UNCLE SAM THE GOOD SAMARITAN. "Cast thy bread upon the waters; for thou shalt find it after many days."—Ecc. 11:1.

Clyde F. Armitage, who has just returned from a study of religious conditions in the Near East, reports great religious changes in the attitude of all the peoples of that section of the world toward the people of the West...

The exemplification of the life and teachings of Jesus in this unselfish giving of our money to help these poor people in their need has accomplished more in a few short years to induce them to turn to us for instruction and guidance in matters religious than a century of faithful and patient missionary labor.

Mr. Armitage also reports that another cause of this changed attitude is the fact that many of the agencies of the Protestant denominations in the Near East have abandoned their sectarian attitude and have freely and harmoniously cooperated in their Near East relief work.

The work of this new Correlation committee in the Near East, representing not only American Protestant organizations but also the two churches of the Near East, the Greek and the Armenian churches, will doubtless be followed with interest by all Christians interested in missionary work.

And the same kind of correlation is taking place in the Far East; in China and Japan and India and the Philippines—In China and Japan and the Philippines partly under the direction of the Y. M. C. A., and in India partly under the same direction, and largely through the life and the influence of Gandhi, who sways the thought of over 300,000,000 of his people, and whose creed is embodied in the Sermon on the Mount, the platform early in his public career proclaimed by Jesus.

Where, as he said after his return home, he had almost to stick a pin into himself to make sure that he was alive; so astonished was he at the fraternizing of Roman Catholic, Greek Catholic and all other leaders of religion.

So altruistic American dollars, spent in Germany, Russia, Greece, Armenia, Turkey, India, China, Japan, India—everywhere—are teaching the coins of those countries to be altruistic.

Teaching the lesson of service above self; unbinding the prejudiced fetters of the mind and loosening the selfish strings of the heart of all peoples—

Teaching the universal brotherhood of man, regardless of color or creed or race or nationality—

Giving Uncle Sam the stamp of the Good Samaritan, whose neighbor is any one where who needs his help.

Who can realize such stupendous movements and not conclude that the world is growing better?

OREGON AHEAD OF WASHINGTON

Governor Hartley of Washington, in his message to the legislature, said: "At the penitentiary, a good start has been made toward not only providing employment for every inmate who is physically fit to labor, but for placing that institution

BUDDIE AND HIS FRIENDS

BY ROBERT L. DICKEY

upon an entirely self-supporting basis. This program can be better carried forward by providing some means of compensating the inmate for his labor, either in time allowance or in money derived from the proceeds of industrial operations.

Governor Hartley is optimistic, for a very small start has been made at the Washington penitentiary towards self support, and none at all towards an allowance in money for the labor of inmates—

For time allowance is not to be thought of as a substitute—

And Oregon is far along the way, as compared with Washington. Oregon is so far on the way that, with adding the things that ought to be added, and possibly without any appropriation of taxpayers' money, our institution can be made both self supporting and provide a money compensation for the labor of every inmate, within the next four years.

SAMMY AT WORK AND IN SCHOOL

Sammy, the boy whose name is not Sammy, who was playing hooky, mentioned in this department of The Statesman on Friday morning, is in school—

Both in school and at work. A teacher has undertaken to get Sammy interested in manual work—

In doing things and learning things at the same time. And he is a very wise teacher, for there are many boys whose brains can be taught only through their hands.

In fact, every boy (and every girl) is an individual. He is not just like any other boy, any more than any leaf in any forest is just like any other leaf, or any drop of water in the great oceans just like any other drop of water.

Let's hope Sammy may learn to like to do the things he is doing with his hands, to the end that he may learn to like to do things with his mind, and thus develop a four square manhood. Who knows?

'HE THAT HAS, GETS' PROVES VERY TRUE

You don't go where you are told, we will not help you." My, but Bill was mad. And how they made him work that day. It was hot and dusty, and the straw was long that year. It just seemed that the men did everything they could to pile the work onto poor old Bill.

Then the dinner-bell rang. The long tables were set for the twenty or more men, and when the bell rang every body left off and hastened to the house for the dinner. The piles of fried chicken, mashed potatoes, cream gravy, and everything, including the pies and cakes. What a dinner it was. Bill Bechtel was always the first one to reach the house. The wash-dishes were set for the men to wash off the dust of their hands and faces before eating. Bill hardly washed at all. He was in such a hurry. He would be the first to get to the tables and he would go all around to see where the largest plate of chicken was, and take that plate. Bill was a good eater, but an awfully poor worker. He was never sick when it came to the table.

Bill was always poor. He always would be. He was not thrifty. There is an old saying, "Attend to your business, or your business will attend to you." There is another, "Crowd your work or your work will crowd you." Bill was always in debt. He

Dr. Canse has been acting president of Kimball since September, when he arrived from Centralia, Wash., where he was pastor, to take over the new duties assigned to him by the trustees a short time before.

Since that time he has been successful in the first steps of his program for the enlargement of Kimball school's influence in the northwest; the securing of assurance of support of all of the annual conferences in the northwest. Improvements are now being made in the Kimball building, which is located on the Willamette university campus.

A native of Indiana, Dr. Canse was educated at De Pauw university, where he secured his doctor's degree. He taught school for a time before entering the ministry. His first pastorate was at Simpson church, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Twenty years ago he came to the northwest, and has been engaged in religious work in Washington and Oregon since that time. His first charge in the northwest was University church, near the University of Washington campus, where he was pastor for three years. After that he was pastor of a church in Vancouver, Wash., for four years. For the next seven years he forsook the active ministry and was district superintendent of the Bellingham district. Then he served an Olympia church for four years, and had been at Centralia one year when he was called to the Kimball presidency.
