Portland Symphony Orchestra Will Give Special Epochal Concert in Salem on Monday

The most significant valentine the Elsinore theater could devise has been arranged for Monday evening, February 14, when the Portland Symphony orchestra will play and Herbert Witherspoon, president of Chicago Musical College, will speak.

The message of the orchestra will be in terms so vital, so inspirational, that non will have the slightest difficulty in grasping the total message. Many will come far for the sheer thrill of seeing the internationally known director, Dr. Willem Van Hoogstraten, handle his accomplished orchestra.

Mr. Witherspoon, who will speak promptly at 8 o'clock, comes with the large mission of "lending his influence to further musical education and the art of music in every possible way. As president of an institution of over 5000 enrolled music students, Mr. Witherspoon realizes the importance of music in the curriculum of education, being a great stabilizer of the emotions and of immeasurable power over all classes of human beings. Quoting from an address which Mr. Witherspoon made at Dallas, Texas, before the State Federation of Music Clubs, as it appeared in Musical Courier, New York, he said:

"Music is the one great art which brings men and women together irrespective of creed or nationality, and perhaps even of education. Music is a part of the germ of the universe—rhythm and melody. It is the one general, un-failing expression of man's emotions and it speaks to all with an uplift power found in nothing else. It arouses patriotism, friendship, love of each other. It sends audiences back to their homes and offices full of a spirit of sympathetic understanding. It arouses the very soul of our being and it gives us what no mere education, no matter how comprehensive, can contribute."

Grenfell Gives Talk to Normal Students

Problems Found in Labrador 35 Years Ago Outlined

OREGON NORMAL SCHOOL, MONMOUTH, Feb. 10.—(Special)—Dr. W. T. Grenfell, distinguished lecturer, under the auspices of the Grenfell Association of America, gave an address before the student body of the Oregon Normal School at Monmouth Wednesday morning. Dr. Grenfell's lecture was based upon 35 years of continuous service in solving the vital human problems in Labrador.

His message with a keynote of "If you want to live, serve" has been his philosophy of life and was very applicable to the students of the normal school in their chosen profession.

Dr. Grenfell outlined the problems found in Labrador 35 years ago and briefly told what had been accomplished through the unselfish services of his workers in ministering to the physical and spiritual welfare of the natives, reorganizing their mode of trading and eliminating poverty. He told of the interesting trips to Labrador made each summer by volunteer students, both men and women, from the larger eastern universities and colleges in the interests of child welfare. He feels there is a justification for every life in that every life is important to God. He urged not only those going into a life of service, but that every individual follow the life of Christ by carrying the burdens of others and through service learn the joy that goes with it.

Dr. Grenfell insists that service means "service with a smile" to be most effective, and the message he put across to the students was inspiring.

Why Shoes Wear Out

The average step is 26 inches. This means 2437 steps to the mile or 12,185 in a five mile day. A person weighing 160 pounds in a day has pounded into his shoes 974 tons and 1600 pounds of meat bone and troubles, and all this he carries above his shoes.

Men buy three pairs of shoes a year. A steel hammer weighing 160 pounds coming down at that rate for four months would have to be renewed each day and would have to be fished out of the deepest hole in the earth at the end of four months.

Walk-over Shoes stand up—because of the materials used, the workmanship, the careful construction and experienced fitting service which makes them superior and economical.
