

ALLIES FAVOR USE OF AMERICAN CASH

Floatation of German Rail Bonds in U. S. Helps Stabilization

PARIS, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Floatation of German railroad, industrial and reparations bonds in the United States has become a settled policy of the principal continental allied countries entitled to reparations.

The French government, which formerly was adverse to the scheme because of the large sacrifices it would be obliged to make in order to render the securities attractive to American investors, now is sharply in favor of the scheme because of the ready cash in dollars the floatation of the bonds would make available for use in Premier Poincare's stabilization plans.

France, Italy, and Belgium, who have been especially interested in the project, have had the matter up at Washington. It was authoritatively learned today. They seek to persuade the American government to allow American banks to interest themselves in the project. It is understood the French used the argument that floating these bonds will make it easier for France to stabilize the franc and hence make the payment of war debts less burdensome.

Premier Poincare, it was said, on excellent authority, has given assurance to Washington that ratification of the Mellon-Berenger settlement of French war debts to the United States would be pushed in the hope of getting favorable action on it before the end of November.

one on top of the other. Ryan returned in kind, and the issue obliterated the course of evidence.

Throughout it all, Mrs. McPherson sat silent except at one point where she threw the charge, "that's a lie," back in the deputy's teeth.

Ryan had been telling of his conversation with the evangelist over a "crank" letter and had been asked who gave it to the press. He said Mrs. McPherson had done so.

Leaning forward in her chair, the Angelus temple leader exclaimed "Oh, that's a lie." Her attorney placed his hand on her arm to calm her and cross-examination proceeded.

Beside Mrs. McPherson sat her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, silent, tight-lipped, almost detached. She also is a defendant.

Near them, but not of their circle, was Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sieff. She too is one of the accused, but she has confessed that she plotted with the other two women to manufacture evidence aimed at proving the charges that the evangelist spent part of the time she alleges she was held by kidnapers with a man in a cottage at Carmel.

The man, Kenneth G. Ormiston, formerly radio operator at Angelus temple, as a fugitive from justice, jointly charged with the three women.

Late today, Ryan stepped from the witness box and was followed by Police Sergeant Loren Murchison of Douglas, Ariz., where Mrs. McPherson reappeared June 23, following her disappearance May 18.

Murchison sprang one sensational piece of testimony before court adjourned until Thursday.

The Arizona police officer swore that Mrs. McPherson's own description of her trek across the desert from the alleged kidnapers' shack showed that at no time had she been more than five miles from the international boundary line and seven miles from Agua Prieta. She had declared that she traveled 15 or 20 miles on foot.

On a map he designated a triangle within which the evangelist's footprints were found and where she said she had been. Its three sides were bounded by the Mexican border, a road and a high board fence. Mrs. McPherson had told him, he asserted, that she had not crossed any road nor had she gone through the fence. To get 15 miles from the boundary or from Agua Prieta and pass the points she said she had passed would have taken her through the fence or over the road, Murchison declared.

Considerable time went in the discussion of the numerous newspaper pictures taken at Douglas after Mrs. McPherson returned there from the desert. Defense counsel intimated that Ryan had a persistent desire to be in the foreground of these.

This brought another grin from the witness and the reply "there were a lot of pictures taken before I got there."

It was decided not to hold any session tomorrow as Defense Attorney Gilbert had important engagements elsewhere.

and Robert, his 15-year-old son, who received a bullet wound through his head in a serious condition in the New Brunswick hospital.

Kearney was on the way with his wife and son to visit another son, a student at Rutgers university.

He was shot dead by the bandit leader when he refused them a lift to New Brunswick. The son also was shot and all three were dragged from the car. Previous to that, Struyf, two companions and another motorist had fled the scene, the latter locking his ignition.

Before shooting the Kearneys, the leader shot his own companion through the shoulder because of the latter's reluctance to use force.

Racing toward New Brunswick, the bandits wrecked the Kearney machine in collision with a telephone pole. There they commandeered a farmer's automobile and forcing the owner out, proceeded to Stelton crossing, where they smashed through the Pennsylvania railroad gates and made their way to Newark on the Lincoln highway. The car was found abandoned, the seats covered with blood.

In the bandit machine on Stelton road was found two shotguns and a revolver.

ROYAL WARDROBE BOUGHT IN PARIS

Queen Marie and Daughter Ileana Make Rounds of Fashionable Shops

PARIS, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Queen Marie of Rumania arrived here this morning from Bucharest and before the shops had closed at nightfall she had begun to accumulate a new wardrobe for her forthcoming American tour.

Like any other tourist the queen spent several minutes in the lobby of the Hotel Ritz chatting with friends who greeted her on her arrival on the Simplon-Orient express, one of the continental crack trains. Her daughter, Princess Ileana, was her constant companion during their first few hours in the French capital, but young Prince Nicholas, her son, went out on his own accord to have a look around Paris.

The royal party was greeted at the railroad station by personal representatives of Premier Poincare and Foreign Minister Briand, by a general of the staff of the Elysee palace, who brought a bouquet from President Doumergue, and by the entire staff of the Rumanian legation in Paris. Having
