Miss Rose Arrives Safely in Paris
 The many Salem friends of Miss Helen Rose, daughter of Mrs. George Rose, are pleased to hear of the safe return of the young lady from Paris where she spent 12 months of study. Miss Rose is the youngest daughter of Mrs. J. C. Allen Jr., (Ruth Austin) formerly of Woodburn and Salem.

Musical History of Vaudeville
 Commemorating the 500th anniversary of the birth of vaudeville, a group of quaint old French songs were sung by Weyland Echols, the concert tenor, at a recent recital in Boston. Mr. Echols, having lived for many years in Paris, is completely at home with French chansons, although he has never before delved so far into history for his program material. Probably few theater goers realize that vaudeville was originally a purely musical entertainment, which goes back to the year 1426 for its beginnings. Mr. Echols, in explanation, told his audience:

"Olivier Basselin, a French poet who dwelt in the Vire valley of northern France in the early 15th century, was the father of vaudeville. I have visited the old mill which he owned and which still bears his name. Here he composed many famous drinking songs which he called 'Voices of the Vire.'—Voix de Vire, corrupted later into vaudeville. He sang his songs all around France with a party of gay comrades or bachelors companions—the famous Compagnons Gallois or 'singing fools' of troubadour days. The songs which I have selected are all that tradition has preserved of Basselin's work, collected by musicians 150 years later."

Mr. Echols' account of the musical parentage of vaudeville is confirmed by the New York Evening Post, which comments: "South-west of the town of Vire in Normandy, the mill-run by Basselin, where a jolly fellows gathered together of nights and sang topical or satirical songs, is still to be seen with a faded sign reading 'Olivier-Basselin lived here.' Olivier was a thoroughly disreputable person from all accounts. A hard drinking miller with a prodigious

THROUGH ADVICE OF NEIGHBOR

Woman Tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

A neighbor advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which she said helped her so much. So I bought a few bottles and tried it out. It sure helped me wonderfully. I felt much better. My work is no longer a dread to me. If I hear of any one who is troubled the way I was, I will gladly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to her. I will answer any letters regarding to the same.—Mrs. Anna Meacham, 910 Center St., Lansing, Mich.

"I had been sickly every since I was fifteen years old. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I got so I could do all my housework and I am in good health."—Mrs. Marie K. Williams, Ketchikan, Alaska.

From Michigan to Alaska, from Maine to Oregon and from Connecticut to California letters are constantly being written by grateful women recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The Compound is made from roots and herbs and has been in use for over fifty years.

Paul's Episcopal church will meet at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. James Walton.
