 Upper right: Mrs. Paul Doney and little daughter, Jean Marie, of Cambridge, Massachusetts, who were house-guests last week of Dr. and Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney at their home at 828 South Twelfth street. Mrs. Paul Doney will be remembered as Miss Lucy Holt, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G. E. Holt, of the First Baptist church. Jean Marie, who is ten and a half months old, will celebrate her first birthday on November 21 when she reaches her home in Cambridge where her father, the little son of Dr. and Mrs. Doney, is studying for his doctor's degree at Harvard. Jean Marie is the first grandchild of Dr. and Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney.
 Lower left: Mrs. Norman Kendall Tully, wife of Dr. Tully, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Mrs. Tully is leader of one of the Bible study classes which meets each Tuesday evening. The Tullys, who came to Salem from Racine, Wisconsin, make their home at the manse at 845 Chenebeka street.
 Lower right: Barbara Hope, the charming little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hathaway of 1240 Market street. Barbara Hope is three years of age.

will take place in Otto J. Wilson's garage on November 3, 4 and 5.
 Of exceptional interest will be the oriental booth of which Mrs. E. V. McMechan will be in charge. This booth will offer a display of oriental treasures, both expensive and inexpensive, which Mrs. Ruth B. Wheeler of Eugene brought from the orient and which she will offer through this unique booth on a commission basis.
 On Tuesday afternoon the public utility committee of the club will meet at the home of Mrs. Roy Burton to prepare articles for the bazaar. On Thursday the group will meet at the home of Mrs. S. M. Endicott for a similar purpose.
 The bazaar is being managed on such a large scale that it is hoped all Salem will feel a definite interest in its success. The proceeds will go toward the furnishing of a room in the new wing at the Salem hospital.

Mrs. Von Eschen Is Hostess at Distinctive Affair Honoring Teachers

One of the most distinctive, and in every way one of the most enjoyable, affairs to take place in a brimming week was the tea on yesterday afternoon at which Mrs. Florian Von Eschen was hostess at her home on Court street. Mrs. Von Eschen's guest group included the high school teachers, with whom she has been associated since her graduation from Willamette university, the lady principals in the Salem schools, and all additional teachers with whom Mrs. Von Eschen has taught during her own principalship.

More than seventy guests were included in the group.
 The living room, library, and dining room were all gorgeously decorated with many art baskets filled with autumn flowers and foliage. The tea room was particularly lovely: a blue and silver oblong basket, filled with seasonal flowers, and flanked with silver candle holders in which blue tapers burned, made the serving table lovely. In one corner of the room a magnificent basket of gladioli was featured, while in an adjoining room, on the mantel, a beautiful oblong basket of green and gold, with rings in each end, was filled with calendulas. In the library bronze art baskets were used, displaying a profusion of zinnias in the copper and henna shades.

Mrs. Von Eschen was assisted in the rooms by Miss Beryl Holt and Miss Leila Johnson, Miss Johnson inviting into the dining room where the guests were served in distinct groups.
 Mrs. George Hug and Miss Margaret Cosper presided at the tea table during the first hour. During the second hour Mrs. Chester C. Clark and Miss Adella Chapler presided.

Three members of the senior class of the Salem high school, who are neighborhood friends of Mrs. Von Eschen, assisted in the serving. Those three were Miss Rosalind Van Winkle, Miss Pauline Findley, and Miss Maxine Glover.

To a degree, the affair took the form of a delightful musical tea. Miss Lena Belle Tartar, Miss Neva Cooley, Mrs. Ermine Park, and Miss Amy Martin all gave songs and accorded encores.

Moroni Olsen Players will present on Thursday.

Mrs. Arthur Vassall Honors Sister From New York at Afternoon Tea

One of the loveliest autumn affairs given in Salem this month took place from 3 to 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Arthur Vassall entertained at tea honoring her sister, Mrs. Russell Creamer Langdon of New York.

Forty prominent matrons and maids were invited to meet Mrs. Langdon, wife of Major Langdon, U. S. A. Mrs. Langdon will be Mrs. Vassall's house-guest until Thursday.

Receiving with Mrs. Vassall, the hostess, and Mrs. Langdon, the honored guest, was Mrs. Walter Vassall of Dallas.
 Mrs. Russell Catlin and Mrs. Robert J. Hendricks presided at the urns which were placed on an exquisitely appointed table. The centerpiece and dollies were of Italian cut-work. A shower bouquet of Ophelia roses centered the table, while tall pink tapers were aglow in crystal candlesticks with bobèches and iridescent prisms.

Miss Henrietta Bishop and Miss Sarah Lansing assisted in the tea room.

American Association of University Women Open Auspicious Season

Successful in every detail was the 12:30 o'clock luncheon of yesterday which formally opened the winter season for the Salem branch of the American Association of University Women. Covers were placed for 80 guests at long tables arranged and decked with flowers in the Marion hotel dining room.

Mrs. George W. Hug, president of the association, presided in a gracious manner. Of particular interest in a business way was the announcement of the personnel of each standing committee for the new year. Plans were also made for three study classes.

The address of the afternoon which Major G. A. Robertson gave, was a notable contribution, reflecting considerable credit on the organization which made it possible to present such a program.

Major Robertson, profiting from an unusual opportunity to know the intricacies of the European situation, dealt with foreign politics in a manner that was of vast interest. Major Robertson spoke in a forceful, even startling way, dwelling on the origin of the war and of the outcome, which has been really horrible in many respects.

Miss Josephine Albert, accompanied by Miss Pauline Johnson, sang two solos which the group especially enjoyed. Miss Albert is a pupil of Lena Belle Tartar, who will have charge of the music for the year.

The three classes, organization of which is in competent hands, include a group in the study of the child of the pre-school age, with Mrs. C. A. Downs in charge; a class in literature, which Mrs. Eileen Fisher will conduct, and a class, if desired, in Spanish.

The literature class, which will meet at 7:30 o'clock the first and third Wednesdays of each month at the city library, will devote the first session to a study of "Dear Friends" by Gertrude Stein, which she arranged. Mrs. Lewis Griffith, Miss June Philpott, Miss Edith Pragg, Mrs. J. H. Lauterman and Miss Helen Pippy.

Educational committee, Mrs. Wm. Fordyce Fargo, chairman; Mrs. C. A. Downs, Mrs. A. M. Chapman, Mrs. Asa Fisher, Miss Dorothy Nicholson, and other class leaders as they may be named.

Miss Nicholson and Miss Fisher are joint chairmen of the literature class. Mrs. Chapman is the better films chairman.

Mrs. Lora Belle Tartar, trustee of scholarship loan fund, which has already been dispersed; Miss Frances M. Richards, senior member and chairman; Mrs. J. H. Lauterman and Mrs. E. C. Richards.

Program committee: Miss Leila Johnson, chairman; Miss Merle McKelvey, Mrs. Harry Percy and Mrs. Clifford Brown. Other committees will be announced later.

Brown, secretary. Mrs. Cartwright succeeds Mrs. McCall, and Mrs. Brown takes Mrs. Frank Spencer's place.
 Hostesses for the delightful affair Thursday were Mrs. Bishop, Mrs. R. B. Fleming and Mrs. B. C. Miles.
 Special guests, including Mrs. W. C. Hawley, Mrs. F. G. Franklin, Mrs. R. H. Grover of McMinnville, and Mrs. Robert Dann, were entertained during the afternoon.
 Many baskets of golden chrysanthemums, tributes which Mr. and Mrs. Bishop received on their fiftieth wedding anniversary, were used not only in decorating the rooms of the house, but also the veranda. In the refreshments, the Hallowe'en motif predominated.
 A short program was given during the afternoon, including a talk on her trip abroad by Mrs. F. G. Franklin, who exhibited attractive souvenirs obtained in the foreign countries; a piano number "Tam o' Shanter" by Mrs. W. F. McCall; and a reading by Mrs. Robert Dann on "Customs of Hallowe'en." Mrs. F. W. Spencer reported on the club activities of the past year.

 At the next meeting of the club, the second week in November, Mrs. W. F. McCall, Mrs. C. A. Park, and Mrs. M. M. Cusick will entertain the group at the annual breakfast at Mrs. McCall's attractive country home on the Wallace Road. Breakfast will be served at 11 o'clock.
 Members present for the meeting on Thursday were Mrs. H. B. Thielsen, Mrs. Russell Catlin, Mrs. S. C. Dyer, Mrs. M. M. Cusick, (Continued on page 2.)
