RECORD CROWD FOR EVANGELIST MOORE

Rev. Barney S. Moore, popularly known as the "Earthquake Evangelist," preached to an enthusiastic crowd which filled to overflowing the old Grand theater last evening. Evangelist Moore took for his text "God's Plan of Redemption for Mankind." The great throng were moved to tears as he related some of his personal experiences during the great Japanese earthquake of 1923, when over 500,000 people were swept into eternity within a few seconds' time.

The musical hour was unusually bright, featuring the "Clark Singers," Edith M. Clark, lyric soprano soloist, and S. K. Clark, male soprano soloist; Marie Moore, contralto; Phillip Kerr, pianist, assisted by the Alliance choir and stringed orchestra, ably directed by Edith M. Clark. The party quartet's rendition of a jubilee number entitled, "I Ain't Goin' to Study War No More," met with great applause and several encores were called. S. K. Clark thrilled the audience with one of his favorite numbers, "Wounded for Our Transgressions," and Edith M. Clark sang "My Heavenly Father Watches Over Me."

This evening Evangelist Moore announces a special sermon on "How to Keep Well." A record crowd is predicted, and the sick and ailing will be prayed for.

COMMUNITY CLUBS FOR COUNTY AGENT

Organizations Would Unite Work of Agent With That of Fruit Inspector

Community clubs throughout Marion county are expressing themselves as strongly in favor of a county agent for 1927. The sentiment is gaining such headway that, according to reports from the rural districts, almost every community club in the county will soon be on record favoring a county agent who will also attend to the duties of county fruit inspector, as is now the case in Polk county.

The first club to go on record was Aumsville at its meeting held October 5, where it was unanimously voted that the community favors a county agent.

On the following evening the Aurora Community club voted unanimously in favor of a county agent who would combine the work with that of the county fruit inspector.

Salem Heights Community club, at its meeting October 8, followed in line with other communities, voting unanimously in favor of Marion county having a county agent, beginning with 1927.

At an enthusiastic meeting held in Hubbard October 15, where the president of the Community club asked opinions from all present, it was the unanimous opinion that Marion county should enjoy the services of a county agent and line up with the other progressive counties in the state.

The Marion Community club, at its session last Friday evening, also lined up with other communities, voting in favor of the appointment of a county agent for next year, who will also care for fruit inspection work.

By adding $1400 to the present cost of a county fruit inspector, Marion county could secure the services of a county agent who would not only perform the duties of a fruit inspector, but aid farmers, and especially dairymen, in practical ways as is now done by the 25 county agents in the state. Out of 36 counties in the state, 25 are now employing county agents, and according to reports, will continue the services of a county agent next year.

According to reports from Polk county, A. R. Spillman, the county agent, acting also as fruit inspector, conducted a very effective campaign in controlling horticultural pests, especially in the case of the cherry fruit fly.

RAFFETY REPORTS 2828 ACCIDENTS

Fourteen Persons Killed During Month, Reckless Driving Blamed

Fourteen persons were killed while 346 persons were injured in a total of 2828 traffic accidents in the state of Oregon during the month of September, according to a report prepared here yesterday by T. A. Raffety, chief inspector for the state motor vehicle department. Reckless driving was blamed for 1375 of the accidents reported.

The report showed an aggregate of 358 arrests during the month with 72 cases still pending in the courts. Approximately 160 of the arrests were on charges of speeding, while 20 drivers were arrested for reckless operation of their cars. Switched license plates resulted in 16 arrests, while 14 drivers were charged with having improper lights.

Delinquent fees, collected as the result of the activities of the state traffic officers aggregated $2177.12, while the resale value of stolen cars recovered totaled $4125. Fines in the amount of $38,94.15 were imposed for traffic violations, while fines imposed for other offenses aggregated $1667.50.

The state traffic officers covered 63,611 miles during the month and visited a total of 2570 towns and cities. Drivers of 419 cars from outside of Oregon were directed to register and in six cases operators were found to have no title of ownership for their machines.

In addition to traffic duties the state officers collected four worthless checks and warned more than 1000 drivers regarding minor offenses.

The report indicated that besides patrolling the state highways during the month the officers assisted in handling traffic at the state fair, and conducted a number of motor caravans through the state.
