont., the mercury fell to 3.5 above zero, several degrees lower than all previous records for the month. Five inches of snow fell at Butte. Helena was visited by 6 above zero weather, while other Montana points reported low temperatures and snow.

Sheridan, Wyoming, experienced its second snow of the season, accompanied by sharp temperature drops. Snow also fell at Casper. Yellowstone park was the coldest place in Wyoming last night, the mercury falling to eight above zero, with two inches of snow.

CRAWFORD, Neb., Sept. 24.—Snow started falling here this morning and at noon was steadily increasing. At noon it was 23 above and getting colder.

OTTAWA, Ill., Sept. 24.—Many persons were driven from their homes by the worst rainstorm in years last night and early today. The rainfall measured 4.02 inches.

UNLUCKY NUMBER BRINGS LOCAL CITIZENS SUCCESS

James Edwin Keach Stayton; Frank P. Keenan; Dal M. King; Myrtle Point; Eugene C. Libby; Portland; Ralph McClaffin, Eugene; Carl B. Mauzy, Portland; Miller F. Kneeland, Portland; Paul L. Patterson, Eugene; C. E. Potter, Portland; James P. Powers, Portland; O. C. Roehr, Portland; Matilda W. Scott, Portland; Waldemar Seton, Jr., Portland; Edward L. Short, Portland; Maurice B. Snyder, Portland; Bertha Stone, Portland; M. J. Trubey, Portland; James Tynan, Portland; Grant J. Williams, Eugene; Charles E. Womersley, Portland and Olive L. Zimmerman, Portland.

PORTLAND FIREMEN BUSY

PORTLAND, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Forty-two fires, most of them resulting from chimney sparks fanned by a high east wind, kept the fire department busy in the 24 hour period ending at 6 o'clock tonight. Few of the blazes did more than nominal damage.

Engine company 23 put out three roof fires while on call on East Ninth street.

LOS ANGELES.—(AP)—Red-haired femininity, whose successful world conquests are traditional in song and myth, has been routed at filmdom's first line of defense—the casting bureau.

Not only are the auburn-haired lassies' chances of passing this skirmish line considerably less than those of her darker tressed sister, but in the first place her susceptibility to becoming movie-struck seems to be of less degree.

Roberta Risks It

Piggy has done a sensational high dive to save a man from drowning. The papers have his name in the papers. Just as his father's indictment waves, Piggy promises to stay out of court for a few days—and behave herself. He says he is not a man of honor but at the Hudson river he saw a man generally type accidents him and explains that he is un-derstandably sure, says Piggy. With a vague description of her he spots her in the crowds and steps up to her. The voice led her to her. She was in a hurry to get away. She had a warm married that other chap. She is independent, very, and declines to trouble this handsome man. She says she is in real trouble. So he suggests breakfast at Sherry's, and that she tell him all about it so he can help.

"It's my sister," said the girl slowly. "She's being kept a prisoner, and I've come to get her out."

"A prisoner?" "Oh, not in jail. In my—in a country house in New England. My father's an autocrat and I think we're puppets and ought never to move unless he pulls the string. He's always been like that. Mother's never thought for herself, nor decided anything for herself, since she married him. But she's a soft, pussy-cat sort of woman, perfectly contented to sit on a silk cushion by the fire and purr, and she thinks we ought to do it, too—as far as she thinks at all. Father provides nice fat cushions and a warm fire—and plenty of ice in summer. He's a good provider. I admit that. He's generous to everybody he approves of. But he wants to order everything his way. He can't see any other. I wouldn't be ordered, so there was a terrible quarrel and I've been supporting myself for two years."

"You have? How?" "Honestly," she returned, with the ghost of a twinkle. "I'm building up quite a business in Paris as guide, interpreter, and shopping expert for plutocratic American women who don't speak fluent French. My sister's younger than I. She's only seventeen, so you see she's a minor. And she's not like me. I have a hard streak in me, like father. That's the reason I could fight him. But she's tender and sweet and much too sensitive. She's crushable—and he's crushing her. I can't stand it. I won't have her life ruined!"

"What's he doing to her?" "She and mother were abroad this summer. They didn't come to Paris, because I live there and they're not allowed to speak to me. I heard they were in London, though, and went over, and managed to see Co—to see my sister on the sly. Mother didn't know anything about it. On the steamer going over they met a young Frenchman, a mining engineer who lives in Mexico, and he and my sister fell madly in love with each other. He's a charming fellow, good family and all that, but he hasn't any money to speak of—yet. He's only twenty-six. Of course mother didn't do anything—she never does—except write to father, and he came raging over on the next steamer to lay down the law.

"He caught Pierre and my sister together and there was a terrible scene. Pierre told me about it afterward. Father said she was a silly little fool, and no daughter of his should marry a penniless foreigner and go to live in Mexico. She defied him, for the first time in her life, and father almost lost his temper and a disgrace—and remember he's done her thinking and choosing for her all her life, and she's sensitive and tractable. When he had about reduced her to pulp, he threatened to kick Pierre out of the hotel, and as he's a big man he could have done it. So Pierre left.

"Father brought the family home and Pierre came on the same steamer. He wrote me about the rest of it. He says my sister was locked in her stateroom all day over. He tried to bribe the stewards to take a note to her, but father had fixed them, so probably she never knew that Pierre was there. When they got here he lost them, but found out after a while that father had taken them to a house he owns in New England—an isolated summer place off in the woods. He's had a barbed-wire fence put all around the property and bought some savage dogs, and my sister's never allowed to be out of the house alone, not even in the garden. That's the only way we know she's still holding out. Pierre went up there, but he couldn't get word through to her and never saw her. Everybody has been warned against him and they're all afraid of father. And there she is!"

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"Then where does the detective person come in?" "I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"He's convincing, all right. Sounds a good deal like G. A."

"Short for God Almighty. There's a man we do business with who's like that. I never saw him myself, but the fellows in his office call him G. A."

"Then where does the detective person come in?" "I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"Hmph! Regular medieval stuff."

"Patriarchal! Father's an anachronism."

"Where's the Frenchman?" "In Mexico. Something went wrong at the mine and he had to go down and straighten it out. Anyway, he's been brought up to respect parental authority, and thinks there's nothing to do except don't mind that part of it. She is kept wait until she's of age. I too young to marry. What I can't stand is to have father bully her into submission—and he will. She's never tried to stand out against him before, and if she fails this time she'll never try again. At her age and with her disposition he can break her, and he's set about doing it. He thinks that everybody who disagrees with him ought to be broken. He's like that in business, too—a rule-or-ruin sort of person. Maybe I'm not making him convincing—but he is."

"He's convincing, all right. Sounds a good deal like G. A."

"Short for God Almighty. There's a man we do business with who's like that. I never saw him myself, but the fellows in his office call him G. A."

"Then where does the detective person come in?" "I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who failed to show up on his wedding day might be guilty of almost anything, but he kept that reflection to himself and she went on.

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I landed at Quebec because I was afraid somebody I know might see me on the dock here, I've lived in New York all my life until two years ago and know lots of people here, but I can't trust any of them with this, you see. Father must have found out. At

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

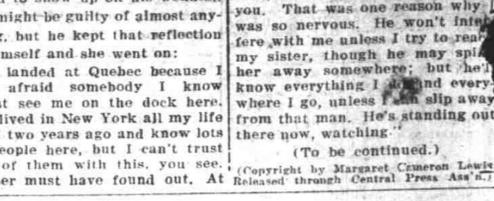

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him." Piggy thought that a chap who

Fruits of Mellow Magic
THE COLORFUL FRUITS, famous for their flavor, are distinctive products of the Northwest. Their steadfast quality and fame typifies another product, GOLDEN WEST COFFEE, which for over forty years has completely satisfied the taste of discriminating coffee drinkers.

The Golden West Girl stands at the end of your quest for the best in coffee. She is a messenger of faith to the public—guaranteeing them the finest quality in coffee. Her picture is the signal to buy—

The Famous Coffee with a Famous Name

Nice Fat Hens Pound 35c

McDowell Market "Where a Dollar Does Its Duty"

173 S. Commercial Telephone 1421

Golden West Coffee advertisement with logo and text: A FAMOUS COFFEE WITH A FAMOUS NAME

FAT U.S. Government Inspected MEATS Steusloff Bros. Market Corner Court and Liberty Phone 1528

Milk and Honey Bread 2 Large Loaves 25c

100% WHOLE WHEAT 3 Small Loaves 25c

PUMPKIN PIES 25c each

Peerless Bakery 170 NORTH COMMERCIAL STREET Our regular Prices of Bread, 1 1/2 lb. loaf, 13c, 2 for 25c; 1 lb. loaf 9c, 3 for 25c Cookies, 2 dozen for 25c Butter Horns, 6 for 25c Apple Turnovers, 6 for 25c Cakes, all varieties 15c up to 50c Doughnuts, Cinnamon Rolls, Tea Sticks and Buns, per dozen 20c Pies 10c and 25c Milk, Bread, French and Rye Bread, 3 loaves 25c

Peerless Bakery AND LUNCH 121 SOUTH COMMERCIAL We Serve Coffee and Lunches Try Our Krause's Candy

Salem Markets table with columns for FEED, PORK, MUTTON AND BEEF, POULTRY, EGGS, BUTTER, BUTTERFAT, and VEGETABLES, listing various items and their prices.