in all of her demonstrations. She knows from long experience and so do millions of housewives that Calumet, the Double Acting Baking Powder, never fails to produce the best results—that it is always the same—always reliable. You will enjoy it immensely and you will go home with new bake-day hints and ideas that will enable you to make much better bakings—bakings of greater food value—bakings of finer flavor. Come!

DOUBLE ACTING

to the growers, above their guaranteed first payment, for their beans.

Some of the growers of that section sell their beans to buyers for the Portland market, who call with their trucks for the beans, and pay $130 a ton for them. It is understood that the buyers get as high as $170 a ton on the Portland markets.

With a suitable soil and irrigation, the beans of that section make a rapid growth, and, being picked often, they are tender and succulent. They make a wonderful product for the family trade, and, by the same sign, they are a fine canning bean. They can be taken right out of the can and put on the table, ready for eating, without a second cooking. These beans bear in the markets the designation of the Santiam Valley brand.

There are frequent yields of six to seven tons of Kentucky Wonder beans to the acre in that district. The record yield was last year, for West Stayton, where Oscar Stoll picked eight and a fourth tons from one acre. He did not do quite as well this year; got about seven tons to the acre. There was some waste, owing to rainy weather in picking time.

Should Grow More

That section of Marion county should grow a much greater acreage of beans, and no doubt it will in time. There are literally thousands of acres of land in the irrigated and irrigable districts of the Santiam section that will produce bumper crops of beans. Several large canneries could be supplied from the possible tonnage on that land; or even a small proportion of it.

OREGON

For that district is not by any means confined to beans. It produces a fine canning tomato, and the Stayton cooperative cannery is taking a large tonnage each year. Also, fine mint is grown there, and flax, and nearly every other crop usually produced in the Willamette valley.

The examples already shown lead many people to believe that 10 acres of irrigated land, such as is found in the Santiam section, is preferable to 100 acres of average land that cannot be irrigated.

CHEER FOR ORPHAN HOME

State Departments Raise $32 to Secure Candy and Nuts

Employees of the state industrial accident commission, public service commission and insurance department at the state house contributed a fund of more than $32 to provide Christmas cheer for the orphan children on the farm home at Corvallis this year. In a letter accompanying the fund, it was suggested that the money be spent for candy and nuts for the children. For the past four years, or since the creation of the Corvallis orphan home, these state departments have been remembering the children at Christmas time. Ordinarily they have purchased candy and nuts here with which to fill attractive bags which have been sent to the home but this year it was thought best to send the money and let the officials of the Home make their own purchases for the children.
