

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF

Teachers' Examinations Held—
Mrs. Mary Fulkerson, county school superintendent, in commenting upon the state teachers' examinations which recently closed here, made the statement that the enrollment was the smallest experienced in some years, and attributed the fact to the excellent work being done in the state normal schools. Teachers taking the normal courses are not required to pass examinations for first year work.

Things for the Poor—
The store room of the Associated Charities Saturday closely resembled a miniature department store after an earthquake. Articles of food and clothing of every imaginable description were piled helter-skelter. Donations from the three schools, before mentioned, came in so fast it was impossible to arrange or sort them. To the average eye this collection would appear merely as a heterogeneous pile of junk, but to Mrs. Mae Young it was a glittering gold mine, representing, wholesome food and warm clothing in quantities to last for some days for the poor who she has in charge.

Decree Rendered—
A decree was rendered in the circuit court Saturday in the case of Fred Feller vs. unknown heirs of Susan Perrot, Delos Jefferson and Matilda Jefferson. The court findings was in favor of the plaintiff.
