

AUTO LIGHT BILL MEETS APPROVAL

House Turns Down Several Measures, Extra Fire Hazard Bill Killed

In order to aid motorists in obeying the road laws, the house passed a bill yesterday which removes many of the obstacles in the present laws.

The spot light which was permissible had to be immovable. The new bill provides that two may be used, and may be moved when the machine is in operation for the purpose of reading signs, etc. on the highways. The bill provides also that at no time shall anyone have their spot light in such a position that the light will shine in anyone's face, and this offense is made punishable by law.

In lieu of the dimming device in the former law, the use of a double filament bulb so designed and controlled as to direct the beams of light downward will be permissible.

There is a clause in the new law providing that the secretary of state is authorized to designate, furnish instructions to and supervise official stations for adjusting head lamps, spot lights and auxiliary lights to conform to the law.

Anyone wishing to adjust their own lights may do so after having applied to the secretary of state for a license as a light adjuster, and shall receive his certificate of adjustment after complying with the instructions.

The bill adds a fine of $25 to anyone adjusting lights for compensation and not complying with the law.

The supporters of the bill stated that it would be optional with the automobile owners to use any spot lights or to equip their cars with the 32 candle power bulbs allowable under the law instead of the 21 candlepower now used.

Several bills were turned down by the house yesterday. Mr. Mott's bill authorizing the state board of forestry to define boundaries of regions of extra fire hazard was killed.

It gave the board power to make rules and regulations for the protection of these areas, and to prohibit smoking in them, and further provided that violation of the rules and regulations could be punished by fine and imprisonment not to exceed $500 and six months.

Some of the representatives contended that it encroached upon the rights of individuals, and were opposed to passing laws giving commissions power to make rules and regulations punishable by fine and imprisonment.

Those voting against the bill were Bailey, Billingsley, Bronough, Burdick, Clerk, Collier, Eppinger, Fisher, Gordon, Graham, Hamilton, Henderson, Howard, Klesey, King, Lewis, Lonergan,

COMMUNITY CLUB ENJOYS BANQUET

Falls City Club Succeeds Chamber of Commerce, Interesting Talks Given

FALLS CITY, Ore., Feb. 7.—The second annual banquet of the Falls City Community club, which succeeds the Chamber of Commerce, was held last Wednesday in the high school domestic science and art rooms, the Ladies Aid of the Christian church cooking the meal, and the young ladies of the D. S. class of the high school serving.

There were about sixty present, with music, speeches, and some fancy dancing, following the meal. H. Mather Smith, retiring president, introduced T. W. Munyan, the new president, who acted as toast master. In his introduction of the activities of the club for the past year, which ranged from sponsoring Christmas free celebrations to running a newspaper, edited and published by the club secretary, putting on a one day community fair and a fair, on the purchasing and distributing lime, securing boys and girls club workers, and many other affairs for the betterment of the community.

Mr. Munyan outlined briefly his wishes for 1927, tersely including in all the slogan of Falls City adopted about two years ago "The Center of Natural Resources" with his own slogan "Paint Up, Clean Up and Keep It All Up" for 1927.

The secretary responded briefly to the chairman's introduction, emphasizing the natural advantages of Falls City for the production of Roquefort Cheese and fine fruits and berries, suggesting that we seek the resources left after the logging and milling industries were exhausted, which were always the first in this country.

A. A. Muck, mayor of Falls City spoke briefly. Chester M. Biggs, industrial agent for the Southern Pacific, Portland, J. D. Mickle, district freight and passenger agent for the Southern Pacific, Salem, gave very interesting addresses, outlining the policy of their company toward industries and development in Oregon, pledging their support to the community.

Coon Arrested Charged With Stealing Sheep

Marion county officials, continuing their campaign against "sheep bandits" of the county, late Saturday arrested Bud Coon in Portland, charged with theft of four sheep from Ellis E. Brown, a farmer in the north end of the county.

Coon did not operate in the same band of thieves in which were the Patzer Brothers and Harold Beech, arrested recently for numerous thefts of sheep, officers believe.

Coon is being held in the county jail in lieu of $2,500 bail on a charge of larceny.

Harold Beech and Robert Patzer, the two minor youths arrested in the first sheep raid, have been committed to the boys training school.

REMEDY FOR PRUNE SITUATION SOUGHT

Polk County Service Clubs Cooperating in Effort to Aid Growers

DALLAS, Feb. 8.—(Special.)—The prune situation is looking more promising to the growers who have been suffering a sense of depression due to the extremely low prices paid when the crop was harvested last fall.

The Dallas Chamber of Commerce and the Federated Clubs of Polk county who have given considerable time and thought to possible solutions to the growers' problem feel that in spite of the seeming inactivity that the matter is working out to the satisfaction of the grower.

A letter from W. F. Drager contains the following which lends encouragement: "Growers should not become restless on account of no definite plan having yet been
