

CONGOLEUM WEEK OPENS IN CITY

Merchants Combine in Interesting Window Displays of Goods

Local furniture stores have arranged displays for this week which is known as Congoelum week. Attractive displays have been arranged in the windows of Stiff's, Buren's and Giese-Powers' stores. Giese-Powers have quite a novel display. A fountain is built in the window from pieces of Congoelum. Water seems to be running out of a faucet over the center of the fountain but there is no pipe leading to the faucet. The thing that is puzzling the visitors is where does the water come from? Many guesses have been made but no one seems to know just where it comes from.

"I hereby serve notice through the press on Aimee Semple McPherson, Minnie L. Kennedy and her staff of attorneys that if any more slanderous attacks are made by them through statements to the press, to their audiences or over the radio on my integrity or my truthfulness as a witness, they will lay themselves liable to a libel suit." In view of the fact that the county records show that they paid taxes this year on property

Lambert's testimony regarding the evangelist had been supported by that of an employee of the hotel, who was a baptized member of Mrs. McPherson's flock, that he had seen her in the hotel at about the time mentioned by Lambert.

William and Arthur Teague, who had bratticed themselves to shut out the deadly "afterdamp," were found by rescuers in a dazed condition about 1,000 feet from the scene of the explosion.

At least three expert rescue crews of the United States bureau of mines, one traveling in a special rescue car, were sent here from adjacent points, bringing equipment to permit exploration in the vicinity of the blast. Workers described the mine as "very gaseous," but the extent of the damage had not been ascertained.
The explosion, the cause of which had not been determined tonight, rocked the mine about 10 a. m. today. A mine worker about two miles from the Rodgers entry, said he felt the blast and smelled gas.

SUZZALLO OUSTED FROM UNIVERSITY BY REGENTS

DEAN THOMSON EXPECTED TO BE NAMED SUCCESSOR

Hartley Appointees Unit in Action Against Head of State University

SEATTLE, Oct. 4. (AP.)—University of Washington regents tonight demanded the resignation of President Henry Suzzallo. They said Dean David Thomson of the college of liberal arts and faculties, would be named as his successor.

The regents issued the following statement:
"The majority of the board of regents, having an increasing conviction that politics should have far less prominence in the president's office of the university, and therefore, in its best interests, while fully appreciating the services and standing of Dr. Suzzallo as an educator and administrator feel called upon to ask his resignation. Affairs of the university will be managed by Dean Thomson until a new president is selected."

Thomson will take office tomorrow, it was announced. Behind the regents' action, political observers were almost unanimous in pointing out, lies dissensions between Governor Ronald H. Hartley and Suzzallo. Hartley last year announced proposed sweeping reforms in the educational system of the state. Suzzallo opposed them. In the legislature last winter representatives of the university and Hartley clashed over appropriations of which the institution sought.

Hartley, in speeches throughout the state, has personally denounced the university head. He has charged him with traveling for political purposes at the expense of the commonwealth. Suzzallo remained silent under these attacks.

A majority of the regents are appointees of Hartley, the ousted three of the board with an explanation that they had been guilty of "misconduct in office." Two other regents, whose terms had expired, were replaced by Hartley appointees. The board consists of seven.

NEW THOUGHT ON HIGHER EDUCATION IS EXPRESSED

morals and manners of the present college generation begins with a false assumption namely that a college community is essentially different from the ordinary community. It isn't. A college community is simply a cross section of the American community—of the American nation."

President Frank made it plain that he is not a member of the moral alarmist squad.
"The dominant tendencies of the American social order will be found in the college community," he said. "If there is a new freedom outside the college there will be a new freedom in college. If there is bootlegging outside college there will be a certain amount of bootlegging in college. Certain conditions are, of course, intensified in a college because youth is concentrated there; just as certain conditions will be intensified in a union league club because maturity is concentrated there.

"You cannot lift 8,000 human beings—young or old—out of a social order from which they have taken their tone and temper and make them over in six weeks by the extensive order of deans and university of presidents.
"When the morals and manners of a university generation begin to worry us, it behooves us to remember that these morals and manners are, after all, a product of American society in general more than of university society in particular."
