

AIMEE IS FACED BY NEW WITNESS

Woman Says Ormiston's Carmel Companion Was "Religious Woman"

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 2.—(AP)—A new witness who says she talked with the mystery woman who occupied a cottage at Carmel with Kenneth G. Ormiston, fugitive radio man, today entered the Aimee Semple McPherson case, when a letter was received by District Attorney Asa Keyes from Miss Alice M. Ammerer, of Oakland. She is expected to provide the pivotal evidence in the solution of the evangelist's mysterious disappearance.

Miss Ammerer, in her letter to the authorities, declared that the woman who occupied the Carmel cottage last May was "a religious woman." She enclosed a book given her by the woman.

The authorities maintain that Ormiston's companion was Mrs. McPherson. The Oakland witness reads:

"I spent two weeks in Carmel last May and while out walking slipped and fell. A woman came out of a house there and helped me pick up the contents of my vanity case and while I rested, a white woman came and asked me if I belonged to a church. I said "No" and she said I ought to be a Christian.

"She spoke admirably of the blue silk dress I wore and said blue was her favorite color. She asked me to wait a moment and brought out a book saying it would be helpful to me."

"I took the book and opened it to look at the first page. There was some writing but before I could see what it was she quickly took the book from my hands and tore out the page saying I did not need that.

"I thought no more of the matter until a few days ago when I was again in Carmel for the week-end before leaving for my home in Oakland. I spoke about a lady giving me a religious book when my aunt said she believed the place where I fell was in front of the Benedict cottage (the house

"I would not be a witness in this affair for the world and don't want this book. I don't see that it is of any use to you except to show that the woman in that cottage on that Sunday in last May was a religious woman. Anyway, at my aunt's suggestion I am sending the book to you. Respectfully,

"Alice M. Ammerer."

The book sent to Keyes by Miss Ammerer was entitled "The Divine Plan of the Ages for Bible Students." It showed, investigators said, that the first leaf had been torn out.

The district attorney ordered investigators to leave for Oakland at once to interview the new witness. They were to take with them photographs of the Angelus Temple evangelist.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 2.—(AP)—The Aimee Semple McPherson case, relegated to the background by elections, simmered down to a study in baggage today.

While District Attorney Asa Keyes and his aides ploughed their way through more than three score pieces of feminine finery taken from a trunk which arrived yesterday from New York, in an effort to find clues, word came from Oakland of still another trunk which was said to contain the first is alleged to contain, clothing owned by the Angelus Temple pastor.

The information from District Attorney Warren of Oakland was that he was in touch with a woman who had knowledge of garments bought by Mrs. McPherson in Los Angeles which do not tally with those found in the blue trunk shipped here from the east.

Despite the fact that the sizes of expensive shoes found in the New York trunk did not correspond to the size usually bought by the evangelist, Keyes reiterated that he had sufficient evidence from the luggage to prove that Mrs. McPherson was the woman who spent 10 days in Carmel last May with her former radio operator, Kenneth G. Ormiston, fugitive co-defendant in the case.

Tomorrow final arguments will be heard in the preliminary hearing of Mrs. McPherson, her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, and Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sleaff, the latter a defendant and state witness as well. Today the two women leaders of Angelus Temple spent a quiet day at the beach and came in later to mark their ballots at the precinct polling booth in the shadow of the $500,000 edifice where they hold their revival meetings.

Astrid First Swedish Queen to Rule Belgium

BRUSSELS.—(AP)—The Duke of Brabant, who is about to marry Princess Astrid of Sweden, will be Belgium's fourth king, if he lives to succeed his distinguished father. And the Swedish princess will be the first Scandinavian queen of little Belgium. King Albert is the third king who has sat on the Belgian throne.

Leopold I, the king of Belgium, was originally married to Princess Charlotte of Great Britain. But that was before he became king. The wife who shared the throne with him was Louise, eldest daughter of Louis Philippe, king of France. Leopold II was married to Maria Henrietta Archduchess of Austria, and King Albert married Elisabeth, daughter of Duke Karl Theodore, of Bavaria.

AMERICAN MOVIES POPULAR IN JAPAN

Love Dramas and Wild West Shows Draw Biggest Audiences in Nippon

TOKYO, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Popularity of the American moving picture is a problem for the Japanese producers and theatre owners.

Their efforts to win the public away from the foreign-made films thus far has met with but little success, although the native producers are continuing their campaign for the home-made variety.

Picture makers here released 36,785,000 feet of Japan-made film last year. During the same time 13,238,000 feet of pictures was imported—mostly from America.

Love dramas, comedies and "westerns" are the American films most popular in Japan. But at the same time the Japanese public likes its own films depicting important historical events of Nippon. These productions are devoid of any humor whatever and usually consist of scenes after scenes of gory drama.

The American films shown in Japan are generally understood by the Oriental "fans" to truly represent life as it is lived in the United States. That there are no real pictures of "wild west cowboys" and "bad men" of the frontier type, as shown by the imported films, would not be believed by the natives who nightly flock to the theatres. "Society" dramas as well as "westerns" cause the Japanese to smile and wonder at the "absurd" doings of the "funny Americans."

But the picture theatre business apparently is good in Japan right now. Official figures disclose that some 4,400,000 feet of film are shown to the audiences daily. Every theatre has its interlocutor who, perched in front on a specially constructed dais, reads the subtitles loudly and also describes, at times, the action of the play for the benefit of those who may not understand.

LANDES RECOVERS CAR

THIEF PREFERRED CANDY TO VALUABLE JEWELRY

The car stolen Tuesday night from Fred Landes of Portland was recovered by local police yesterday where the thief had abandoned it. Jewelry valued at $2000 in the car had not been touched, although the thief had taken several candy samples.

The car was stolen from Liberty street late Tuesday and found yesterday morning at the Fourteenth street playground. Someone had sat on the case containing the jewelry and crushed it, but apparently had not seen the contents.

Landes, who had spent a sleepless night, was so relieved that he left candy and cigars at police headquarters.

CONVICTS SHOT DOWN

HONDURAS AUTHORITIES CAPTURE FUGITIVES

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 2.—(AP)—The story of the shooting of ten convicts in the public square at Cagua Honduras and the suicide of one of the United States consular was related today by members of the crew of the Vaccaro brothers fruit ship Amapala which docked here.

An American destroyer yesterday was ordered from Bluefields, N. C. to Honduras at the request of the American consulate at Cagua.

Members of the Amapala's crew said that ten of the 200 convicts who escaped, taking three machine guns, were captured by authorities lined up in the square at Cagua and shot one after the other.

Any of the convicts caught are immediately executed they said. "The leader surrendered to the American consul," one member said "and pleaded for just trial at the hands of any authorized tribunal. The consul wired to Washington and received an answer directing him to turn the convict over to the Honduran authorities. "When the wire came the convict was in the consul's room. He glanced over the type casually, then reached over the consul's desk, picked up a revolver lying there and shot his own brains out."

One of the weighty considerations in the judge's decision was the response of prospective jurors to the judge's questions as to how many of them had formed opinions. About 80 per cent of the veniremen held up their hands, and when the judge asked how many did not have a fixed opinion only a few put up their hands.
