Harry C. White, just elected president of the American Toy Manufacturers association at New York and known as "The Santa Claus of Santa Clauses," poses on four-wheel chariot prior to distributing toys.

tin predicts a decrease in such separations within the decade, "because the courtships and marriages of today are conducted and entered into with a much more honest understanding of what they are all about."

Disclaiming any intention of picturing flappers as not doing anything to merit censure, "she has undoubtedly exaggerated sex to some extent," he says. "Mr. Martin classes them as pioneers in social honesty."

"Society itself is happier for the elimination of the old stupid conventions," he says. "It is not so smart as it once was—in the sense that smartness is exclusiveness—but it certainly is a lot more fun."

tion to raising the standard of quality of the fruits marketed.

Paul V. Maris, director of the OAC extension service, opened the afternoon program with a forceful and comprehensive talk on "Producing for the Market." Mr. Maris is an extemporaneous speaker of rare ability and his address was greatly appreciated. C. J. Hurd, marketing specialist of OAC, spoke on "Public Markets," giving information of much value to the grower. R. H. Kipp of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, arrived a little late but his talk on "The Market Outlet for Small Fruits and Vegetables" proved well worth waiting for. D. H. Gilson of Seattle made an interesting address on "The Barreling Industry."

The program for the meeting Friday, which will be held in the chamber of commerce rooms, will include an address by Joseph Wilcox, OAC, on "Bulb Insects." Prof. M. B. McKay, OAC, will talk on "Bulb Diseases." In the afternoon Arthur Bowman of Portland will speak on "Bulbs," and W. C. Franklin of Salem on "Growing and Handling Bulbs."

PROPERTY BILL DEBATED
German and American Nationals May Get Money

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Described both as "fair" and "miserable" compromise, the alien property bill was debated in the house today under a program calling for a vote on passage tomorrow.

Designed to settle claims of American and German nationals and to dispose of property held by the alien property custodian, the bill was declared by Representative Cox, Georgia, to reject the American policy of non-confiscation.

Chairman Green of the ways and means committee, which drafted the measure, defined it as a compromise approved by claimants as well as the entire committee.

tees from Polk and Yamhill county relative to furtherance of the campaign. The appointees of Marion county who will assist in this work are: Dr. P. A. Loar, Silverton; Dr. Gerald Smith, Woodburn; Dr. Dowd, Gervais; Dr. J. O. Van Winkle, Jefferson; and Dr. W. W. Allen of Mill City. The appointees made so far in Yamhill and Polk counties are: Dr. W. H. Barendrick of Yamhill and Drs. A. B. Starbuck and Knott of Polk.

Plans were completed for a comprehensive drive against diphtheria which include a number of clinics to be held in various parts of the county in which Dr. Douglass will be assisted by the local physicians. Clinics have been arranged so far for Gervais, Scotts Mills and Stayton. Announcements of others will be made later.

Health officer Dr. Walter W.

Brown believing an ounce of prevention to be better than a pound of cure has been working on this immunizing campaign since his arrival here and now feels that some definite progress is being made. The mortality in Marion county from diphtheria has so far this year been less than one half of that last year and once the immunizing plan has been thoroughly organized in the three counties Dr. Brown is sure that the disease will be entirely stamped out in this section.

SOCIETY MORE FUN THANKS TO FLAPPER

Such Is Opinion of Bradley Martin, Member of New York's Aristocracy

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Society is not so aristocratic as it once was, but it's lots more fun, and the flapper is the one to thank for that, in the opinion of Bradley Martin, member of New York's old aristocracy.

"That gay, life-loving, forthright creature whom we call the flapper," he is quoted in an interview in the January issue of McClure's Magazine, "is more honest in her attitude than her mother was and much more honest than her grandmother dared be. For that reason, particularly, I approve of her."

The name of Bradley Martin has long been socially prominent both in this country and in England. The parents of the present Bradley Martin were outstanding social leaders in the last half of the past century.

The present Bradley Martin is uncle of the Earl of Craven, who figured in a divorce case with the Countess Cathcart, and who left this country for Canada to "avoid undesirable publicity," immediately after immigration officials had telegraphed Washington for a warrant for her arrest on a moral turpitude charge.

"Whatever her faults," says Mr. Bradley in his interview, "the flapper is ready to accept and acknowledge the truth of loving, which is the greatest forward step any generation has taken."

The difference between present day girls and their mothers, he says, is that in the decades before the war "it was not good form to admit possessing such feelings."

"In other words," he says, "it was good form to pretend to lie. Dishonesty was at a premium above frankness with regard to personal feelings."

Commenting that we are suffering now from an avalanche of divorces, "due to the sentimentality of pre-war brides," Mr. Mar-
