Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Clarke Will Entertain Today With Valentine Tea

The home of Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Hill Thompson at 351 North Shimmer street will be the scene of a charming valentine party this afternoon when Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. W. D. Clarke entertain jointly with a Kensington tea, followed by tea.

Twenty guests have been invited to sew and chat together from 2 to 4 o'clock. At the tea hour 20 additional guests have been invited to call.

Little Miss Peggy Thompson will greet the guests at the door. The valentine motif will predominate in both the decorations and in the refreshments. Carnations and lighted red papers will ornament the tea table.

The hostesses have invited Mrs. William G. Hare of Hillsboro, wife of Senator Hare, and Mrs. Robert J. Hendricks to preside at the tea. Others who will assist in the tea room are Mrs. F. G. Bowser and Mrs. Grover C. Bellinger.

Misses Heist Will Leave Saturday for a Tour of Europe and Holy Land

The Misses Lina and Lulu Heist have completed plans for a trip abroad that will take them not only on a cruise through the Mediterranean but also to Nazareth and Egypt, and later to many countries of Europe.

The Misses Heist anticipate more than any other feature of their trip the pleasure of meeting their sister, Miss Laura Heist, in Jerusalem on March 23. Miss Laura Heist, missionary in Baroda, India, will leave port on March 12, arriving in the Holy Land one day ahead of her sisters. This will be Miss Heist's first furlough after five years of continuous service.

The Salem travelers, who will go to Chicago on the Oriental Limited, will leave Salem at 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. They plan a number of interesting stops en route east. At Bonners Ferry, Idaho, they will be guests of Mrs. Lydia Fry, an aunt, and of Dr. E. E. Fry, a cousin.

The Misses Heist plan to spend three days in Chicago with their nieces, the Misses Lucile and Marian Emmons. In Detroit they will visit for a week at the home of a sister, Mrs. J. S. Steiner, going thence to New York where they will take passage March 5 on the Lapland.

A cruise of the Mediterranean will take the tourists to the Madeira Islands, Gibraltar, Algiers, Monte Carlo, Naples, Athens, Constantinople, and finally to Haifa, the port to the Holy Land. Leaving their steamer, the Misses Heist will go inland to Nazareth. Ten days will be spent in the Holy Land and a similar length of time in Egypt.

In April the three sisters will visit the various European countries in an optional tour which will take them to Italy, Switzerland, Germany, Holland, France, and finally England. They will probably remain abroad until mid-summer.

Pupil of Former Salem Boy Achieves Prominence in "Blossom Time"

Interest in Prof. Clifford W. Kantner, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Kantner, easily includes his numerous successful pupils, one of the most interesting of whom is Patrick Kelly, a former shipyard worker and now a member of the "Blossom Time" light opera company.

The Seattle Post-Intelligencer in a recent issue carried a photograph of Mr. Kelly, his wife, and Professor Kantner, prominent Seattle vocal instructor, greeting each other at the train.

The article accompanying is as follows: "When Patrick Kelly stepped from the train in Seattle yesterday on his first visit to his birthplace since he went out into the world to achieve fame and fortune as a singer, he was met by Prof. C. W. Kantner, who was his first vocal teacher in the days when Kelly was a shipyard worker here.

"Unlike most singers, I did not begin as a child prodigy," said Kelly, who is a member of the "Blossom Time" company now playing at the Metropolitan theater. "My early life was spent in Seattle, and while still very young I shipped before the mast. Then, for a while, I was a fireman in a big coastwise freighter. After that I became a marine engineer, and still later, a shipyard worker.

"It was while in the shipyards that I started studying music under Professor Kantner in the evenings after a day's work punching rivets. Then one night Fortuna Gallo, impresario of the San Carlo company, was at a party where I happened to sing."

WU-STUDENTS SHOW BELIEF IN DIVINITY

Practically Everyone Believed That Religion in Some Form Needed

Students at Willamette university all believe in God, judging by the answers to the questionnaire distributed Tuesday, and they are practically unanimous in believing that religion in some form is necessary in life for the individual and the community, Presidents Carl G. Doney's tabulation of the answers reveals.

Only 307 students answered the questionnaire, and a number did not answer more than one or two of the questions, so a total of 304 affirmative answers to the first question, as to belief in God, may be regarded as unanimous.

Many of the students have their own ideas about immortality and other Christian doctrines, however, the answers revealed, but due to evident uncertainty on the part of some as to the meaning of some of the questions, the results are to be taken with reservations.

On belief in immortality, 286 answered yes and 12 no, but some raised the question as to whether the conventional doctrine of immortality, or any sort of immortality, was meant.

A slightly larger number, 19, answered "no" to the third question, "Do you believe in prayer as a means of personal relationship with God?" The affirmative answers totaled 285.

Twenty-one doubted "that Jesus was divine as no other man was divine," and 232 expressed belief on this point; but here too a question was raised as to the exact nature of divinity intended in the questionnaire.

Another question which was not entirely clear to the students was "Do you regard the Bible as inspired in a sense that no other literature could be said to be inspired?" This was answered affirmatively by 249 and negatively by 54, but uncertainty as to whether "inspired" meant actually directed by a divine hand, was indicated.

Of the students answering the questionnaire, 249 are active church members, 74 are not; 256 attend services regularly, 51 do not. The correlation between these answers indicates that many of the students who are active in Christian work have not yet been admitted to church membership, but plan on taking that step.

Only 23 of those answering were not brought up in religious homes, as against 284 who were. That religion in some form is a necessary element of life for the individual and for the community, was affirmed by 302 and denied by only four.

Recommendation to Be Made That It Do Not Pass in House

Mr. LeFollet's bill to prohibit bill boards of every kind from being erected and maintained within 200 yards of any highway in Oregon met with disaster Tuesday night before the house committee on roads and highways.

Judge McMahon and Mr. LaFollet supported the measure, in defense of the beauty of the highways from an aesthetic standpoint. They believed the bill boards defaced the highways and obstructed views from tourists.

Mr. Duber, representing the Foster & Kleiser Sign company, spoke against the bill, as did also Messrs. Logan and McNary of Portland.

The opposition contended that it was an infringement upon rights of the individual; that the bill boards were not a nuisance, and did not come within the control of legislation.

The bill will be reported out this morning with recommendations that it do not pass.

Normal School Hires Special Train to Salem

OREGON NORMAL SCHOOL, Monmouth, Feb. 9.—(Special).—With a view of studying the work done by the senate and house, a practical visit will be made to these bodies in Salem by the students of the Monmouth normal school, Thursday of this week.

Under the guidance of Dean Butler, this trip has become an annual custom at the normal and indications are that several hundred will take advantage of the special rates and privilege of visiting the legislature while in session. A special train is being furnished by the Southern Pacific company for the occasion.

Representative Arch McGowan, of Malheur, and Fred J. Meind of Clackamas and Multnomah counties, members of the present legislature, are graduates of the Oregon normal school.
