Ida Thelma Ness Becomes Bride of Paul Snook

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Ness at 1508 Orchard street in Eugene, on Sept. 11, Miss Ida Thelma Ness became the bride of Paul Snook, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Snook of Salem. Rev. Peter Lucas, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church, officiated. The rooms were decorated with orchid-colored gladioli and with ferns. The bride and bridegroom took their place at the altar improvised before the fireplace covered with ivy, gladioli and ferns.

Miss Yella Oleson played the wedding march, after which Miss Inga Larson sang "Oh, Promise Me."

Mrs. Snook is a graduate of the University of Oregon and is a member of the Phi Chi Theta, honorary commerce fraternity for women.

After an informal reception the couple left for a two weeks' wedding trip to the coast. They will make their home in Corvallis.

The young couple received many beautiful gifts in electric-ware, china, linen and silver.

Friends and relatives who witnessed the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. H. Snook of Salem, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Lemmon, Mr. and Mrs. I. K. Frazer of Corvallis, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Frazer and family of Albany, Mrs. Arthur Ireland and son Glenn of Forest Grove, Miss Edith Benson of Eugene, and Glenn Snook of Corvallis.

Mrs. Charlton Visits in La Grande

Mrs. Mary V. Charlton has returned from a very enjoyable visit at La Grande, where she went in company with her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Martin of Independence and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Whitcomb of Tillamook. They made the trip in Mr. Martin's car, and as it was their first trip over the Columbia River highway, they found much to see and enjoy. At La Grande they visited with the families of H. K. Charlton and sons, and also with Mrs. Ida M. Foster, Mrs. Charlton's daughter, who is a trained nurse at that place.

Mrs. Sturgis Is Honored On Seventieth Birthday

Mrs. Emma Sturgis was agreeably surprised on Friday evening, Sept. 24, when her children and grandchildren called at her home for a 7 o'clock basket dinner in celebration of her birthday anniversary. Fall flowers were used in the living and dining room, while the table centerpiece was a large birthday cake, covered with pink and white candles. The honor guest was remembered with a number of beautiful gifts.

Covers at the birthday table were placed for Mrs. Emma Sturgis, the honor guest, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sturgis, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Beyerle of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sturgis, Monroe Sturgis, Miss Ruth Sturgis, Miss Arieta Sturgis, Irene and Oren Glenn county, near the Marion county line, a few miles north of Silverton, on the farm of Fred Myers, of Marquam. They took samples, to be tested at the Oregon Agricultural college, and by the chemists of the Oregon Pulp and Paper company, owning the Salem paper mill. They found evidences of a large deposit of lime rock there. The quality of the rock will be known later.

Near Falls City, Too
In the afternoon, the party went to the farm three miles from Falls City, Polk county, belonging to A. A. Muck, the Falls City merchant. They found evidences of very extensive lime deposits there; running from near the surface to perhaps 100 feet deep, or more. The quality of the Falls City lime rock, too, will be determined by tests.

Both deposits are within trucking distance from the prison, the Falls City deposit being about 18 miles from Salem, and the one near Marquam about 25 miles. The prison people, however, are in search of a high quality lime, for the state lime plant. The supply they are now getting, coming from Wilderville, Josephine county, makes an agricultural lime product 98 per cent pure, that is, calcium carbonate, though it costs the state, loaded on the cars at the quarry, $1.25 a ton, and $2.95 a ton freight to the prison plant. Lime is calcium carbonate, and that is what lands of the Willamette valley and coast counties need to sweeten the soil. The impurities of lime deposits are of no benefit to the farmers.

As to Possibility

Now, as to the opening sentence of this article. Prof. Livingstone found at the quarry of the Oregon Portland Cement company, on land next to the Muck farm, a sheer wall of lime rock perhaps 50 feet high. The lime rock has been blasted away to this depth and sent to the factory by rail, the company owning its own spur, connecting with the Dallas-Falls City line. On top of this solid wall of lime rock, which may run down 50 feet or more, or indefinitely.

to supply water for the state reform school, through a pipe to that institution. It was at first used also in the boilers at that institution, but it caked the boilers with lime to such an extent that its use had to be abandoned for that purpose, and a supply for the boilers secured from Mill creek.

The Afternoon Party
The party going to the Falls City lime deposits included those who went to Marquam, together with C. E. Wilson, manager of the Salem Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. Abigail Watt, secretary of the Falls City Chamber of Commerce, A. A. Muck and wife of Falls City and A. A. Muck, Jr., of Grand Ronde, and Mrs. Urquhart and Aldon Quinlan and Mrs. R. J. Hendricks of Salem.

The inference is that the red hills soil of the Willamette valley may be underlain by lime rock—billions of tons of it. Prof. Livingstone does not say this. He is very chary about being quoted as saying it. But he is certain that the red soil over the lime rock in the quarry of the Oregon Portland Cement company near Falls City was formed as a residue by the settling of the lime rock many geological years ago.

May Do Some Boring
Any way, with this very thing in mind, there will likely be some boring in the red hills lands near Salem, by the managers of the state lime plant at the prison. Perhaps there are people in these red hills sections who can give some testimony on the matter. The lime rock of this section looks like most any other rock, and a farmer might bore a well 100 feet deep, all the way through lime rock, excepting the first 20 feet or so, and not know he was going through what might be worth 40 times as much as his farm for agricultural purposes.

Hard Water Here
Nearly all the water in Willamette valley streams is "soft," that is, free from lime. But there are places in the valley where the water is "hard." It is very hard in the spring that feeds the reservoir above the main building of the state tuberculosis hospital, five miles southeast of Salem. This reservoir was originally built

CAPITAL BUSINESS COLLEGE PROSPERS

New Pupils Being Added Daily, Even in the Week of the State Fair

Usually not many pupils are expected to enter the Capitol Business college during state fair week, but this year seems to be an exception. There was a large enrollment yesterday, and more will enter today. Indications point to new enrollments each day. This week and next Monday, the first Monday after the state fair, gives promise of being a banner enrollment day at this popular institution. The new quarters are being enjoyed by the pupils, and add materially to the efficiency of the work. A pupil from Montana was enrolled yesterday and some others from out of Salem.

storage and boiler rooms. A petition from Mr. Hershkorn to erect a one story laundry at 15th and B, on the site of a present small home laundry he operates, was denied, after the commission had discussed the matter in executive session. A number of neighbors appeared in person to remonstrate against the building, saying that it would be a nuisance and otherwise undesirable in what is a rapidly improving residential neighborhood.

A petition from D. W. Pugh to erect a bungalow store at Church and Howard streets was shelved until the next meeting of the commission, when the full commission will be able to act on it. As this involves the policy of permitting store buildings near schools, the commission members wish to consider the matter thoroughly before committing themselves to any policy.

A petition from Mrs. Clara Van Horn to erect a store building on lot 4, block 74, in the North Salem addition was disallowed, as the lot is in the heart of what is now a residential district.

Acting on a suggestion of Mayor John B. Glesy, the commission passed a motion to compel the erection of a fence around a junk shop on North Capitol street to conform with the city ordinance on the subject.

A committee will be appointed by Louis Cambell, chairman of the commission, to draw up a set of rules for procedure. Mr. Cambell will be chairman of the committee of five members, who will be announced at the next regular meeting.

Salem Business Women Attend Elaborate Dinner in Eugene

Bright autumn marigolds as table bouquets, soft orange candles burning clearly and dainty corsage bouquets as favors marked the state banquet of the Business and Professional Women's clubs held in the palm room of the Osburn hotel Saturday evening.

A telegram of condolence is to be sent from the state club to the Florida organization concerning the recent damage and sad events in that state. A message of greeting to be read at the banquet was sent from Portland by carrier pigeon to Mrs. Barrett, corresponding secretary of the Eugene club.

The next national convention will be held in Oakland, Cal. There the Business and Professional Women's club owns a $190-000 club house. Another interesting development mentioned by Miss Fleming was the setting of a plan for the coming year at $2.50, including the subscription to the national club's magazine, "The Independent Woman."

The setting of dues at this comparative high mark elicited a deal of interest and discussion among those present. Mrs. T. H. Wells, past president of the Eugene club, remonstrated, asking if this meant that the members were to send two-thirds of all their monies to New York for an entertainment fund, or if they were to keep it in Oregon.

Miss Mozelle Hair, chairman and toastmistress, believed there was no tendency on the part of Oregon women to drop out of the national organization, but that she believed they thought the work in their own home town more important, especially now when such work was just starting. The girls in the western states as a rule do not draw large salaries, the speaker pointed out, and heavy dues are a great burden to many, especially to those who most need the stimulus and encouragement of such an organization as the Business and Professional Woman's club.

A move to choose a committee to confer with the other northwestern states in regard to the question of national dues and to present their opinion at the next national convention was introduced and passed.

HOW THE PILGRIM MOTHER Kept Her Family in Good Health

A statue to the Pilgrim Mother was recently unveiled at Plymouth Rock, Mass. Through her we honor every pioneer woman who endured privation and hardships that a nation might live. Shoulder to shoulder with her husband she built a home in the wilderness and reared her sturdy sons and daughters. She cooked and sewed. She spun and wove for her family. When they were ill, she brewed remedies from roots and herbs—such roots and herbs as are now used in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

A Massachusetts woman writes: "I was all run-down, with no ambition. I was tired all the time. Sometimes I would be in bed two or three days at a time, and the doctor would have to give me something to quiet me. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have had wonderful results from it. I felt better after taking the second bottle, and I am never without it in the house now. I have told lots of people about it, and they say it helps them, too."—Mrs. J. W. Critchett, 2 Hammond Street, Cambridge, Mass.
