

ZONING COMMISSION FROWN UPON PUMPS

Group Feels No Right for Giving City Property as Market Place

The future policy of the city zoning and planning commission will be to refuse to recommend installation of gasoline curb pumps. It was indicated last night at the commission's meeting, when the application of the Capitol Motors company for two such pumps was considered.

The application was granted, with the condition that no precedent was being set, and that the commission was not in accord with the practice. It was felt that since other such pumps had recently been granted, the commission could not in fairness turn down this application.

Reason for this opinion, as stated by Louis Campbell, chairman of the commission, is that it is not right to grant the city property for selling gasoline any more than it is for selling vegetables, groceries or any other merchandise.

An application by John Williamson for erecting three buildings, one a store and the other two apartments, at the intersection of the road and Capitol street, was granted, subject to the ordinance which governs such buildings. The plans as submitted by Mr. Williamson show three proposed buildings adjoining each other, each two stories high, with 10 garages, a swimming pool, courtyard, and a separate heating plant.

Thursday night was set as the date for consideration of an application by A. L. Hirksekorn for erection of a laundry.

An application by W. C. Moore for erection of an apartment house, was sent back to have the plans revised to comply with the 19-foot setback rule.

EX-JOLIET WARDEN DIES

Whitman Gained Wide Reputation for Humane Treatment

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—(AP)—John L. Whitman, 64, former warden of Joliet penitentiary, whose advocacy of humane treatment of convicts gained him a nation-wide reputation as a penologist, died in a hospital here today after several weeks' illness with heart disease.

Mr. Whitman suffered a breakdown shortly after he was forced to retire as warden at Joliet last summer on the recommendation of a grand jury which investigated the slaying of a deputy warden and the escape of seven prisoners, six of whom have since been caught, tried and sentenced to be hanged. During the investigation Whitman's humanitarian methods, and particularly the prison "honor farm" which he introduced, were under fire. Physicians said that the criticism affected his health.

FINE COOKING SCHOOL

The women who attend are free to suggest, as well as to question, their leader.

The sessions will open at 2 o'clock and close at 4:30. The doors of the theatre will open at 1:30, assuring early comers the best of seats. Each woman is asked to come provided with pencil and paper.

Two electric ranges will be in use by the competent cooking authority to provide double cooking capacity.

Various merchants of Salem have cooperated in the fitting of a model kitchen with all modern equipment which will be open for inspection at the close of the lesson. Each day Miss Beyer will arrange a dining table, appropriately appointed.

This afternoon the table will bear correct china, silver, and flowers for a breakfast at home. Tomorrow the table will be set for luncheon; on Thursday for a party, and on Friday for dinner.

Today Miss Beyer will specialize on the making of French pastries, which are especially delightful when served at afternoon parties. In addition, she will make a pie and a yellow Christmas fruit cake. These will be baked, and samples distributed.

Printed recipes of value to the housewife will be given to those who attend the school.

On Wednesday Miss Beyer will consider salads and salad accompaniments, exceedingly important elements on any menu.

On Thursday, in addition to a presentation of Sunday luncheon menus, Miss Beyer will prepare the Christmas turkey for roasting on the day following. Christmas dinner dishes, then, will be Friday's specialty.

No admission will be charged since this is a favor to the community planned by The Statesman, a Hoosier cabinet and two Hoosier tables, are being furnished by the Giese-Powers Furniture company, a dining room set by H. Confiscated Liquor Never Used Says Ex-Prohib Director

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13.—(AP)—"During all the time I was prohibition administrator I never once consumed a drop of liquor confiscated by the government nor did any of my friends drink it nor did any of my friends get any of it."

This was the answer of Colonel Ned Green, deposed prohibition administrator for northern California and Nevada, when he took the stand in the United States district court here today to answer charges of having diverted to his own use intoxicating liquors seized by the government in raids on bootlegging establishments.

Squarely facing the jury box Colonel Green delivered his statement with deliberate emphasis.
