House Committee Passes So-called "Barbers' Bill"

The house committee on labor and industries yesterday approved the so-called "Barber Bill," with two amendments. One provides that barbers must attend a barber school for two years instead of five, and the other cosmeticians will not be compelled to attend the school.

The bill caused considerable contention between men and women barbers. The men contended that women barbers should be compelled to take the same training work as men.

They lost their point, however, as the committee decided that women cosmeticians should be allowed to cut women's hair all that of children up to 10 years of age.

PRUN-PORT TO TELL WORLD OF SALEM

Holsclaw Says Oregon Prunes Make Best Beverage; Urges Support

When Prun-Port, the only pure prune juice beverage on the market, is distributed throughout the country, "Salem, Oregon" will appear in large letters on the barrels. R. L. Holsclaw, president of Major Fruit Products Co. of Portland, told members of the Marion-Polk County Realty board at their luncheon Thursday noon. Although Prun-Port in its present bottled form was not placed on the market in Portland until last March, and did not make its appearance in Salem until October, over 16,000 bottles of the beverage have been sold in this city already, Holsclaw said. Because of its different characteristics, prunes grown in California cannot be made into a pure beverage, Holsclaw said. He outlined the history of the development of the new drink, including an episode in which, after a large quantity had been placed on the market, it was found that it fermented. The company found it necessary to buy up all the bottles that had been sold to retailers. The beverage is now pasteurized so that it does not ferment. In view of the market Prun-Port will provide for prunes grown in this vicinity and the publicity Salem will get as a result of its distribution, Salem people ought to subscribe to the stock which is now being offered for sale for the purpose of financing the Prun-Port advertising campaign. Holsclaw declared.

This route was adopted in preference to the upper or North Fork route. The commission announced that negotiations would be opened at once with the Southern Pacific railway, upon whose right of way the proposed highway encroaches at various points for a distance of about six miles. An agreement must be reached relative to the use of the right of way and the shifting of approximately 28,000 feet of track. The construction of the Mapleton-Florence link will cost $901,000, it was said today. The project is proposed as a cooperative undertaking between the forest service, the state, and Lane county.

STAGE LINES SUE STATE OF OREGON

Recently Passed Bus and Truck License Law Held Unconstitutional

Combining forces, Oregon Stages, Inc., and Parker Stage Lines filed suit Thursday against the public service commission and I. H. Van Winkle, attorney general, claiming that the so called motor bus and truck bill, levying a tax of three-fourths mill per passenger mile on all motor vehicles used as common carriers, is unconstitutional, being unjust, arbitrary, oppressive and confiscatory. In addition, attorneys stated in the complaint that the law, passed at the last general election in November, 1926, is discriminatory against said plaintiffs, in that it levies a much smaller tax against freight companies operating non-motor vehicles which wear down the pavement considerably more than the motor stages. Oregon Stages, Inc., reported their November business to be slightly under $12,000, with operating expenses of $28,700. The total amount of state taxes payable was $2348, leaving less than $250 net profit for the month. Figuring such average on a year basis, the net earnings of the firm would amount to only 1.40 per cent on the investment, which is deemed insufficient to justify the amount of taxes levied under the new law. As parallel evidence, the Parker lines furnished a report that showed their net earnings for the first 11 months of the past year to average only $121 per month. Emmons, Lusk & Byron and John A. Logan, all of Portland, acting as attorneys for the stage lines, seek immediate adjustment for their clients. Time of action in the circuit court has not yet been set by Judge McMahan.
