WORK ON HI PLAY

"WHOSE LITTLE BRIDE ARE YOU?" TO BE STAGED

Especially among the people taking leading parts, excellent acting is being developed by the cast of "Whose Little Bride Are You?" farce comedy which will be given by Salem high school students under the auspices of the student body Friday evening, Feb. 18.

The play, it is explained by Miss Bernice Schroeder, director, is one of those vehicles based on mistaken identity, which has never been surpassed as a comedy producing situation. Jack Spong, the millionaire's son, Edward Fisher, gets his identity confused with that of the butler. Florence Karst as Florence Bellows plays the female lead. A large share of the laugh provoking scenes are allotted to Virginia Paige, who plays a character role admirably.

This play has been used by high school casts in a number of other cities, with uniform success and popularity, Miss Schroeder reports.

Deputy Sheriff Obliges Man and Knocks Him Out

MONMOUTH, Oregon, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Deputy sheriff of Polk county, W. J. Mulkey, proved himself the better man when he mixed with Pearl Cooper of Independence last Saturday night. Cooper was arrested two weeks ago for drunkenness and was given a fine after being locked up overnight. His resentment against the officer came to a head in an independence pool hall last week end and he challenged Mulkey to a fight, providing Mulkey would remove his star and gun. Mulkey did this and they met on the sidewalk where Cooper began the scrap, but which soon ended with Cooper being knocked down and the force with which he hit the cement curbing injuring his head to such an extent that he has not yet regained consciousness and the extent of his injury has not been determined. Public sentiment seems to be in favor of the deputy sheriff.

CHARITIES SEEK AID

SALEM ORGANIZATION BATTILING AGAINST POVERTY

Although Associated Charity workers are meeting with success in their drive for funds and supplies this week, they are just barely keeping pace with the heavy demands being placed on the secretary, Mrs. Mae Young.

One of the hardest situations to meet is that of the family which is too proud to accept charity but is facing a serious crisis due to scarcity of work in Salem. This problem has been confronted several times this week and is a hard one to cope with.

Special calls are being made for shoes and stockings, besides the mere ordinary needs in the line of clothing and groceries. Several women have applied for sewing which they may do and earn money in their home. Some are working in the offices of the organization.

The Associated Charities of Salem needs every possible assistance in the last four days of the campaign which closes Tuesday, February 8, asking that their appeals be met freely.

Measure Favors Portland as Site for Building

Only six new bills were introduced Wednesday morning in the house which would indicate that the flow of bills is subsiding and the remainder of the session can be devoted to disposing of the bills that are expected after the governor's message.

Bill number 450 by Lonegren, Rushlight and Olsen is similar to number 58 introduced by the Marion county delegation only that it designates Portland as the location for the office building instead of Salem. The financing for the building is the same, also the amount, $600,000, asked.

A bill by Gordon, number 453, would make it a misdemeanor for anyone to circulate false rumors of a title insurance company.

Judiciary Committee Acts Against Health Certificate

The senate judiciary committee has introduced a bill providing for the repeal of the present law which makes it necessary for men to obtain a medical certificate before receiving a marriage license. It was said that this situation would be cared for in a bill introduced in the house by Representative Swan providing that men and women applying for marriage licenses must file an affidavit that they never were afflicted with a venereal disease.

Portland Man Sues for Oregon City Car Accident

Suit was filed in the Marion county circuit court yesterday by C. G. Verheis of Portland against A. E. Hutchison, 1710 North Capitol street, Salem, for damages alleged to have been caused by the defendant in an automobile wreck at Oregon City.

The complaint states that Chester Verheis, son of the plaintiff was driving carefully through the street of Oregon City when the defendant struck the car while traveling in an Overland car at a high rate of speed. The Verheis vehicle was damaged beyond repair, according to the plaintiff who sues for $500 and costs of the case.

Stolen Cattle Hides Come

In eastern Oregon, according to Mr. Hamilton, representative from that district, it is not uncommon for cattle thieves who are caught with the hides of stolen cattle to declare that they found them dead on the range.

It was to protect stockmen against this that the house passed Representatives' Hamilton, Burdick, Collier and Senator Upton's bill yesterday morning.

The bill makes it unlawful and provides a penalty for anyone to skin the dead carcass of any neat, sheep, hogs or goats found dead. The word neat appearing in the bill seemed to cause some of the members considerable distress until Mr. Hamilton explained that the dictionary defined the word in one sense to mean bovine. Anyone found guilty of the act shall be punishable by law for larceny.
