Elsinore Theater
 "The Far Cry," First National's new feature showing at the Elsinore theater today, is a tale of two cities, Paris and Venice. The photodrama of the American mother who has become Europeanized and the Europeanized daughter who becomes Americanized, takes place in these two centers of Continental gaiety.

Balboni, the young Italian screen director, made the picture. His marvel who was recently created a knowledge of life on the continent is responsible for the expert direction in this piece.

Blanche Sweet is featured in "The Far Cry," with Myrtle Stedman, Jack Mulhall and Hobart Bosworth playing important parts. June Mathis exercised editorial supervision.

Helen Bolton as Sue, the role made famous in New York by Mary

Helen Bolton

Boland, is charming, and every inch a comedienne. She tempers the most violent of the comedy just a trifle, with the result that her performance does not smack quite so intensely of the boisterous romping which marked the New York production. But Miss Bolton is excellent in the dramatic moments, too. She has power and concentration as well as rare beauty, but she finds splendid opportunity in this play to display them all.

Florence Auer has another splendid part, and puts a vehemence of emotion into her first little fling since she donned the matrimonial chains. Octavia Handsworth, as the third of the "Cradle Snatchers," adds poise and finesse to the trio. Coming to the Elsinore theater Wednesday evening, Feb. 2.

Oregon Theater
 "Broken Hearts of Hollywood" will be shown at the Oregon theater for three days, beginning today, Jan. 26. Many of the scenes used in the screen test were taken from this picture. Those who followed the recent contest will be enabled to see the stars performing in these interesting parts. Thus they will be able to compare the work done by the local people with the actual work done before the Klieg lights and movie cameras.

Beneath the blazing gold, the brilliant dazle of movie fame, lies more hurt, more heart-sick grief, more cruel aches than ever find their way through the blind alleys and by-paths that criss-cross all through the long, tortuous road that leads to success. But, sometimes it happens, and then some intoxicating moments of sweet triumph—triumph for Betty Ann, the lovely girl; happiness for Hal, the boy she loved, and peace for Virginia, the mother—a fallen star—who touched unspeakable depths to save her daughter from dishonor.

A real entertainment is scheduled for the Oregon theater during the days "Broken Hearts of Hollywood" is being shown. It will be more of a circus than Buster Keaton. The recent screen tests taken at this theater will be shown. It means a good time for all.

Capitol Theater
 Rembrandt was the model director F. W. Murnau used for the first portion of "Faust," his picture for UFA, which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is releasing. This great film shows at the Capitol theater for three days beginning today, Jan. 26.

The early portions of "Faust" are made in those sombre brown tones so beloved by followers of the great painter. Faust himself looks like the old philosopher in one of the master's paintings. He comes into a room from the dim recesses and takes his place with the other characters like some wraith of a far-gone past.

For the later continuity, when Faust is a youth again, and meets Marguerite, to fall in love with her, a romantic background is employed. There is the lightness of spring in every setting; flowers and shrubs abound; a spirit of outdoors, healthy, fresh and clean pervades the atmosphere. Two young lovers have met, and life is rosy. This gayness and charm Murnau has transferred to the screen.

ANOTHER BUILDING BILL

Marion County Delegation Offers Companion to Original Bill

The Marion county delegation of the legislature yesterday introduced a companion bill to the bill introduced by them recently providing for the construction of an office building here. The new bill authorized the secretary of state to assign quarters therein for state officers which are important enough to require quarters therein. It further provides that rent shall be charged those who collect, receive or expend money derived from sources other than direct taxation, and all of which is to be expended by them.

Cotton also addressed the boys at the senior high school, at Parish junior high, and met with the luncheon of the Y, the secretaries and the leaders' groups.

BOND DECREE UPHELD

SUPREME COURT HANDS DOWN DECISIONS AT MEETING

The Salmon-Grande Ronde improvement district has authority to issue and sell highway improvement bonds in the amount of $125,000 for the purpose of building permanent roads within the district, according to an opinion handed down by the state supreme court here yesterday.

The opinion was written by Justice Belt in a suit brought by E. I. Warren to restrain the improvement district officials from issuing and selling the bonds. It was contended by the plaintiff that the bonded indebtedness which the district proposed to create exceeded 6 per cent of all assessable property in the county and consequently was unconstitutional.

The opinion of the supreme court upheld the decree of Judge W. M. Ramsey, who presided at the trial of the case in the lower court.

Other opinions handed down by the supreme court yesterday follow:

Mutual Life Insurance company, appellant, vs. Helen B. Chandler; appeal from Multnomah county. Suit to cancel insurance policy on life of Orvin E. Chandler in favor of his wife. Opinion by Justice Burnett. Judge George G. Bingham reversed.

G. Klorgine, appellant, vs. Ernest Cole et al; appeal from Polk county; suit to foreclose mortgage. Opinion by Justice Brown. Decree of Judge W. M. Ramsey modified.

Umpqua Valley Bank vs. H. L. Wilson, appellant; appeal from Douglas county; action to recover money on promissory note. Opinion by Justice Bean. Judge C. M. Thomas affirmed.

Petition for rehearing denied in State vs. Barnes and Jaloff vs. United Auto Independent Exchange.

Case of Michelin Tire company vs. Hurlburt advanced for hearing.

State vs. Carlson and State vs. Brown dismissed as abandoned appeals.

REVIVAL SUCCESS

EVANGELIST KRAMER DRAWING HUGE AUDIENCES

The First Baptist revival is still growing in force and influence. Long before time for opening the meeting last evening, there was "standing room only." More than 100 people stood up throughout the evening, and there were many decisions for a better life. Several came forward publicly confessing Christ and renewing consecration.

Frank McCravy sang a group of negro spirituals in old southern style, and gave negro impersonations that were thoroughly enjoyed by the crowd.

Dr. Kramer, "Big Jim," preached one of his strongest messages on "The Mother Heart of God." His text was "As a Hen Gathers Her Brood." It was a mighty appeal and held the large audience in close attention throughout.

Tonight he will preach on "Some Nuts for Infidels to Crack." Every skeptic in the city is invited. "Big Jim" promises to answer every question. Thursday is family night and Friday is young people's night, at which time Big Jim's subject will be "How to Keep From Flunking."

LICENSE FEE BILL LOOMS

Dunne Would Initiate Bill to Replace Peddler's Tax Fee

The refusal of the house to approve a bill to repeal the so-called peddlers' motor vehicle tax law, probably will result in the initiation of a bill reducing the license fee on pleasure automobiles to $10 a year. This was announced here yesterday by Senator Dunne of Multnomah county.

Senator Dunne said the measure he proposed probably would be referred to the voters of the state at the general election two years hence. The license on trucks would be $25 a year under Senator Dunne's bill.
