25 TIME FOR ACTION ON SUGAR FACTORY

"We are busy with our harvest now in this district and the field men are all very busy. We would be pleased to furnish a man to help if the interest seems to justify it, in which event we should send a man who is thoroughly posted and one who could explain all the conditions to the farmers." So writes J. W. Timpson, Washington manager of the Utah-Idaho Sugar company, from Bellingham, Wash., in answer to a letter suggesting that, in cooperation with the efforts of the Salem Chamber of Commerce, the Utah-Idaho people send a man to help in securing the contracts from the farmers—

And the kind of a man Mr. Timpson mentions is just the kind of a man who will be needed— But Mr. Timpson also says in his letter that the 1927 contracts of his company with growers are not out yet, and he suggests that the farmers in the various districts sign pledges in petition form indicating how many acres they will plant.

Something of that kind ought to be done— And there should be no delay. It is time for definite action, if we are to have a sugar factory to take care of the 1927 crop of the Willamette valley. There must be pledges of 8000 acres of the right kind of land, before building operations can begin on the factory.

Every community meeting in Marion county is showing intense interest in the matter. But there must be no lagging, if this project is not to go over another year. This is the most important thing now before our people. A beet sugar factory will do more than any other one thing to develop our dairying and live stock industries, and hence all other industries on the land, and by the same sign every worth while interest in our cities and towns.

And the proposed factory will not build itself. But it will be built for the mere contracting of 8000 acres of beets on the kind of land that will grow sugar beets successfully in this valley—

And we have a million acres of such land, and then some.

OREGON CANNOT AFFORD IT

The Editor of The Statesman has a letter, received yesterday, from one of the best posted men in political affairs in the United States, one sentence of which reads: "It looks to me as if the United States senate will be Democratic and the house of representatives very close, if not also Democratic."

That does not sound good, and every one who wishes for great prosperity and advancement in the United States ought to wish that the prediction may not come true, for if it does come true progressive legislation at Washington will be hampered; made subservient to political jockeying.

Oregon cannot afford to contribute to the possibility of adding to the Democratic majority in the senate. Our state has too much at stake, in a thousand ways. The voter in Oregon, whether Republican or Democrat, will best serve his state by marking his ballot for Frederick W. Steiwer. The alternative is a half vote or a whole one for a stalemate in progressive action at Washington—

For political monkey shines instead of straightforward work for the highest good of the country. As to the lower house, there is no danger of Oregon sending a Democrat to represent us there.

OUR GREAT CELERY INDUSTRY

Starting with a few rows of celery planted by one man, the Salem celery district Thursday shipped seven cars of this now famous product— One car booked for Florida.

The output from now on to Thanksgiving will be twelve cars a day, and the total fall shipments may reach to 1000 cars. This product goes to the markets on merit; it is a high quality product. The possibilities of the extension of the industry are still very great.

THE SANTIAM MINES

With their feet firmly on the ground, the men behind the mines on the Little North Fork of the Santiam are going forward; are doing actual mining, working on ore with proven value; not guessing at it.

The objective is a product concentrated for profitable shipment to the Tacoma smelter; a paying property— Then a smelter on the property. Then Salem will see a

PORTIA MANSFIELD DANCERS ACT HERE

Elsinore Theatre Offers Unusual Program in Conjunction With Film

Colorful and thrilling as an Arabian Night's dream is the program which the Portia Mansfield Dancers will present at the Elsinore theatre today and Sunday. These dancers present some of the finest dance work ever seen in this country and their program is a succession of varied and lovely pictures. They combine the vivacity of the Russian ballet with the plastic beauty of the Greek school. The result is so spectacular and brilliant in its rhythmic grace that it holds the audience spellbound by its sheer beauty. There are fifteen dancers in this wonderful ensemble of which Jeanne Fuller is the star. The featured members are Burt Harger, Helen Howell, Sylvia Vaughn and Mildred Wirt. "Variety," hailed as the finest film to arrive on these shores from Europe is the feature picture shown at the Elsinore in conjunction with the Portia Mansfield dancers. Emil Jannings and Lya de Putti are the feature players. While Jannings is well known in America for his performances in such pictures as "The Last Laugh" and "Passion," Miss de Putti is not entirely unknown either. Mr. D. W. Griffith, the great director, says Lya's work in "Variety" and immediately cast her for one of the leading roles in his latest Paramount picture, "The Sorrows of Satan." E. A. Dupont, known as the "Griffith of Europe," directed "Variety" for the Ufa Company. It is being released by Paramount.

GOVERNOR SUBMITS OLD SALARY CLAIMS

Statement to Secretary of State Lauds Present Work at Penitentiary

Governor Pierce yesterday submitted to the secretary of state revised salary claims at the Oregon state penitentiary aggregating $1774.60 drawn against the prison revolving fund. The secretary of state previously refused to approve these claims on grounds that they should have been drawn on the salary fund which was nearly exhausted.

In a statement sent to the state department the governor said it had been the custom at the prison during the summer to send out men, under gun guard, to work in the flax fields.

"I presume," read the governor's statement, "that the salaries of these guards should have been drawn against the flax fund. Through inadvertence their salaries were paid out of money appropriated for the general salaries of the penitentiary."

The remainder of the governor's statement was a laudation of activities at the prison under its present management. The governor has sole control of the institution.

SALEM YOUTH NOW EXPERT RIFLEMAN

Dallas E. Smith Stationed on Board U. S. S. West Virginia at Present

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Proving his skill in the use of firearms while at target practice, Dallas E. Smith of Salem, Or., recently qualified as an expert rifleman in an official target bulletin issued at marine corps headquarters. Dallas lived at the home of his father, Oscar J. Smith, 1715 N. Liberty street, Salem, before he joined the marine corps at Salem in February, 1926. In recent weeks he has been stationed on board the U. S. S. West Virginia, winning his qualification when the marines of that vessel came ashore for target practice. Target practices are held by the marine corps at frequent intervals, the men who qualify as expert riflemen or sharpshooters receiving medals and additional pay for their skill. Every man on the firing line strives to make high scores, not only for a medal and extra pay, but also for the keen sport of the shooting tests.

Forensic Society Holds First Meeting of Year

LIBERTY, Oct. 15.—(Special.) The Forensic society was organized Friday morning in the advanced room at school for the year 1926-27. The purpose of this organization is to give the students drill and practice in parliamentary law, teach them to take the initiative, give practice in debates and literary programs and serve as an educational diversion from the regular routine. The work of the society proved very beneficial and entertaining to the pupils last year and was enjoyed by many parents and patrons, who came as visitors. The opening meeting this year was called to order by the temporary chairman, Ellen Neuens, and the minutes of the previous meeting were read by the temporary secretary, Dorothy Judd. Magdalena Schmidt read a constitution, which had been prepared by a committee for that purpose. The constitution was similar to that of last year with the exception that the fifth, sixth and seventh grade pupils are to be associate members. The following officers were elected: Helen Adams, president; Lee Ohmart, vice president; James Wolfe, secretary-treasurer. The president appointed the following as members of the program committee: Dorothy Browning, Vivian Adams and Gene Mumford. The next meeting will be no Friday, November 5, and visitors are invited.

Estimates show that $2,000,000 was spent by tourists in Hood River valley this year.
