

"OHIO" AND "ORCA" FOR OREGON MEN

Legionnaires to Embark at New York City on September 2 and 7

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — (Special)—Assignments of the ocean liners Ohio and Orca by the Royal Mail Line to transport the American Legion delegation from Oregon to France and return for the ninth annual convention of the Legion to be held in September of 1927 was announced today by Bowman Elmer, national chairman of the France convention committee.

Oregon Legionnaires, Paris bound, will embark at New York City and land at Cherbourg. The Ohio will sail on September 2 and the Orca September 7.

Carl R. Moore, 207 Chamber of Commerce, Portland, Ore., will represent the France convention committee of the Legion in Oregon. The France convention committee has prepared a two-color steamship folder giving the travel details for the Oregon Legionnaires. Requests for the folder should be addressed to the France convention officer.

Announcement was made today that slightly more than 1000 essays in the national contest on "Why I want to go to France with the American Legion in 1927," were submitted. The contest was conducted by the Royal Mail Line whose luxurious trans-Atlantic steamers will carry the Legionnaires from Oregon to France and return. The contest closed November 15, and the prizes of $350, $150 and $100 will be awarded. The judges are William Allen White, author, Richard Henry Little, cartoonist, and Frederick Palmer, war correspondent.

Oregon Legionnaires convention bound will pay one fare for the round trip from their home town to New York City under the advantageous rates secured by John Wickers, Jr., national travel director of the France convention committee. The railroad fare from Salem to New York City and return is $108.90 and the time 94 hours.

Among the first reservations received at national headquarters were those of John J. Pershing, wartime commander of the A. E. F., and Howard P. Savage, new national commander of the Legion. Reservations are coming in from the remnants of every outfit that was mustered through the World war.

Extremely low travel rates have been obtained for the trans-Atlantic journey. Round trip steamship fares range from $145 to $270 on most of the ships. Foreign railroads have granted substantial reductions. Passports and visas will be eliminated by the use of special American Legion identification certificates. Housing in Paris, including bed for seven nights and tips range from $10 to $49 depending upon the grade of accommodations selected. Battlefield cemetery trips range from $5 to $18.60. By accepting the cheapest accommodation throughout, the total of round trip steamship, railroad and foreign port to Paris and back, seven nights housing in Paris, and a battlefield and cemetery tour, with an allowance for meals in Paris, will aggregate $175. Of course this is the minimum rate accommodation only, and the cost gradually increases for the better grade accommodations. The average trip will cost about $300.

It is estimated that the minimum of time required to make the Paris journey from the port of embarkation on this side to the convention city, one week in Paris and return to the port of embarkation in the United States will be four weeks. The actual time required will be modified by the distance the Legionnaire lives from the ports of embarkation and the time he desires to spend abroad after the convention. Reservations for the Paris journey will be made commencing Nov. 15. Housing facilities in Paris and steamship facilities limit the number of Legionnaires who can make the journey to 30,000. The national travel director advises Legionnaires desiring to make the France convention trip to get their reservations promptly in order that they may be assured of a place with their state delegations.

QUEEN ENDS TOUR WITH HECTIC DAY

ILEANA DINEN WITH CADETS AT WEST POINT

Caterers Serve Picnic Meals as Tug Carries Party Around Harbor

NEW YORK, Nov. 23—(AP)—Queen Marie's American tour came to a close tonight after another hectic day of sightseeing by land and water and a radio speech in which she said goodbye to hundreds of thousands who watched her progress across the country.

having arranged to board the ship tonight after a farewell dinner at the Vincent Astor home.

The day's program separated and reunited Marie, Prince Nicolas and Princess Ileana at intervals, the prince joining his mother after a late sleep and an inspection of the Charles E. Mitchell Tuxedo home, where the royal party has lived, and Ileana meeting them after a motor trip to West Point, where she had lunch with a few cadets.

Although the last day of the American visit was crowded with scheduled events, it nevertheless afforded Marie one of the most informal and restful periods of her tour. The opportunity to momentarily forget her royal position came during the few hours of her trip around the harbor aboard the tug Charlie White of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey.

While the tug chugged and wheezed along the waterfront to Bayonne, N. J., and back to the New York Yacht club pier, special caterers served the meal picnic fashion. It was a brand new experience for the queen, caterers and tug alike.

TEN COAL MINERS BELIEVED KILLED

RESCUE WORKER KEPT FROM SHAFT BY EXPLOSIONS

Crowds of Relatives and Friends of Missing Men Wait Near Mine

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Nov. 23. (AP)—Ten miners are believed to have been killed by deadly gas, following an explosion early today in the McGillivray creek mine near here.

Fire sweeping the workings tonight preventing rescue work. Recurring explosions prevented a search for bodies after two had been removed.

Twenty-eight men were in the mine when the gas and dust exploded. Eighteen made their way safely to the surface. Rescue crews later removed two bodies, located a third and announced that little hope was entertained that any of the seven men unaccounted for would be found alive.

The identified dead are: A. Leitch and R. Farrell, miners.

The missing: S. White, fire boss; Tom Young, M. Yurik, W. Pysk, J. Ukrainetz, Alex Morris, D. Meek, G. Johnson, (one of them known to be dead.)

The theory that the men met death from the deadly after damp was advanced when rescue workers reported that the three bodies were found in positions which indicated that the men had been making frantic efforts to reach the surface when overcome by gas. That the recurring explosions prevented an extended search by rescue squads. Dense clouds of gas permeated the workings and the mine took fire following a particularly heavy explosion this afternoon. Mine Inspector Johnson immediately ordered rescue teams to remain at the surface.

Crowds of relatives and friends of the missing men remained at the head of the shaft tonight. The McGillivray creek coal mine is one of the largest in the Alberta bituminous field. The damage to the mine was not extensive.

SPECIAL METHODIST REVIVALISTS ACTIVE

Evangelist Mahood Aply Assisted By Two Daughters in Revival Work

The Mahood Fellowship meetings opened last night at the First Methodist church with Dr. J. W. Mahood in charge.

Dr. Mahood was here seven years ago and made a host of friends with his pleasing personality and his earnest, intelligent Christianity. It was the recollection of his fine services in the past that led to his re-engagement for the present series. He is an old associate of President Doney of Willamette university, the two having worked together in West Virginia 30 years ago.

Dr. Mahood is accompanied by his two daughters, Etta Mahood is a lecturer and physician, and her health and social talks for women, to be given each afternoon, are of high class. She is to conduct a series of Bible studies each evening at 7 o'clock. Ruth Mahood, a graduate of Toronto Conservatory, and an accomplished musician, is to have full charge of the music. She will be pianist as necessary, and chorus director. She will have a junior choir, that meets each afternoon at 4 o'clock. The services last night were largely preliminary. Each of the church organizations gave a greeting to the new leader. Mrs. Grace Carruthers spoke for the General Aid society; H. S. Shank spoke for the Sunday school; A. A. Lee represented the church official board; Mrs. G. H. Alden gave the greetings of the Home Missionary society; Mrs. Hollenberg presided over the pledge for the support of the Foreign Missionary society; Pauline Findley pledged the backing of the Epworth league. Dr. J. M. Carse spoke for Kimball School of Theology, and President Carl Gregg Doney for Willamette university.

The regular program will comprise an address at 2:30 by Dr. Mahood; health talks for women at 3:30; children's chorus at 4 o'clock; Bible study at 7 o'clock, and evening sermon at 7:30.

Mr. Mahood is a fine, friendly, magnetic speaker, a keen observer, with enough humor to make his sermons brilliant, while still profoundly spiritual. With the record of his former success here, and the assistance of his two brilliant daughters, and the backing of the whole First church, the two weeks series promises to be a notable success.

BEARCATS LEAVE TO PLAY WHITMAN

Twenty-Five Players and Coaches Depart With Intention of Winning

With the whole student body at the station to see them off, a crew of 25 fighting Bearcats from Willamette university left yesterday afternoon for Walla Walla, where they will meet the Whitman Missionaries in the final Northwest conference football game of the season Saturday afternoon. Coach Spec Keene and Leslie Sparks and Weatherford, trainer, accompanied the team.

Three first string men are not expected to get into the game because of injuries. Coach Keene stated yesterday, French, halfback, cut his leg a few days ago and will not even make the trip. Jungblom, halfback or quarterback, is suffering from an injury that will keep him out of the game although he will make the trip. Cranor, end, was hurt in practice Monday night and may not be able to play. He will not start the game.

The team expects to win the game, however, and end the season with a big victory. It has done better this season under Coach Keene's instructions than it has for many years. It won from Pacific university, its oldest and dearest rival, and came within a close margin of beating the College of Puget Sound, considered the class of the conference.

The team has improved considerably since the CPS game in spite of three weeks of inactivity. It has acquired more speed and precision in running off its plays, and there probably will be none of the hesitation that proved so costly in the CPS game.

The strong Willamette forward wall, one of the best in the conference, is expected to give the Bearcats a slight edge against their opponents. The linemen this year are the best in several seasons, and have an anchor in Bican, the big center, that is accounted the equal of many coast conference centers.

Men who made the trip to Walla Walla are: Rhodes, Bican, Hartley, Cranor, Ferguson, Lang, McKenzie, McMullen, Ruch, Schofield, Woodworth, Zeller, Cloninger, Campbell, Nakanno, Mumford, Winslow, Mort, Waddill, Mahoney, Bennett, Jungblom, Herman, and Robertson.

The starting lineup, as tentatively announced, is as follows:

Willamette	REL	Whitman
Ruch	REL	Gardner
Hartley	RTL	Rertel
Woodworth	RGL	Reed
Bican	C	(c) Smith
Mort	LGR	Warwick
Rhodes	(c) LTR	Kaley
